

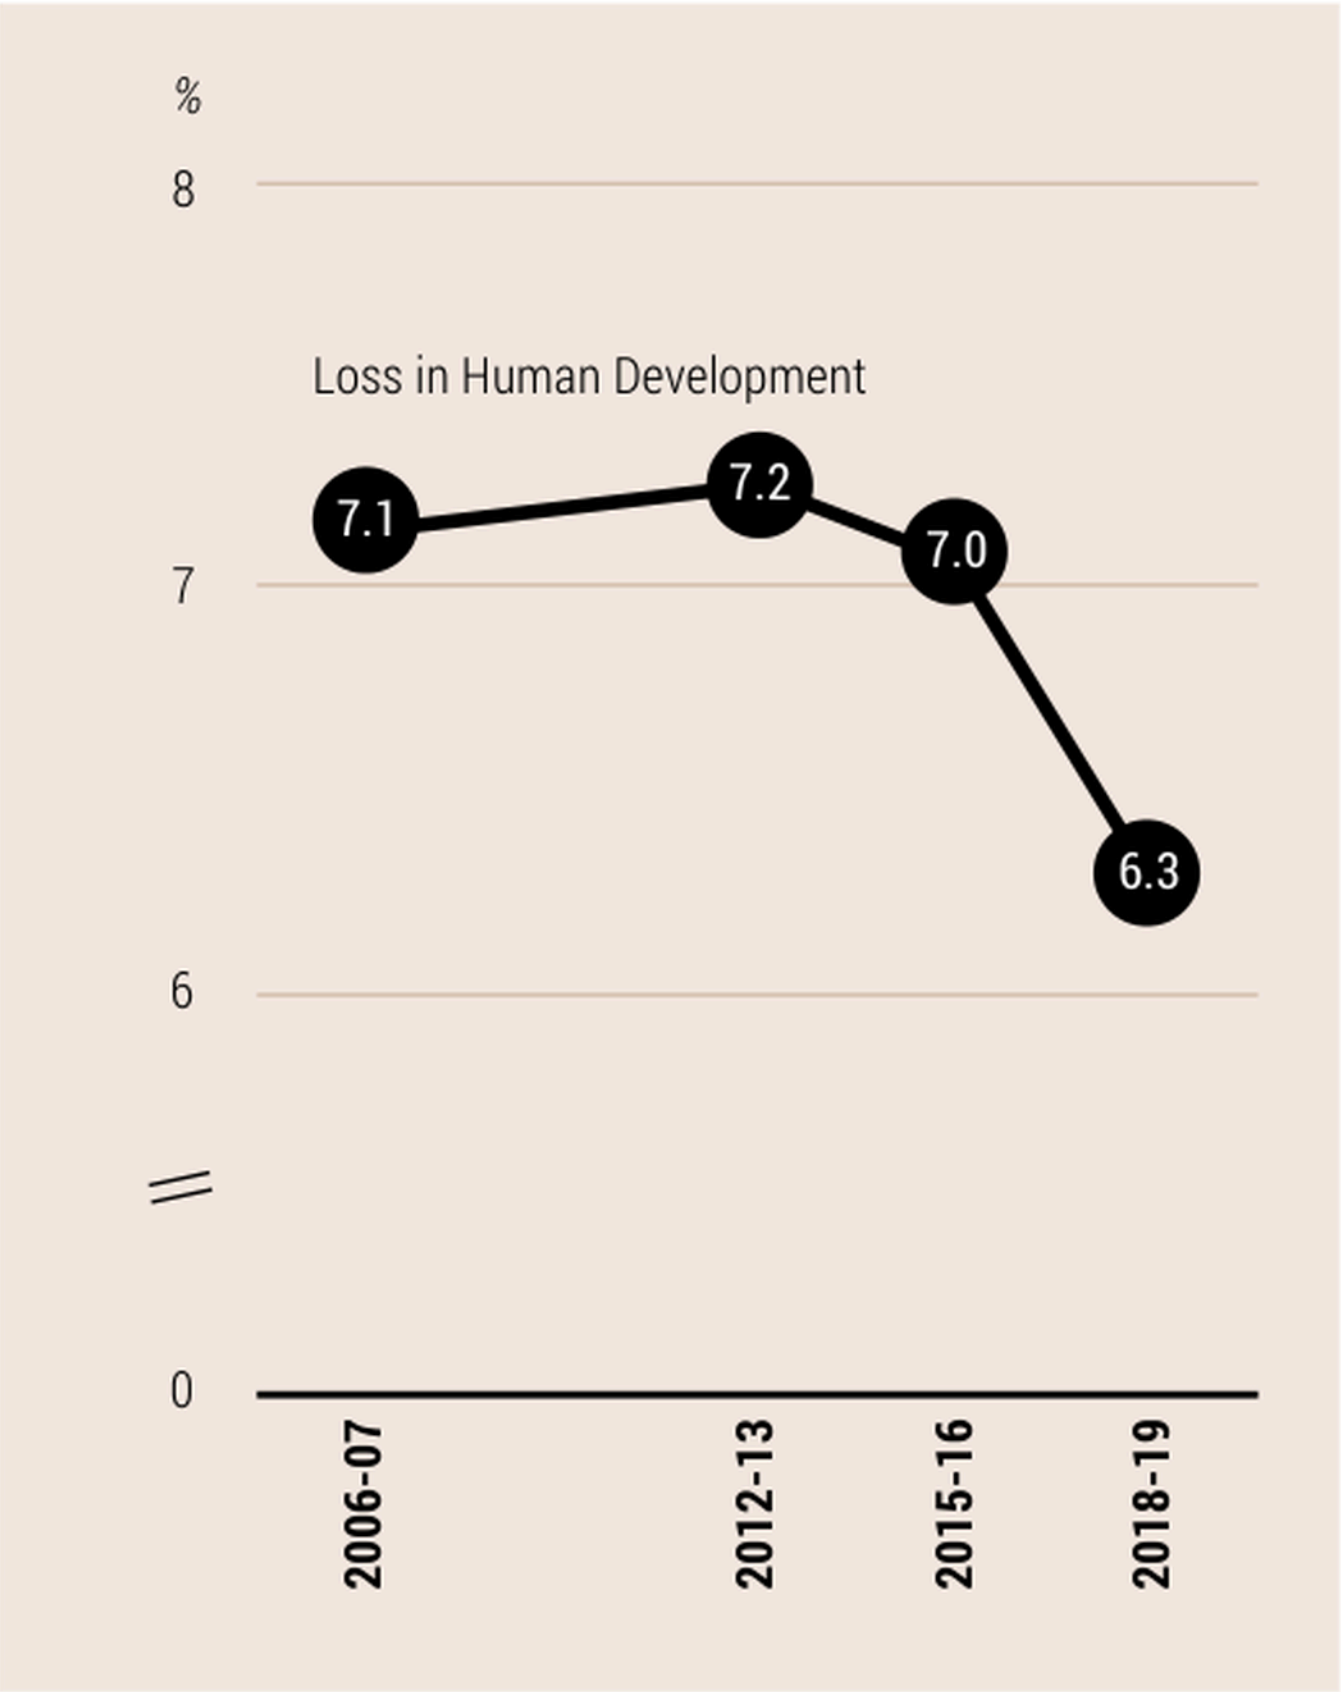

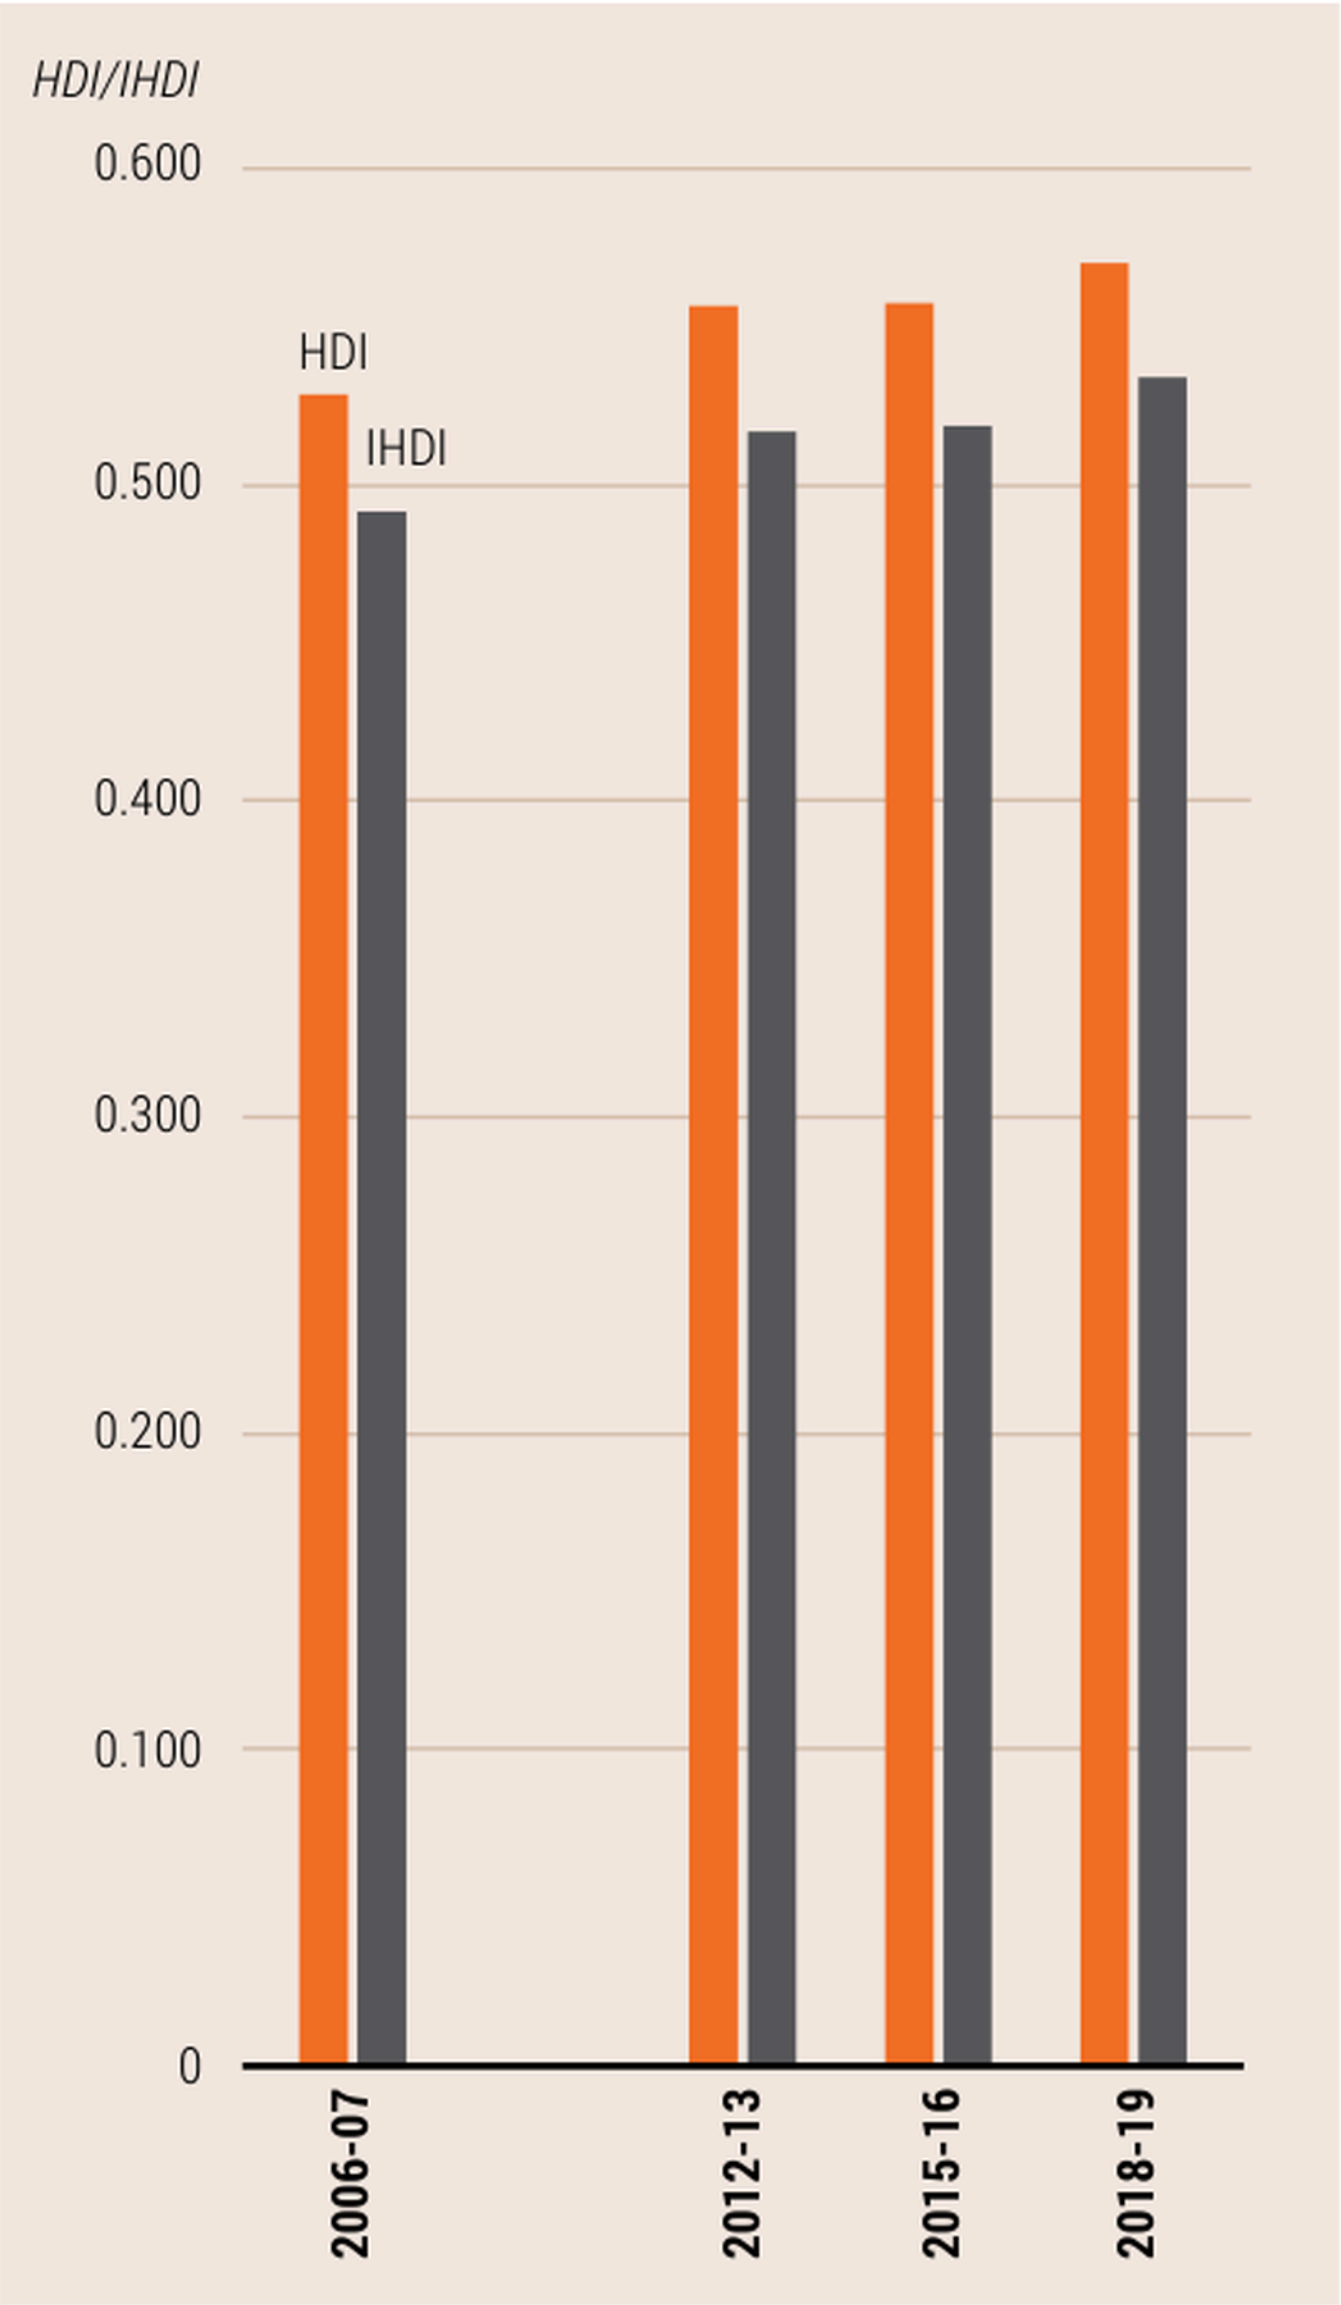

Figure 2.18 Loss in human development due to inequality has not reduced substantially over time, (2006-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 2.18

Loss in human development due to inequality has not reduced substantially over time, (2006-2019)

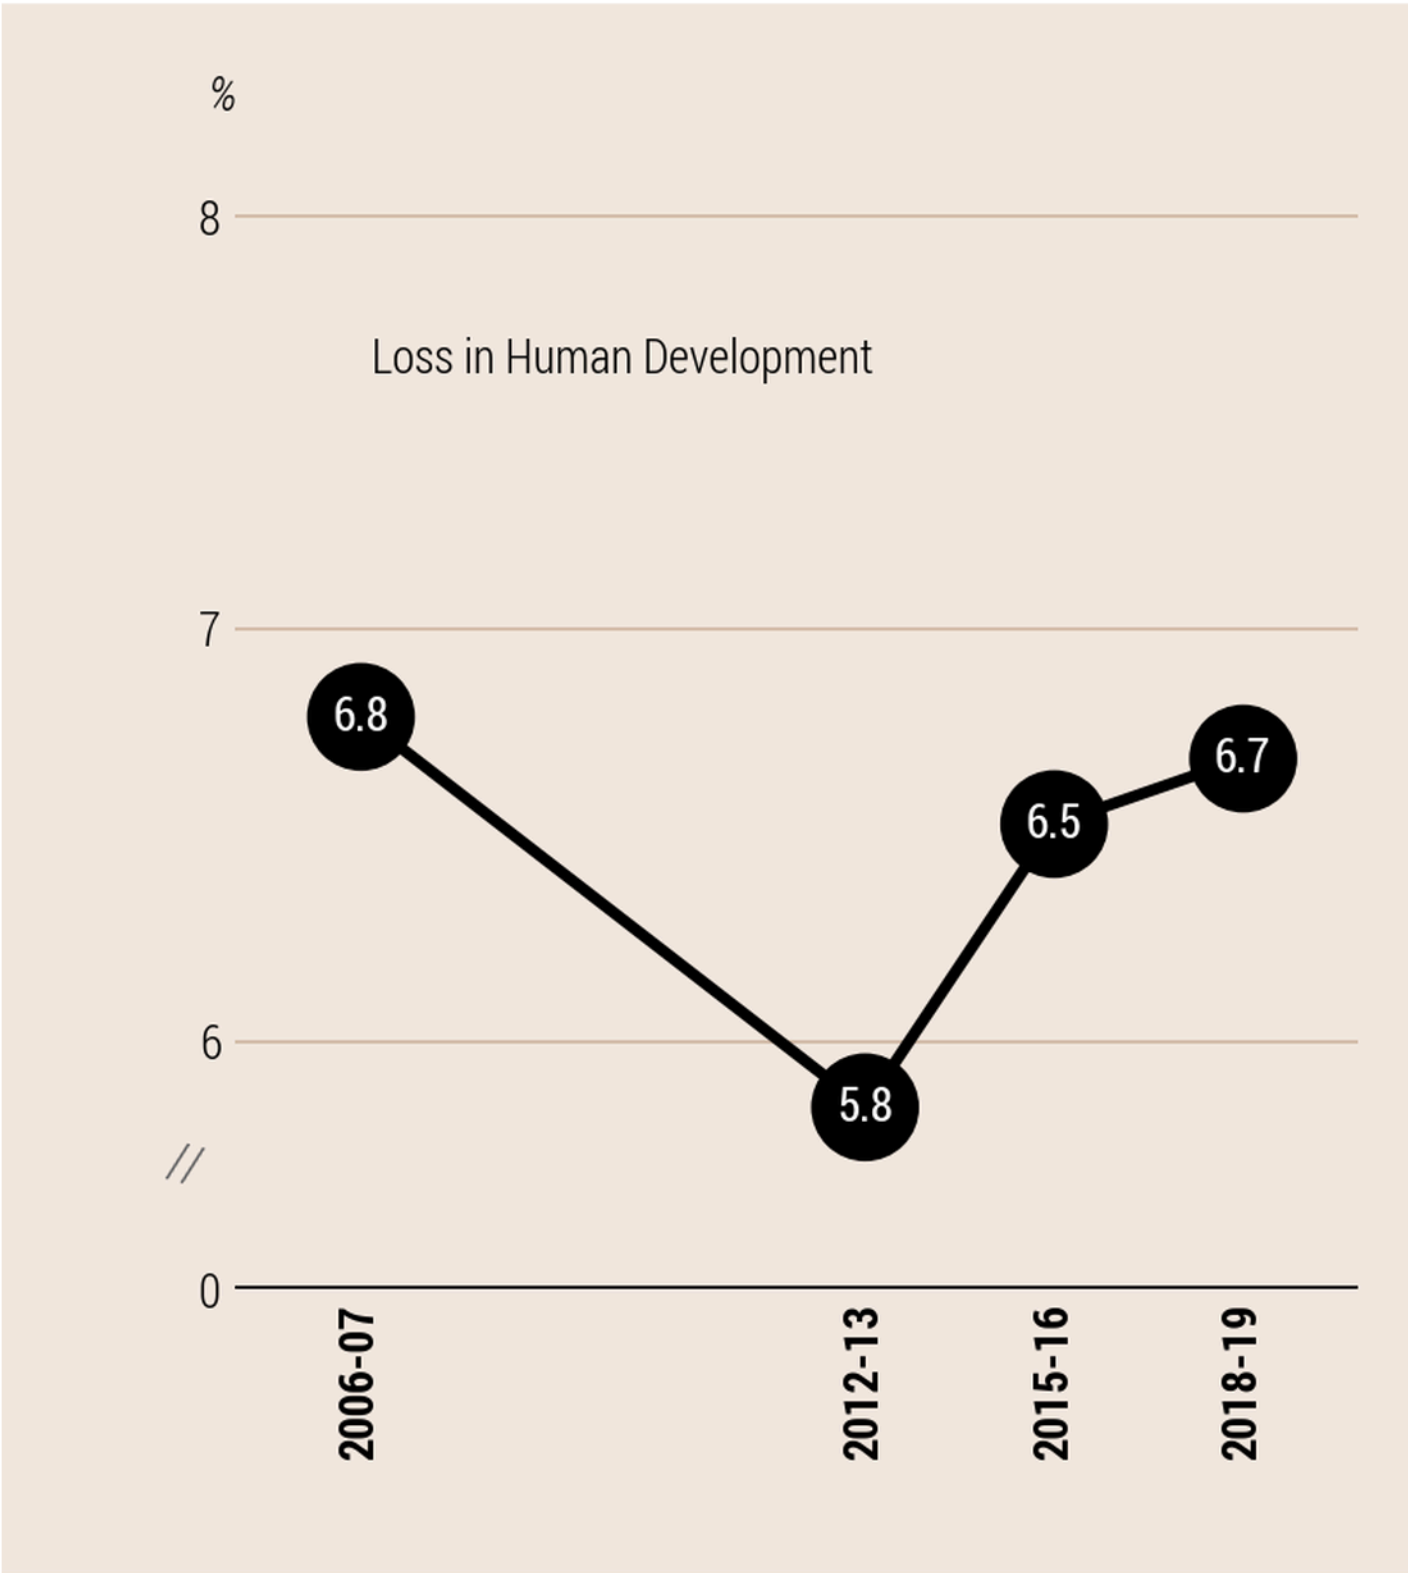

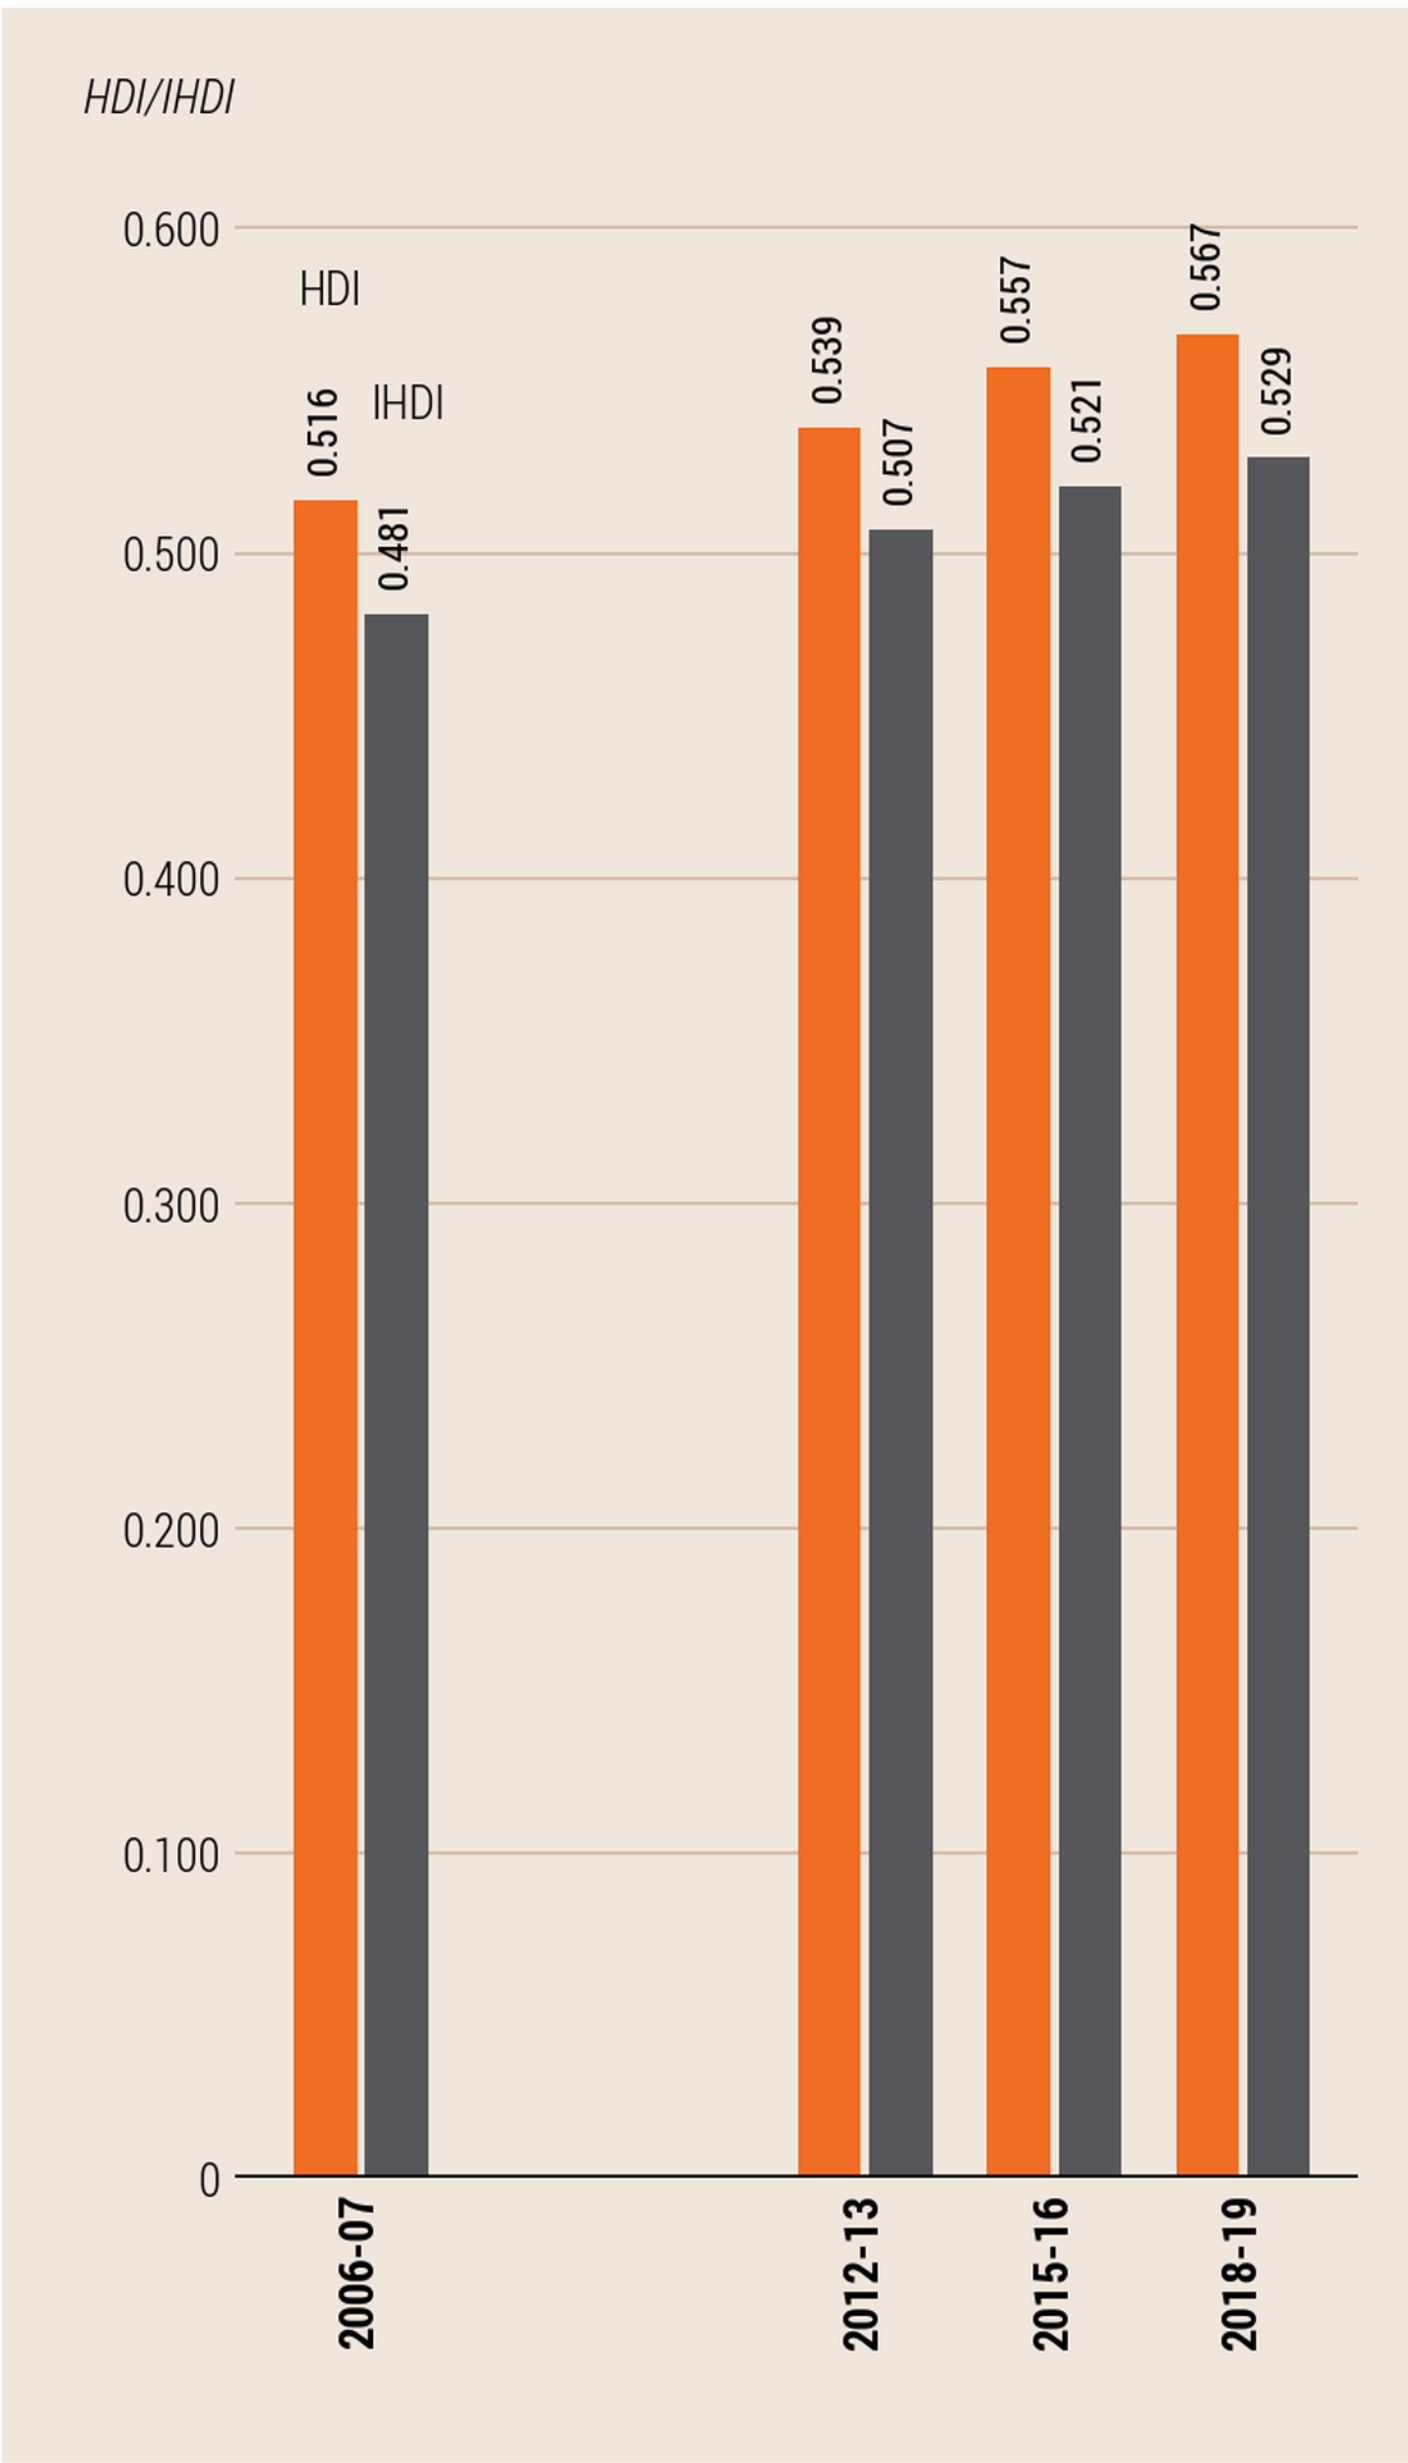

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha 2019 and multiple years of HIES and PDHS data.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 2.18

HDI and IHDI, and the loss in human development due to inequality, (2006-2019)

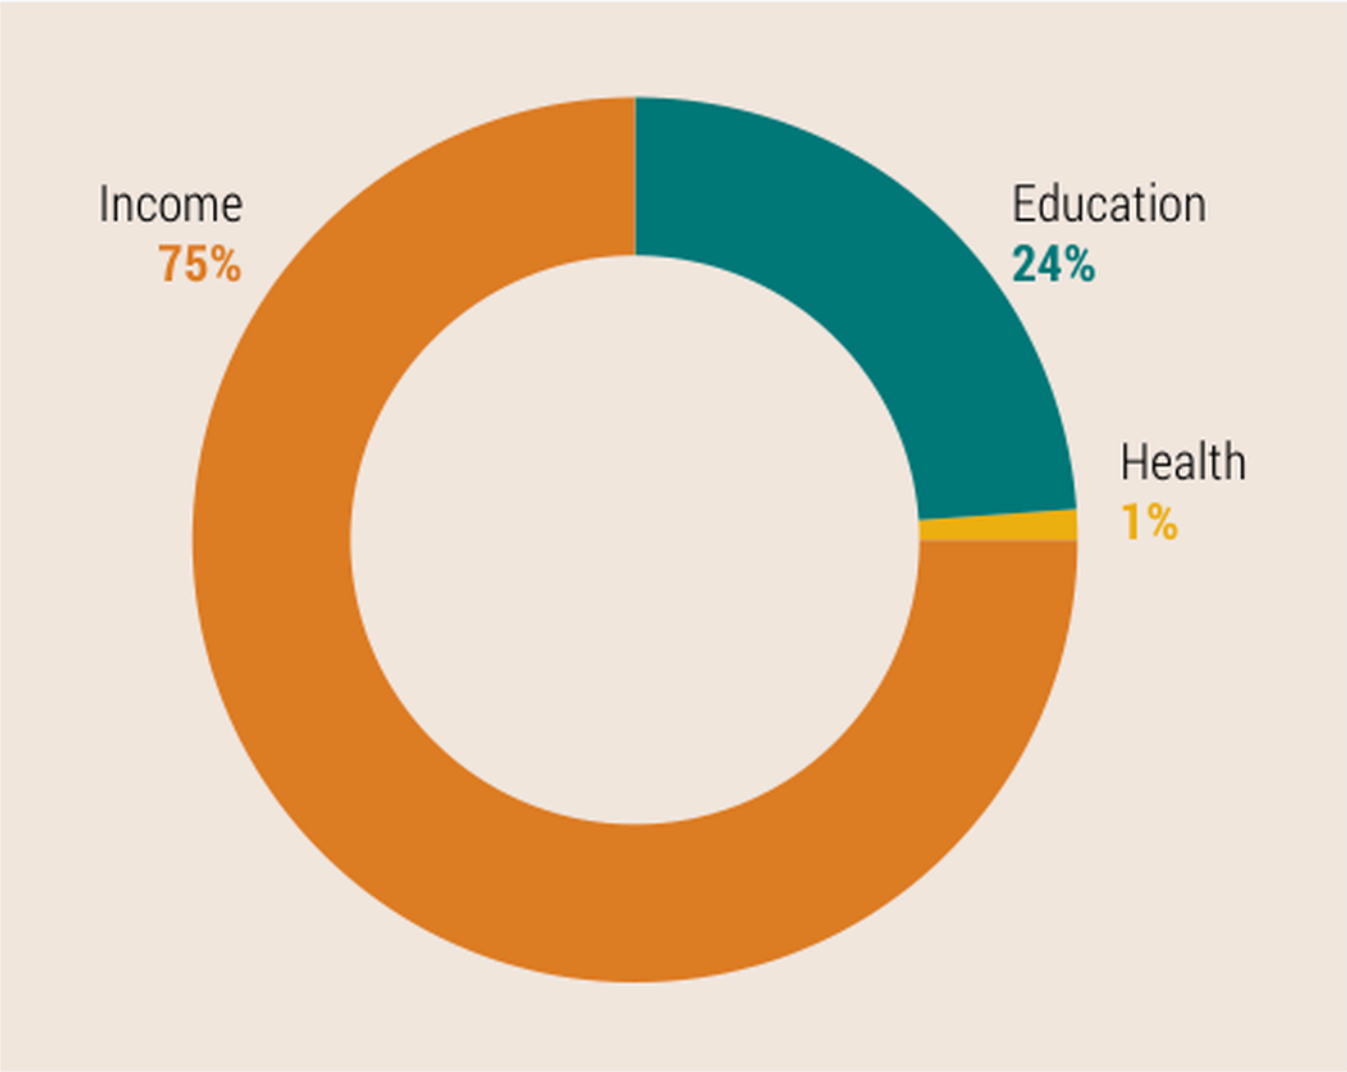

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2005-06, 2011-12, 2015-16 and 2018-19, PDHS 2006-07, 2012-13 and 2017-18 microdata, and WDI GNI per head (PPP).

Figure 2.19 Inequality in income distribution between quintiles is the major contributor to loss in human development, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 2.19

Inequality in income distribution between quintiles is the major contributor to loss in human development, (2018-2019)

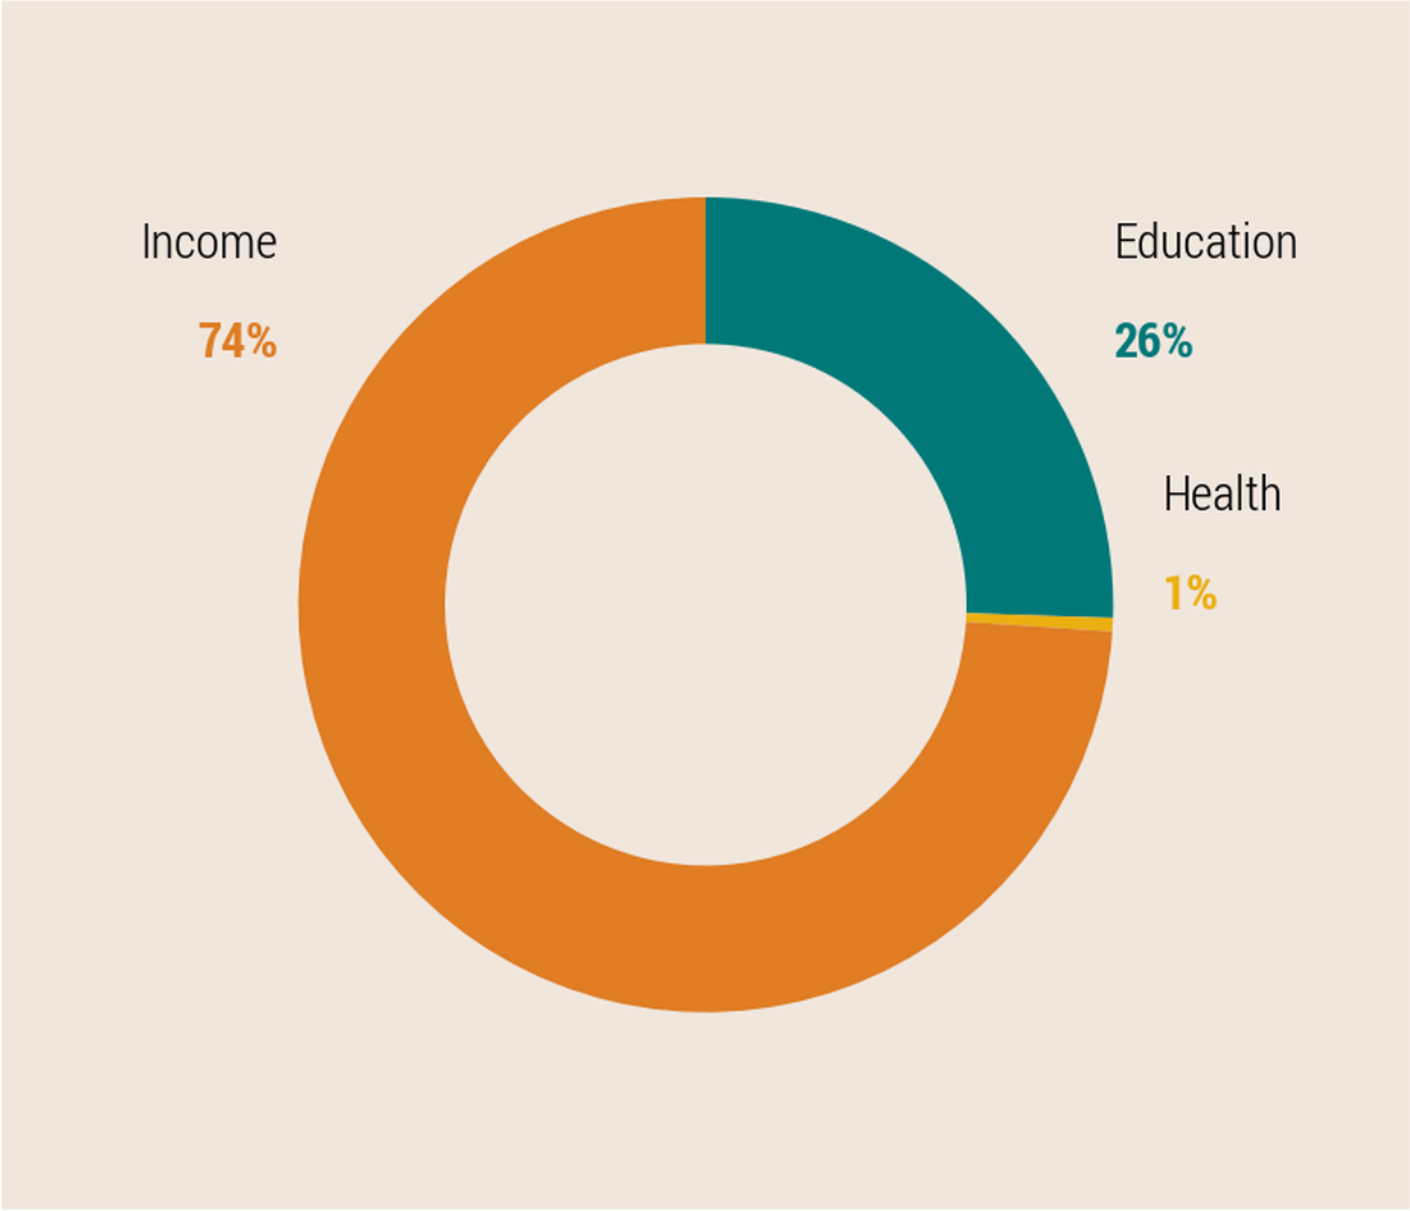

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha 2019 and multiple years of HIES and PDHS data.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 2.19

Contribution of each dimension to the loss in human development, (2018-2019)

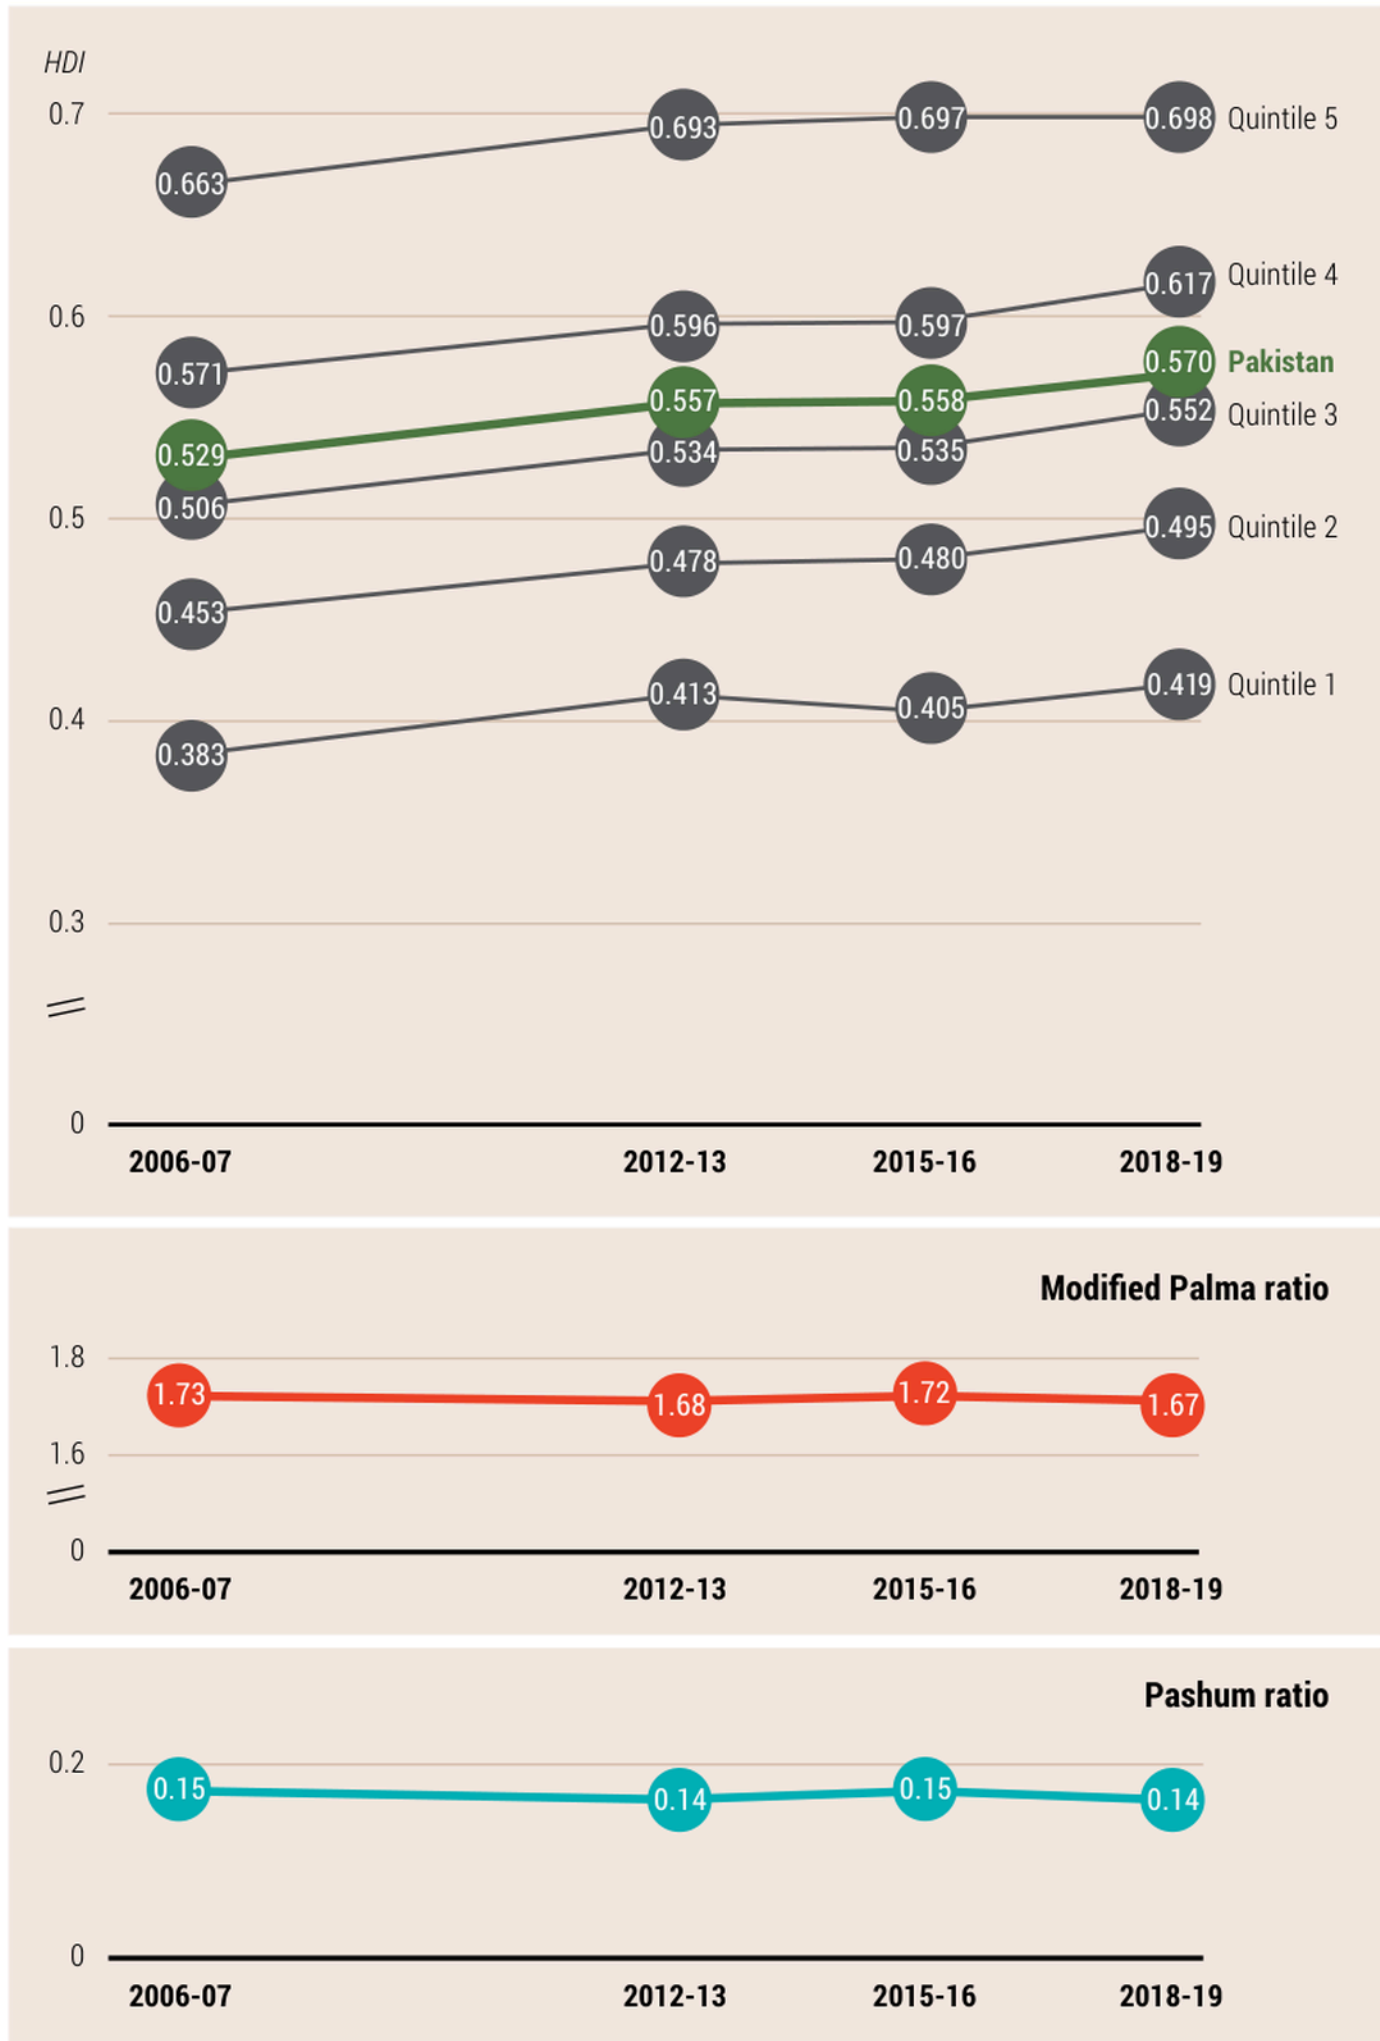

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Figure 2.20 HDI by quintiles at the national level and by inequality measures, (2006- 2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 2.20

HDI by quintiles at the national level and by inequality measures, (2006-2019)

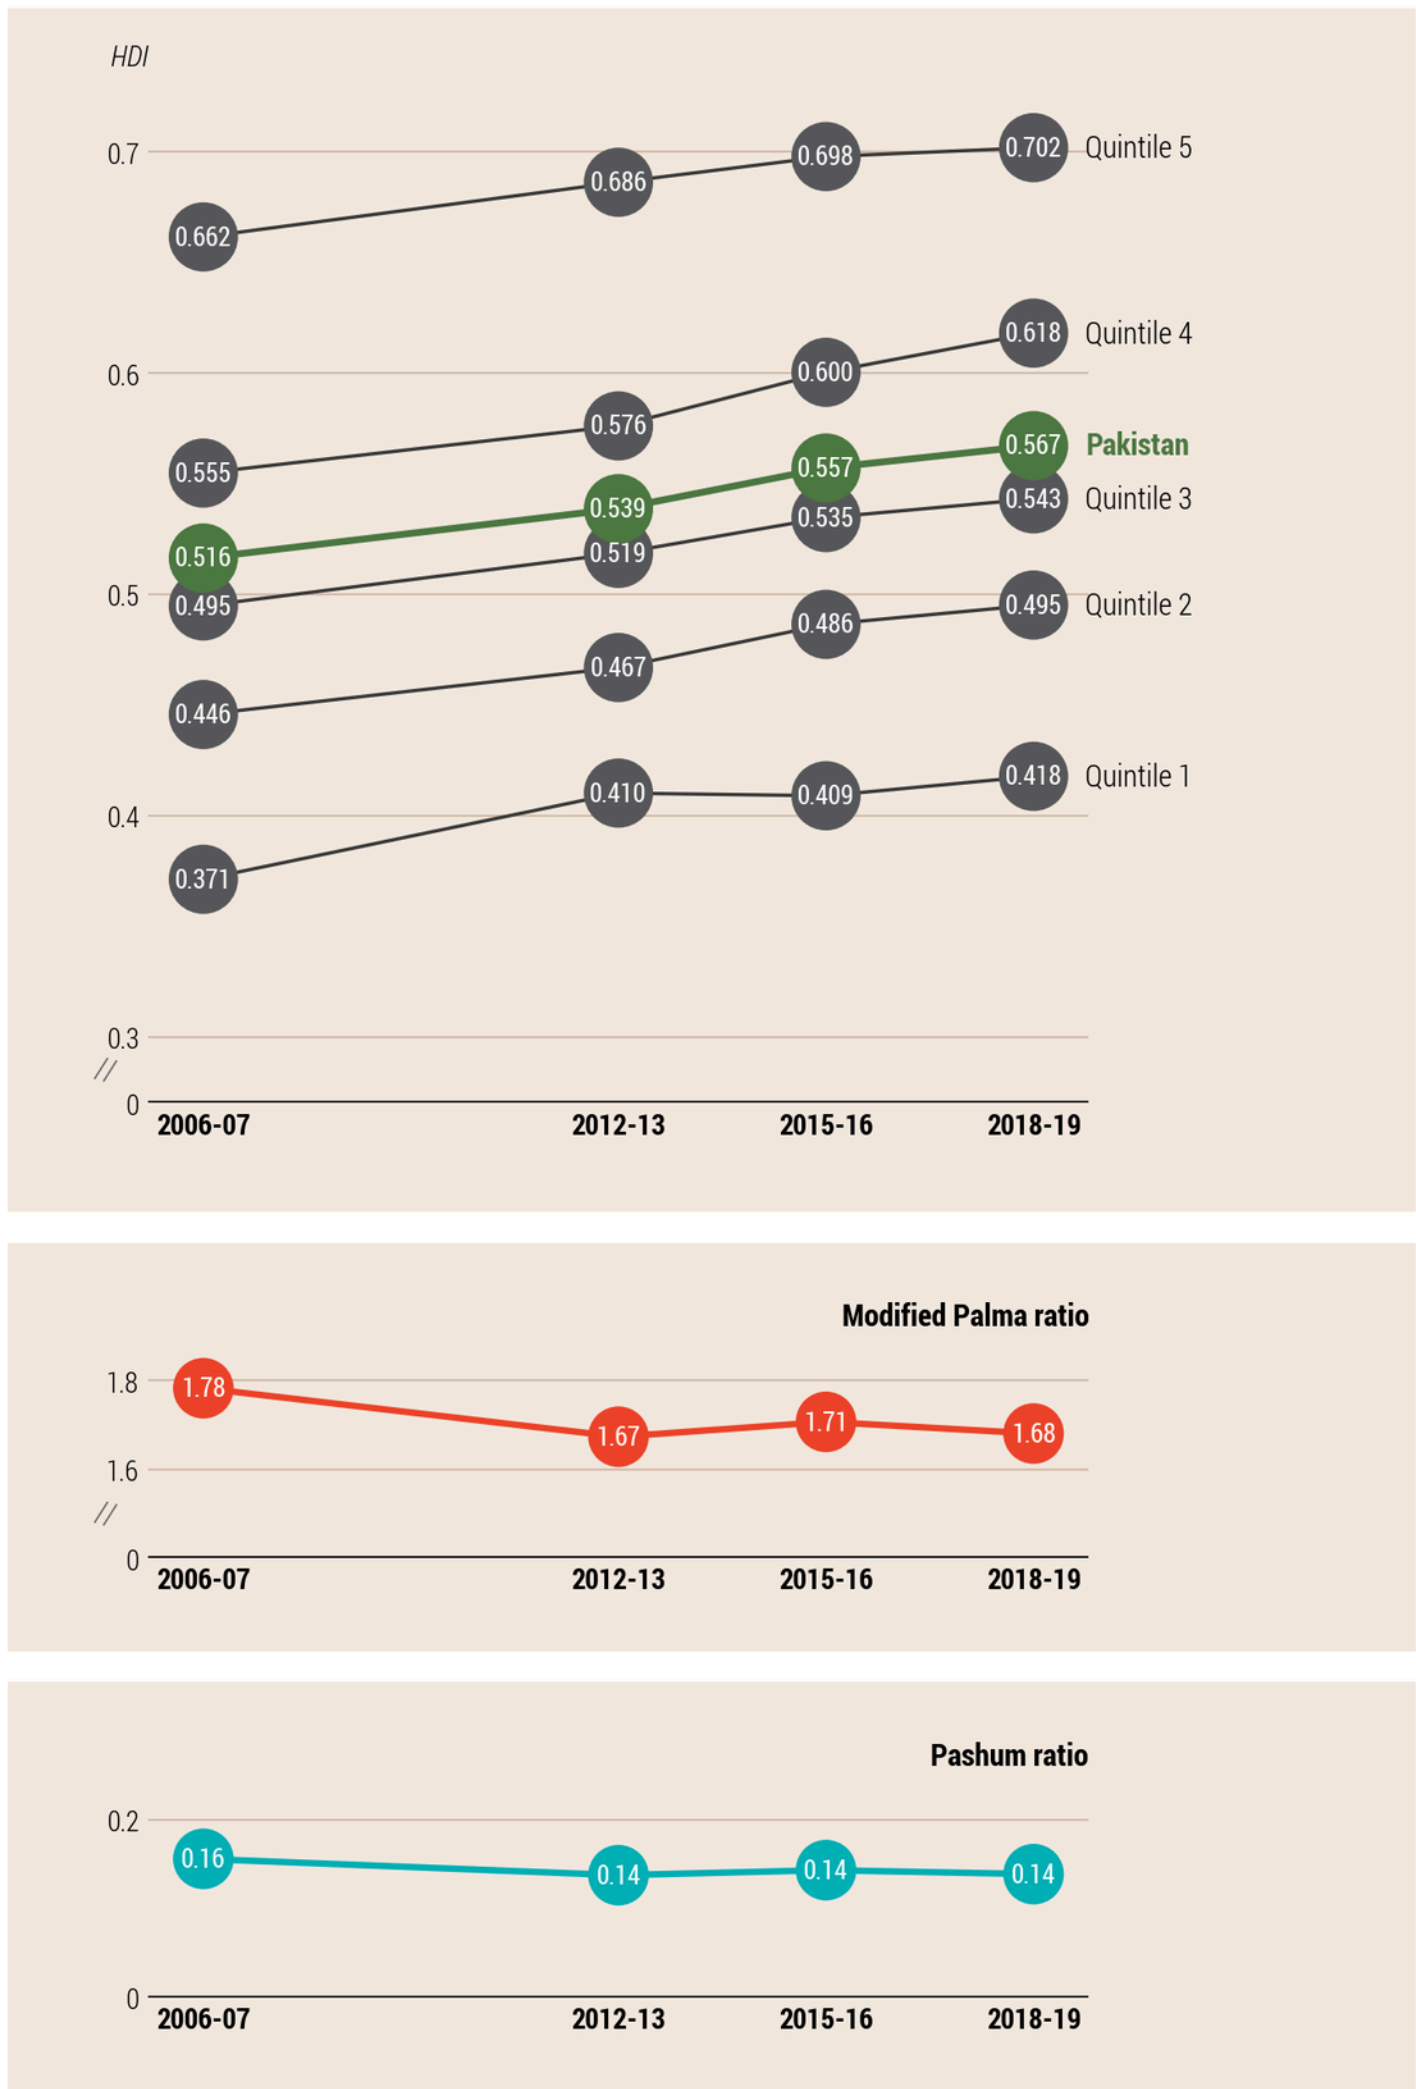

Note: The inequality measures for HDI are approximate in character.
Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha 2019 and multiple years of HIES and PDHS data.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 2.20

HDI by quintiles at the national level and by inequality measures, (2006-2019)

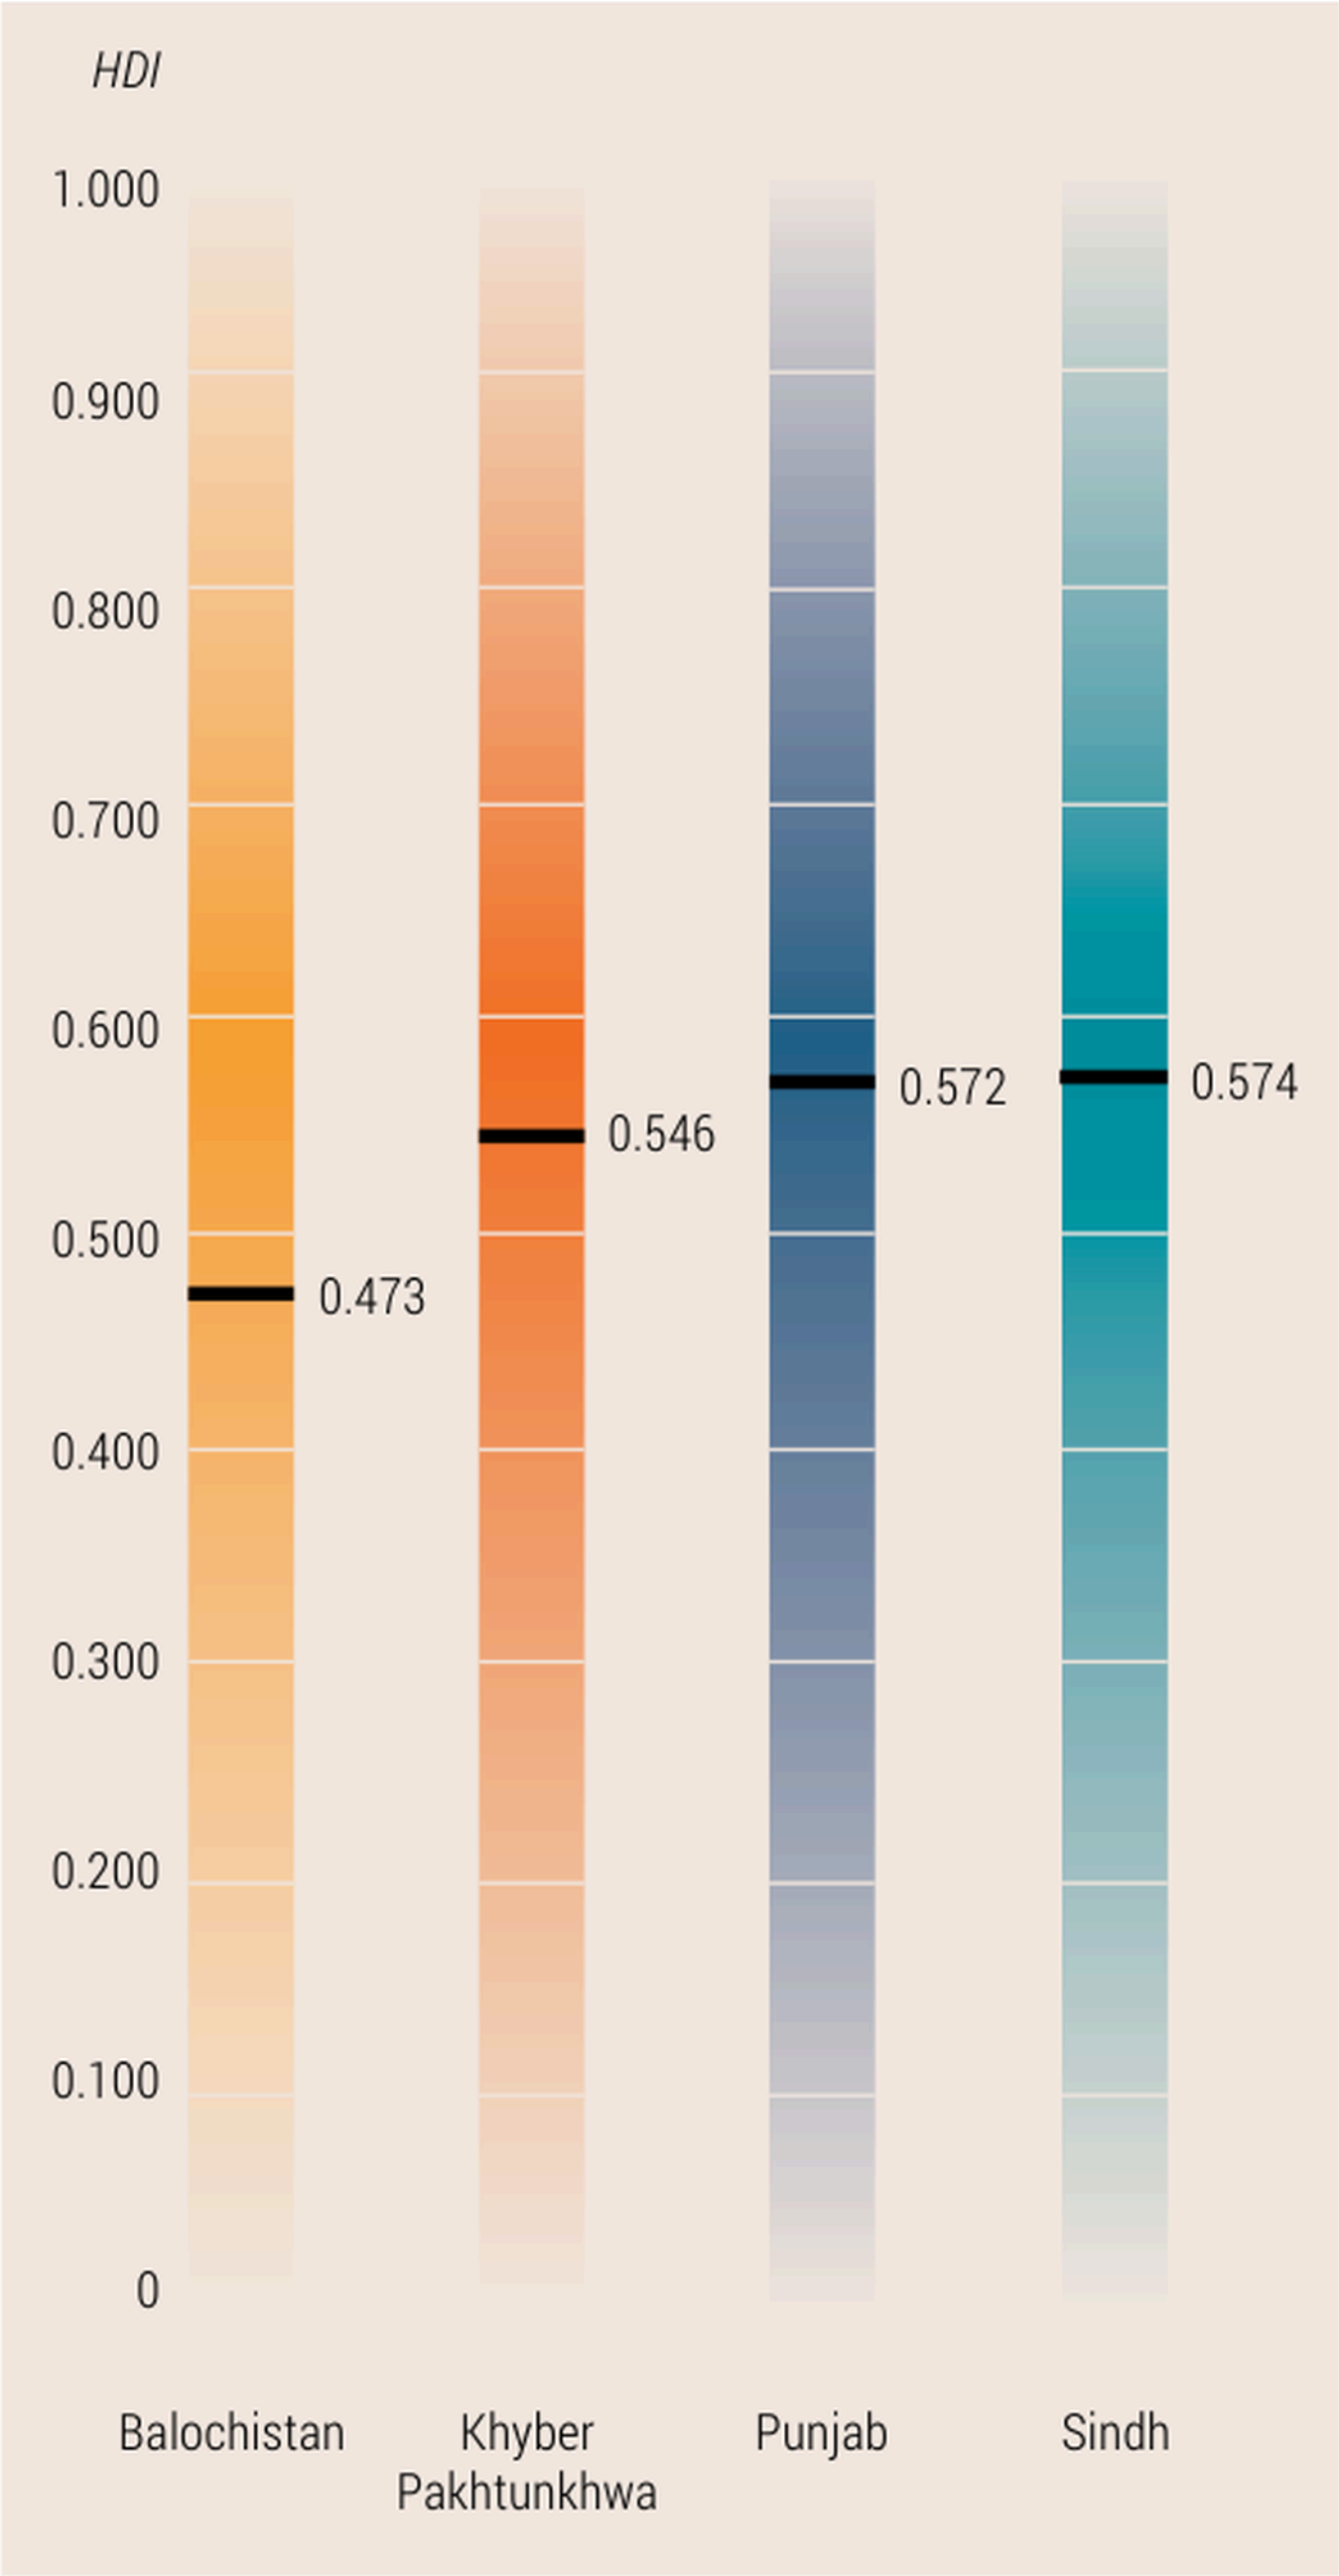

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2005-06, 2011-12, 2015-16 and 2018-19, PDHS 2006-07, 2012-13 and 2017-18 microdata, and WDI GNI per head (PPP).

Figure 3.6 Provincial Human Development Index, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 3.6

Provincial Human Development Index, (2018-2019)

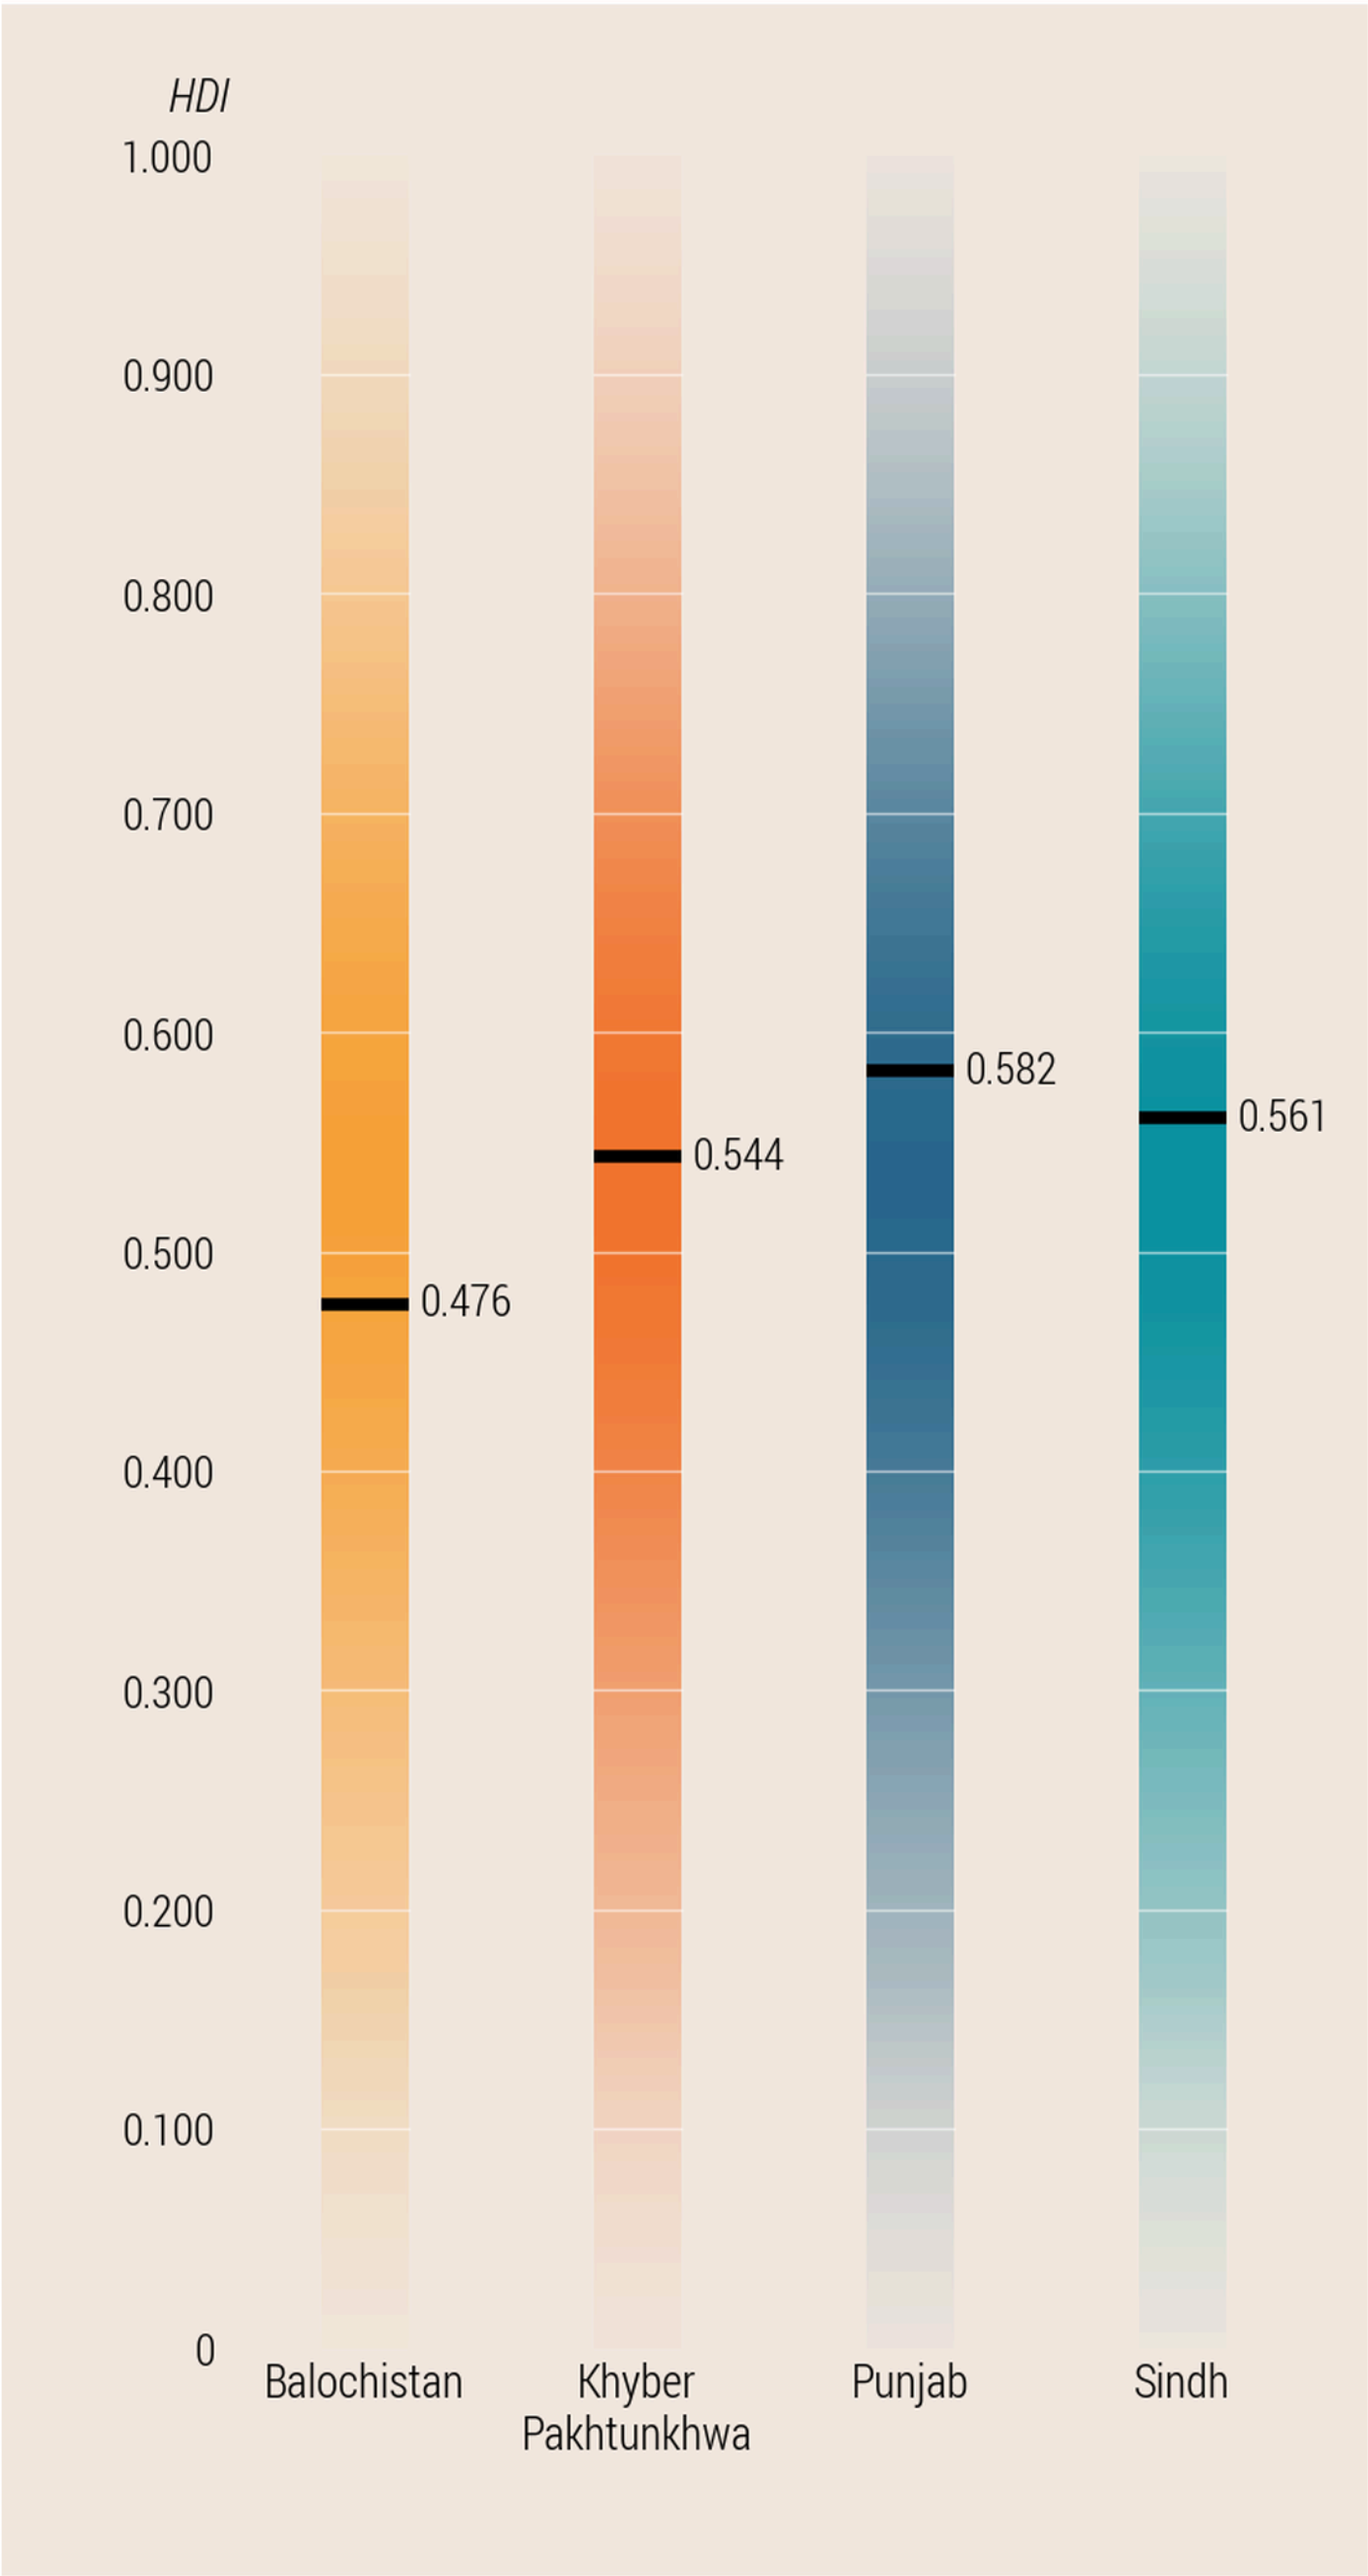

Source: UNDP calculations based on HIES, 2018-2019; PDHS, 2017-2018; and Pasha, 2019.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 3.6

Provincial Human Development Index, (2018-2019)

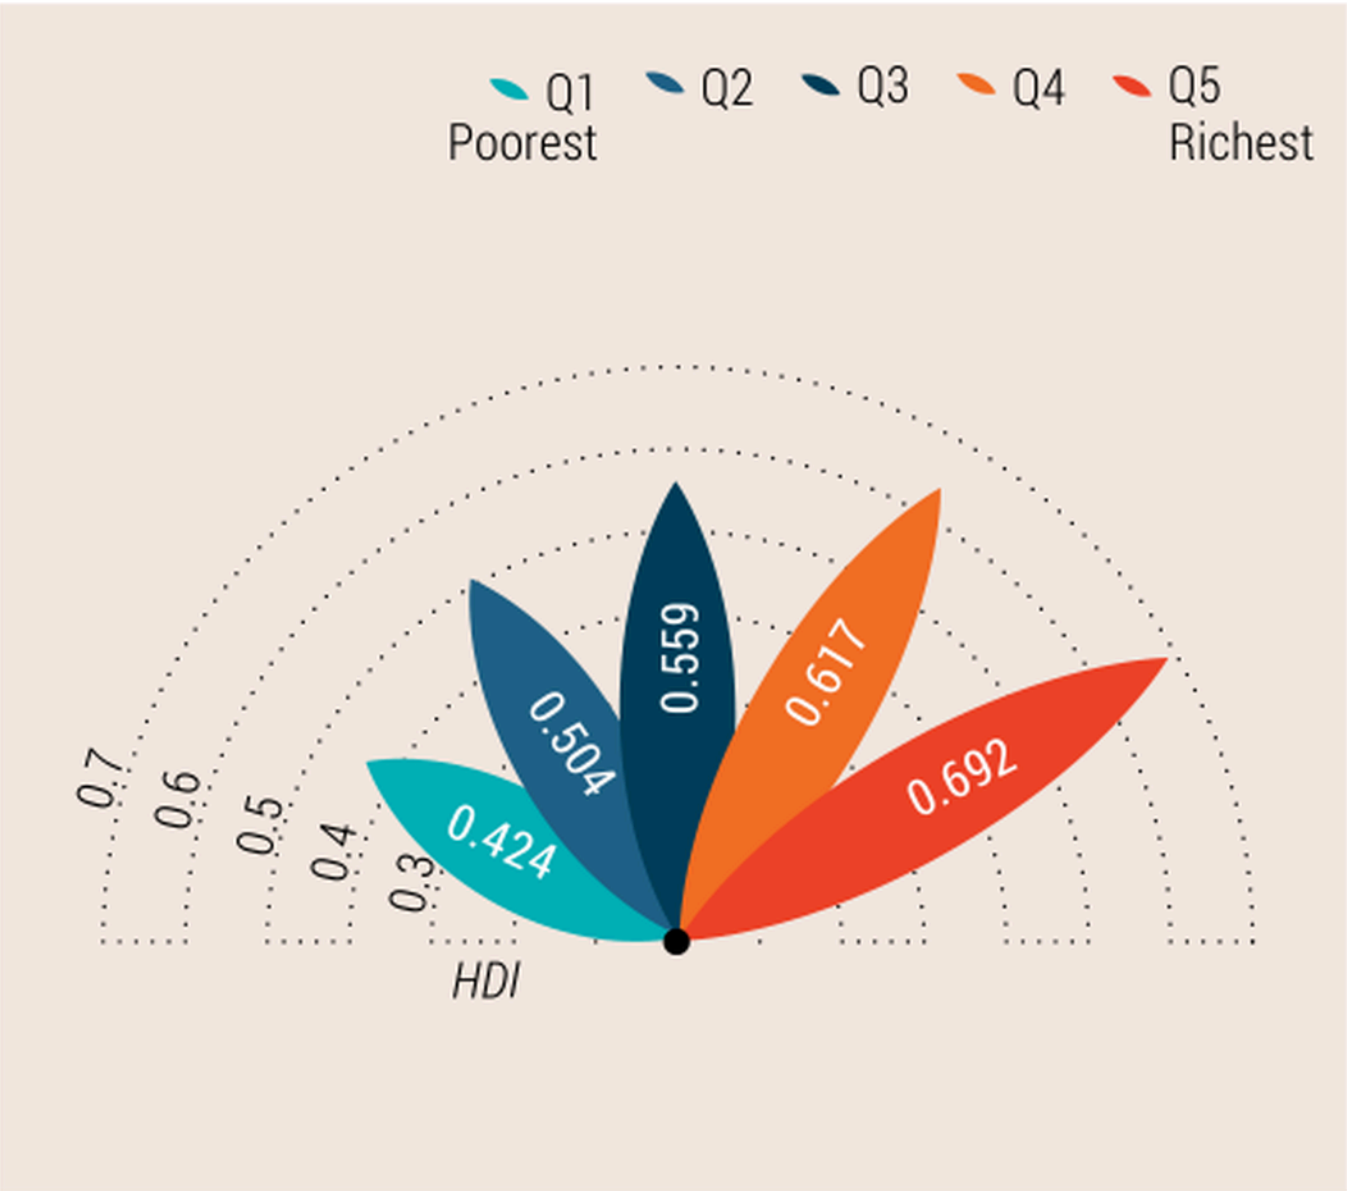

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Figure 3.10 Punjab's richest quintiles enjoy higher human development compared to the poorest, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 3.10

Punjab's richest quintiles enjoy higher human development compared to the poorest, (2018-2019)

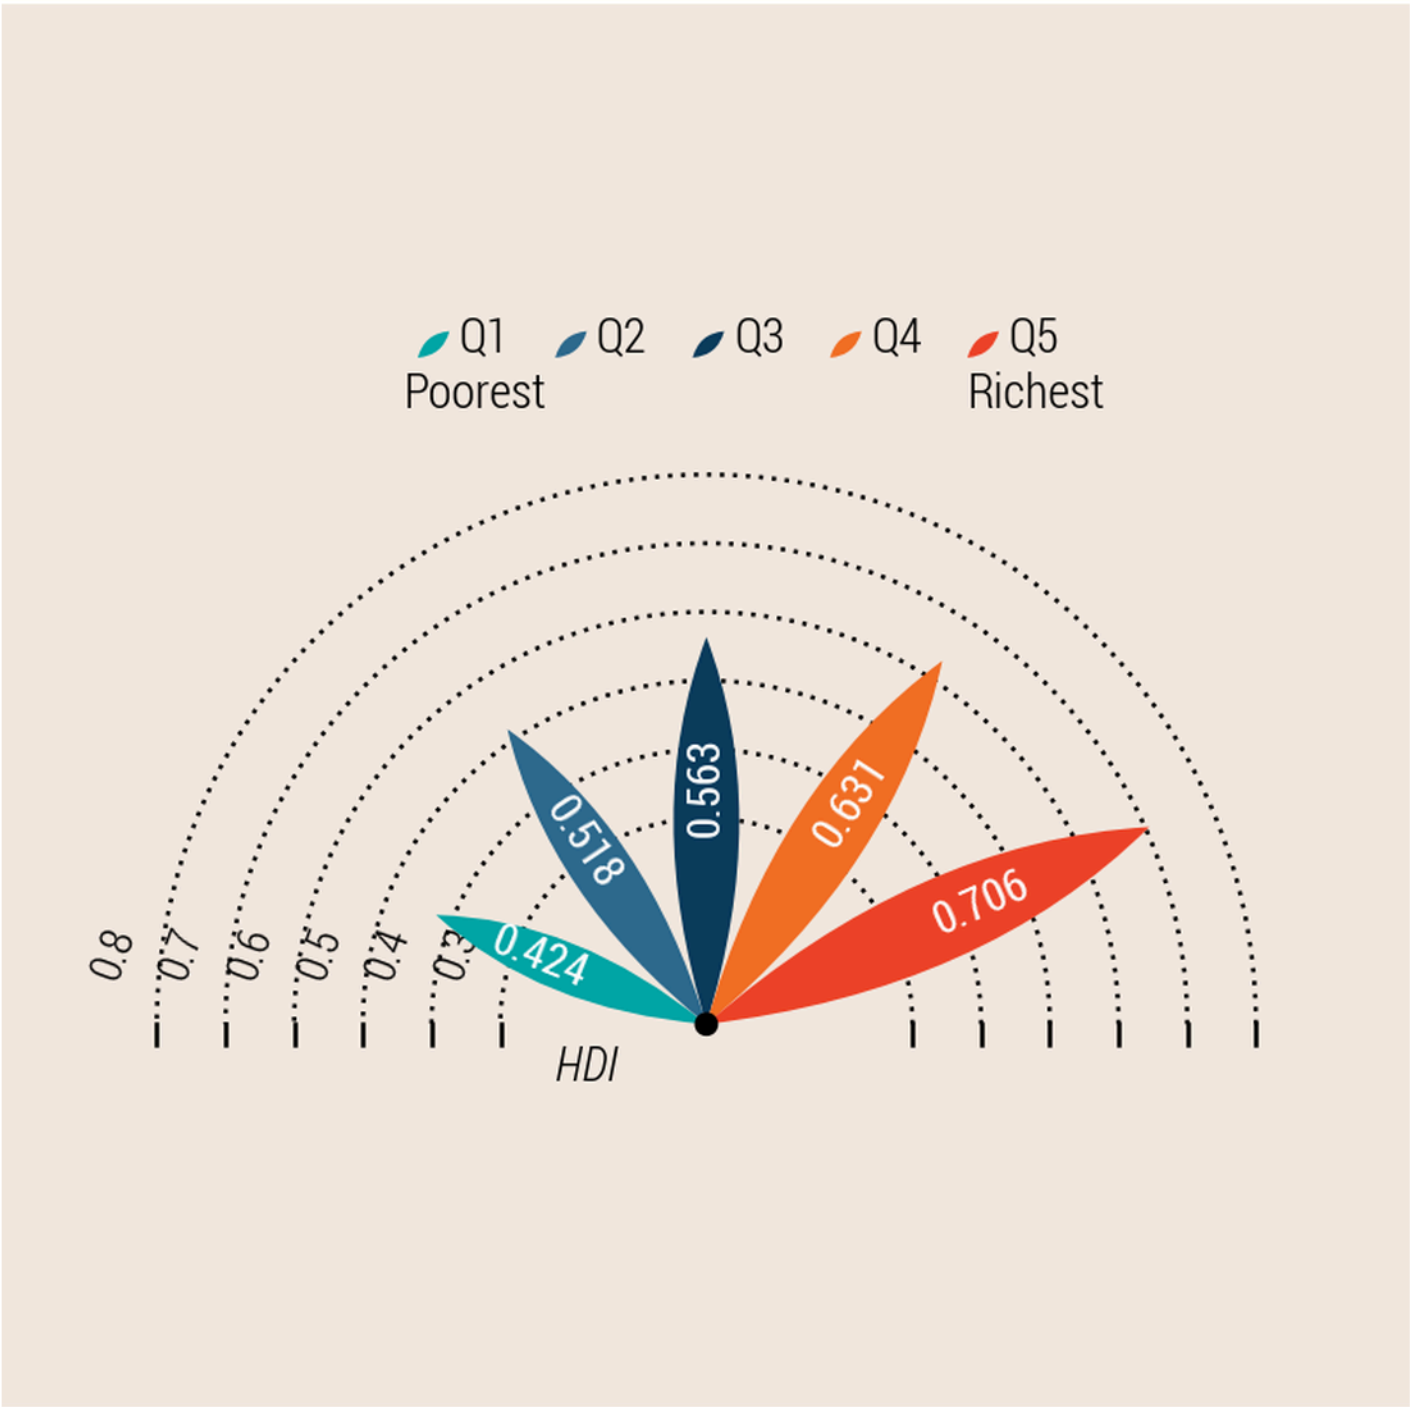

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha, 2019; HIES, 2018-2019; and PDHS, 2017-2018.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 3.10

HDI by quintile, Punjab, (2018-2019)

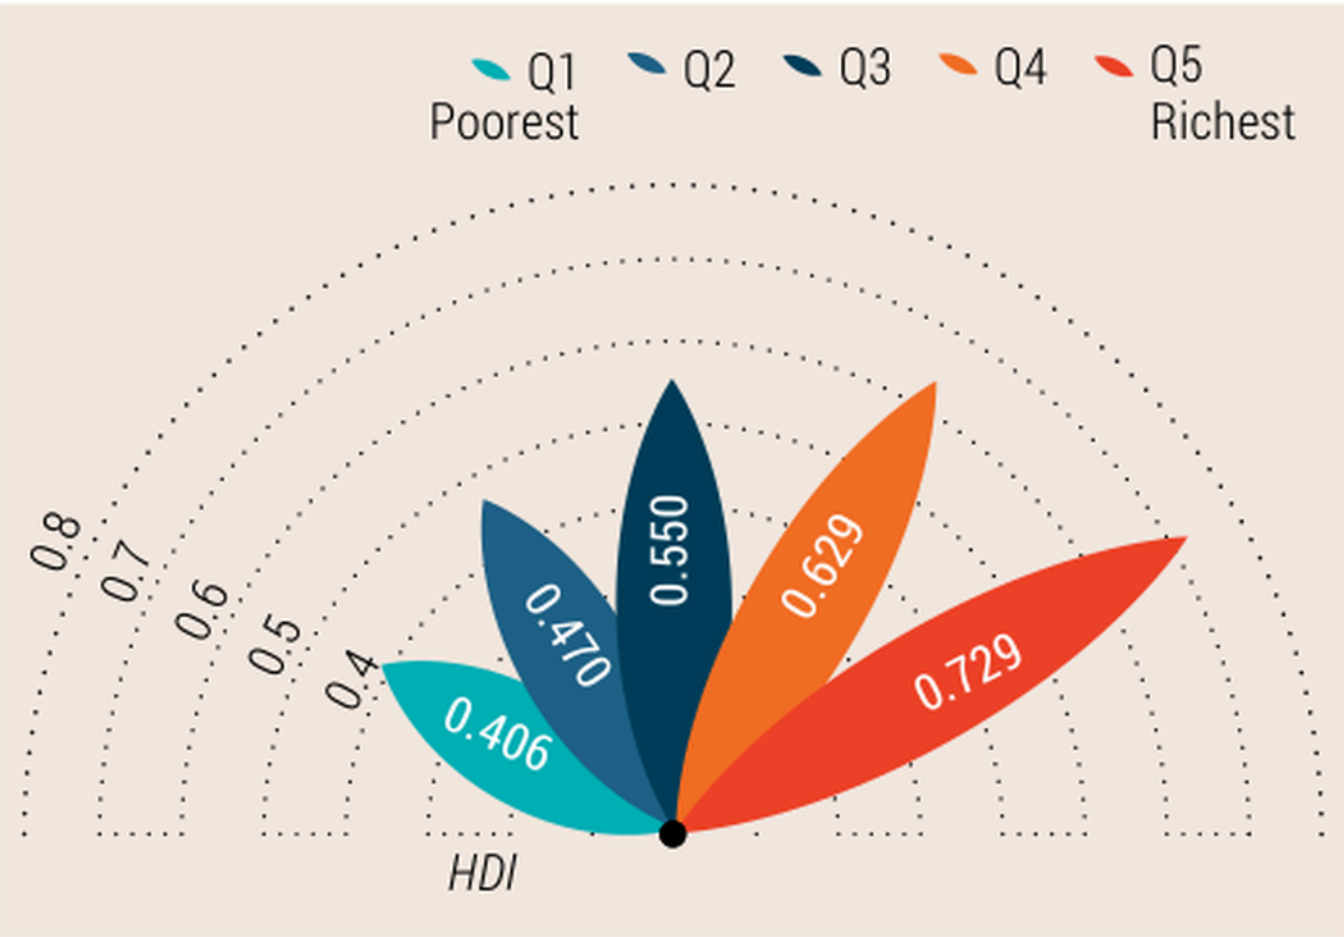

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Figure 3.13 Sindh's richest quintiles enjoy higher human development compared to the poorest, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 3.13

Sindh's richest quintiles enjoy higher human development compared to the poorest, (2018-2019)

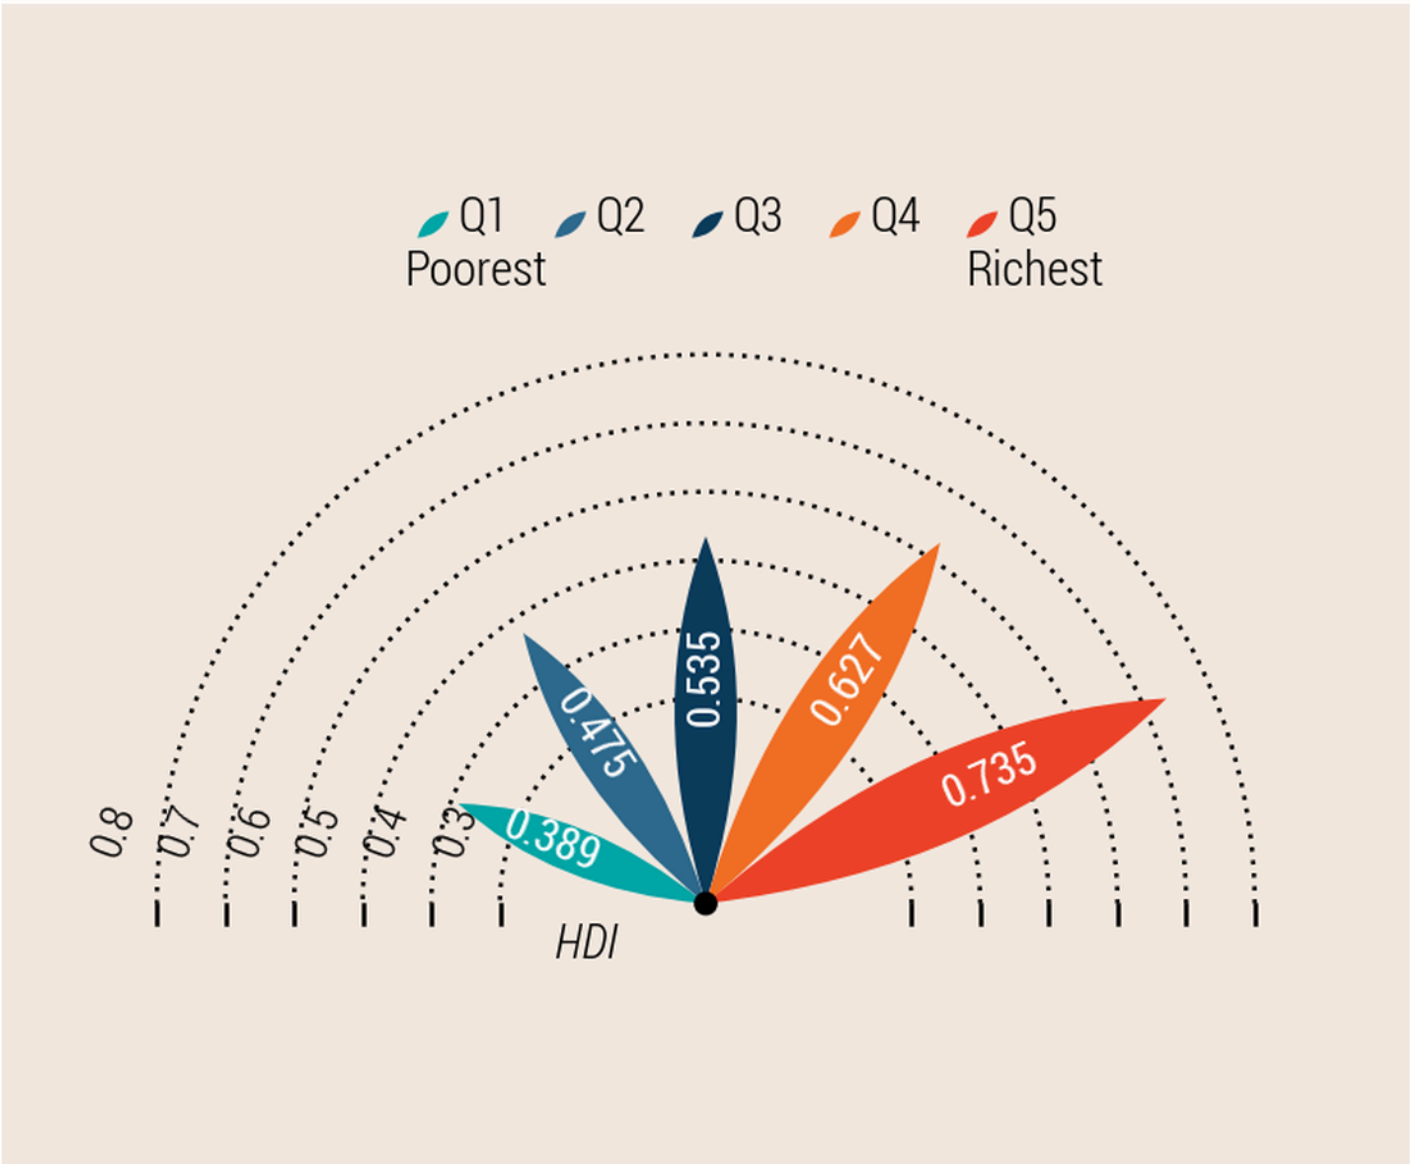

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha, 2019; HIES, 2018-2019; and PDHS, 2017-2018.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 3.13

HDI by quintile, Sindh, (2018-2019)

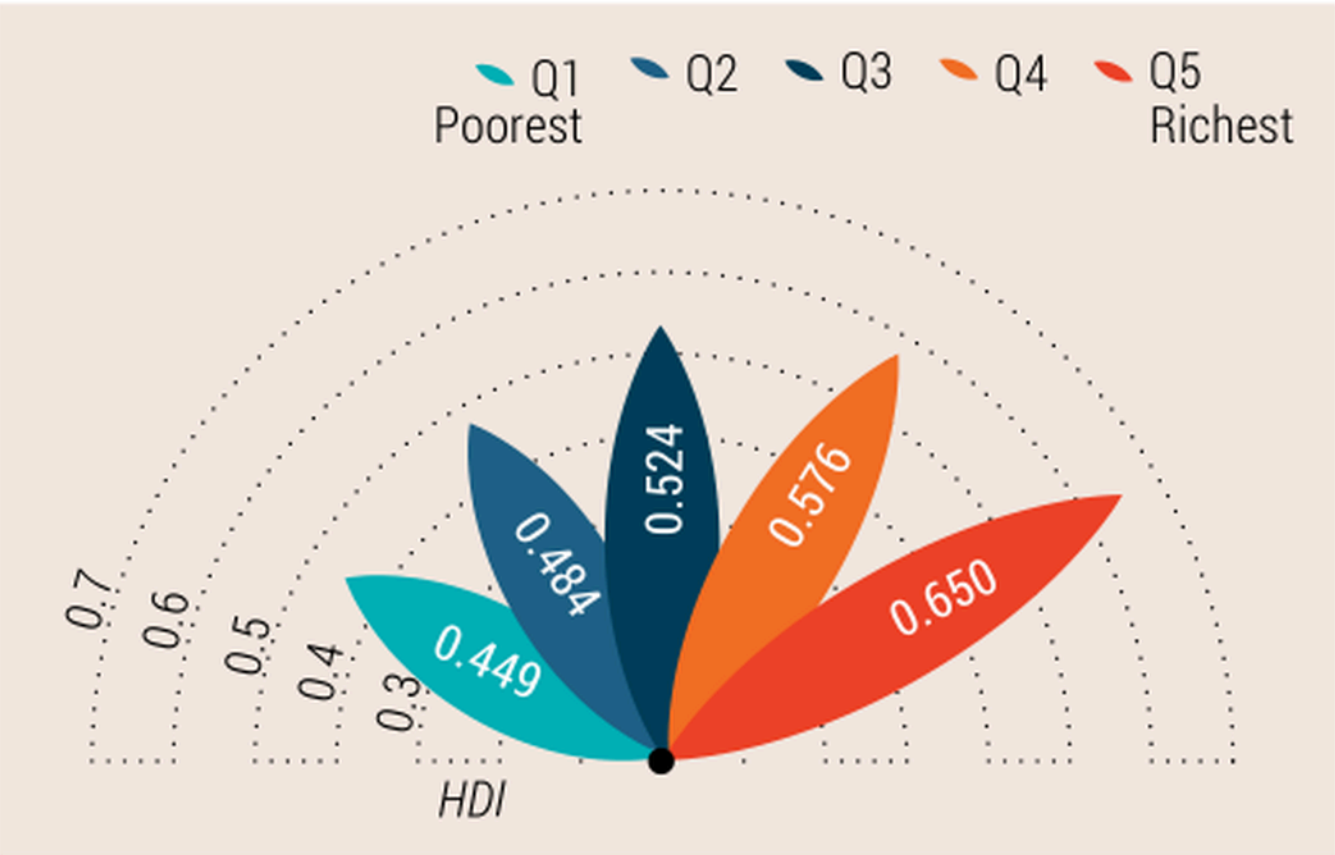

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Figure 3.16 Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's richest quintiles enjoy higher human development compared to the poorest, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 3.16

Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's richest quintiles enjoy higher human development compared to the poorest, (2018-2019)

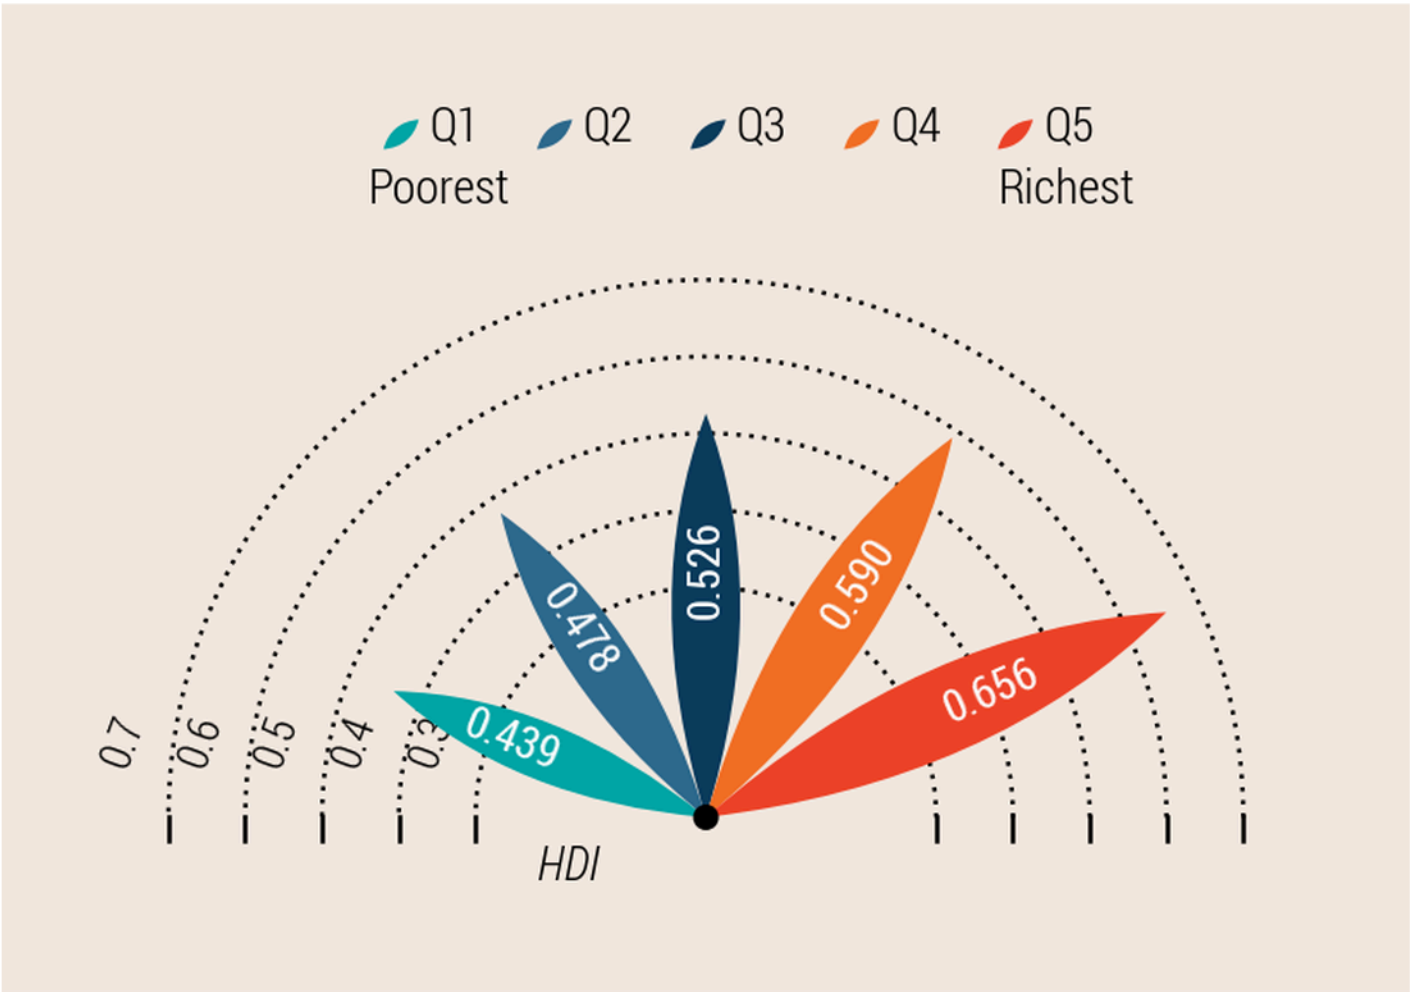

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha, 2019; HIES, 2018-2019; and PDHS, 2017-2018.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 3.16

HDI by quintile, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, (2018-2019)

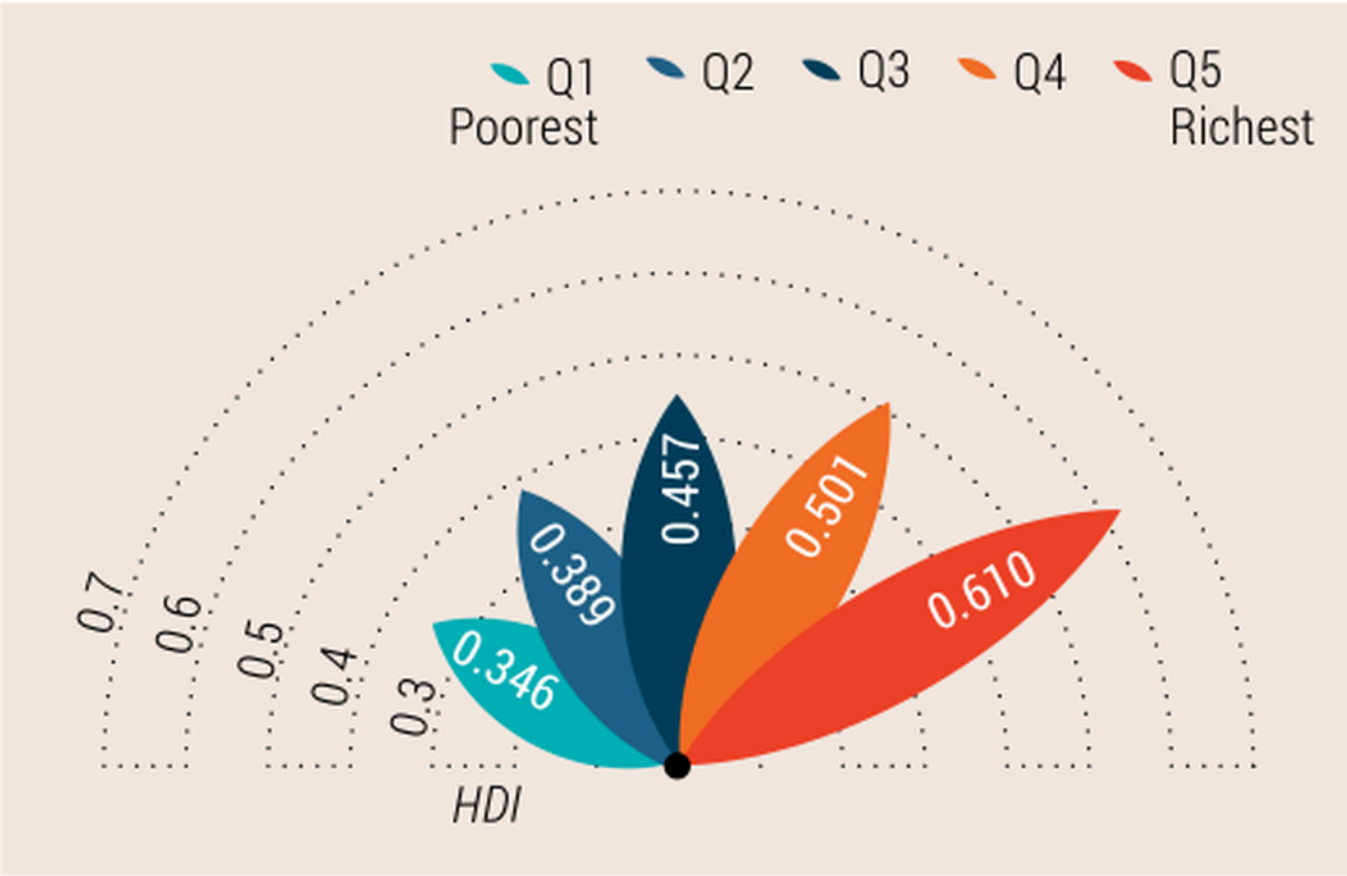

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Figure 3.19 Balochistan's richest quintiles enjoy higher human development compared to the poorest, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 3.19

Balochistan's richest quintiles enjoy higher human development compared to the poorest, (2018-2019)

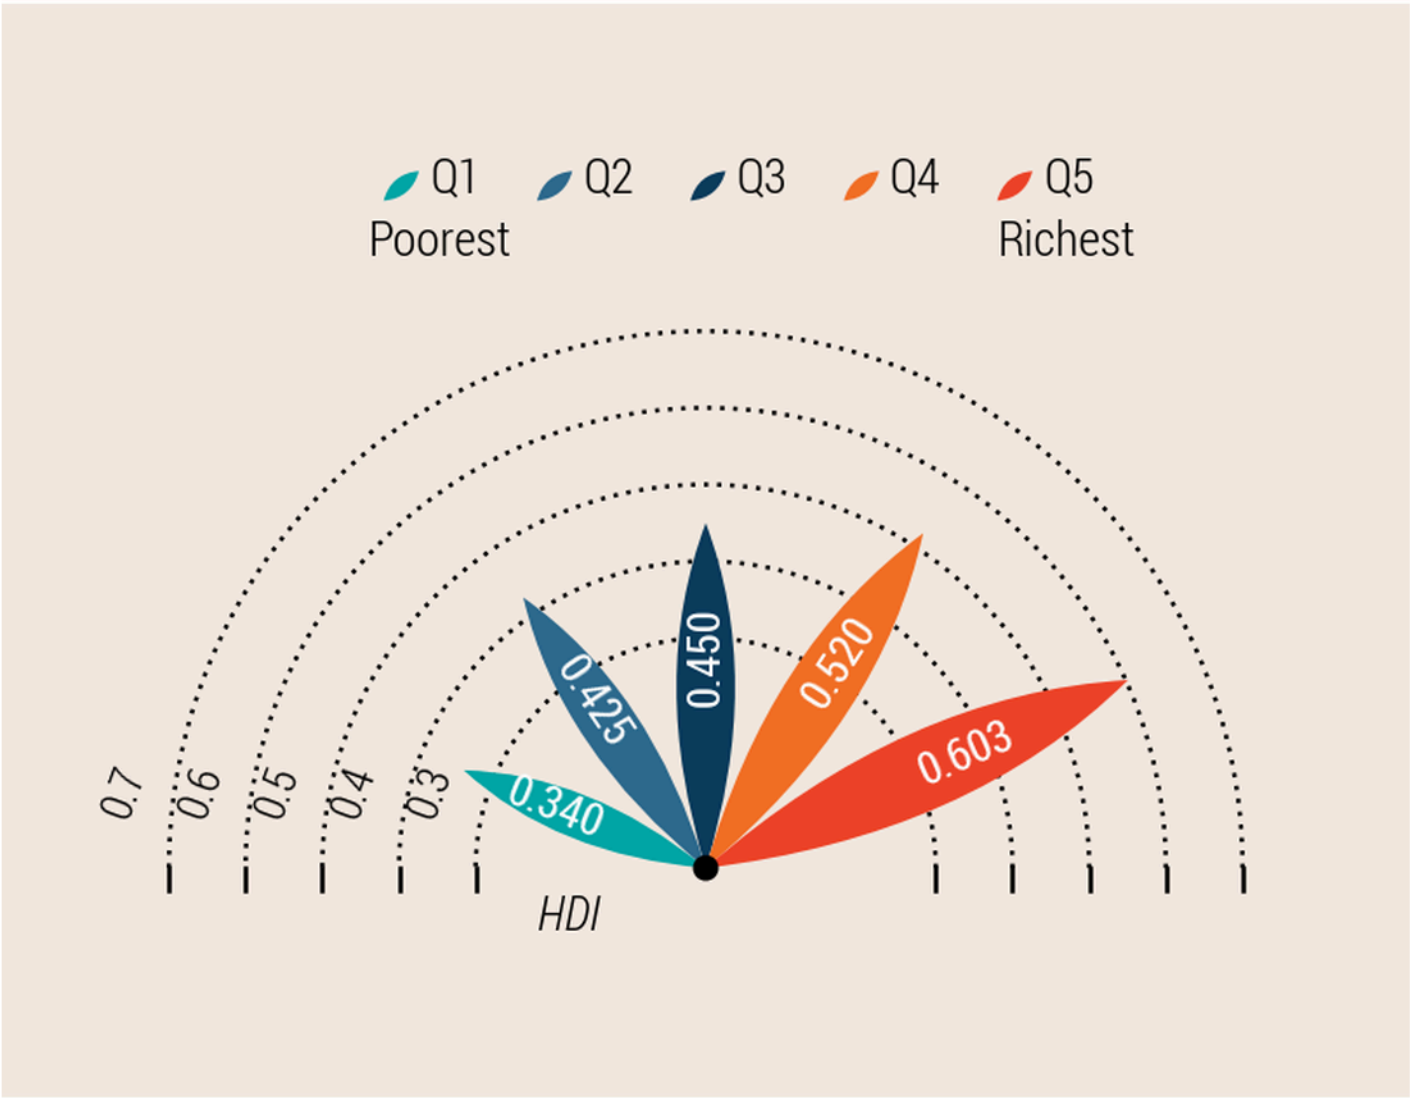

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha, 2019; HIES, 2018-2019; and PDHS, 2017-2018.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 3.19

HDI by quintile, Balochistan, (2018-2019)

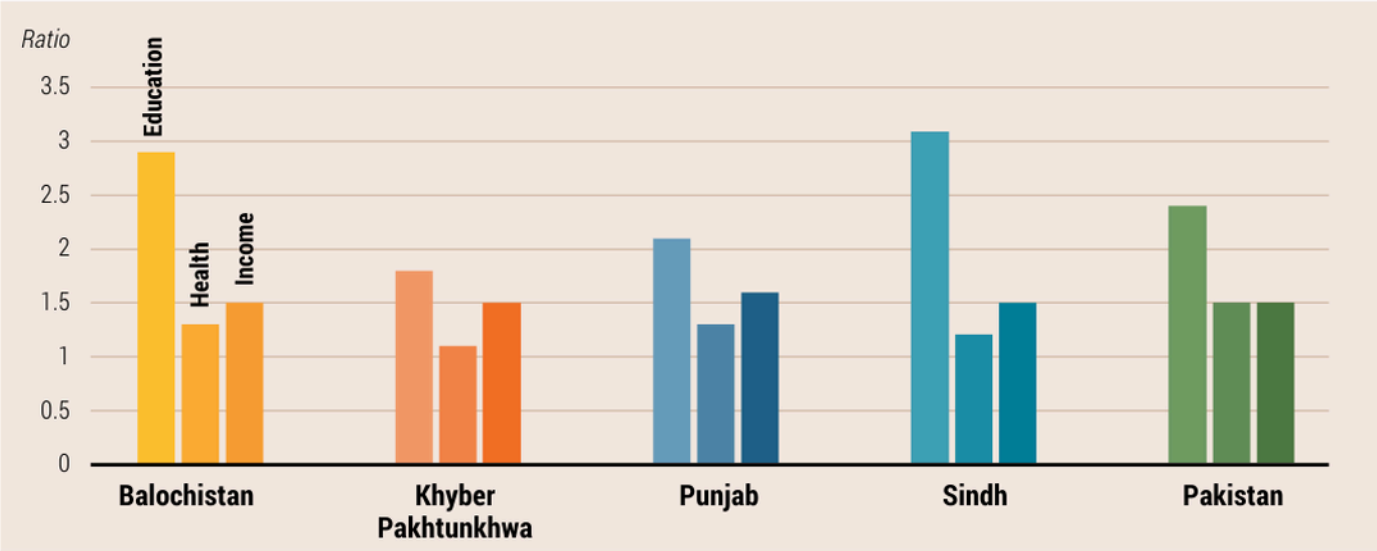

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Figure 3.22 Education drives the inequality in human development among the quintiles in all provinces (ratio of top to bottom quintile), (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 3.22

Education drives the inequality in human development among the quintiles in all provinces (ratio of top to bottom quintile), (2018-2019)

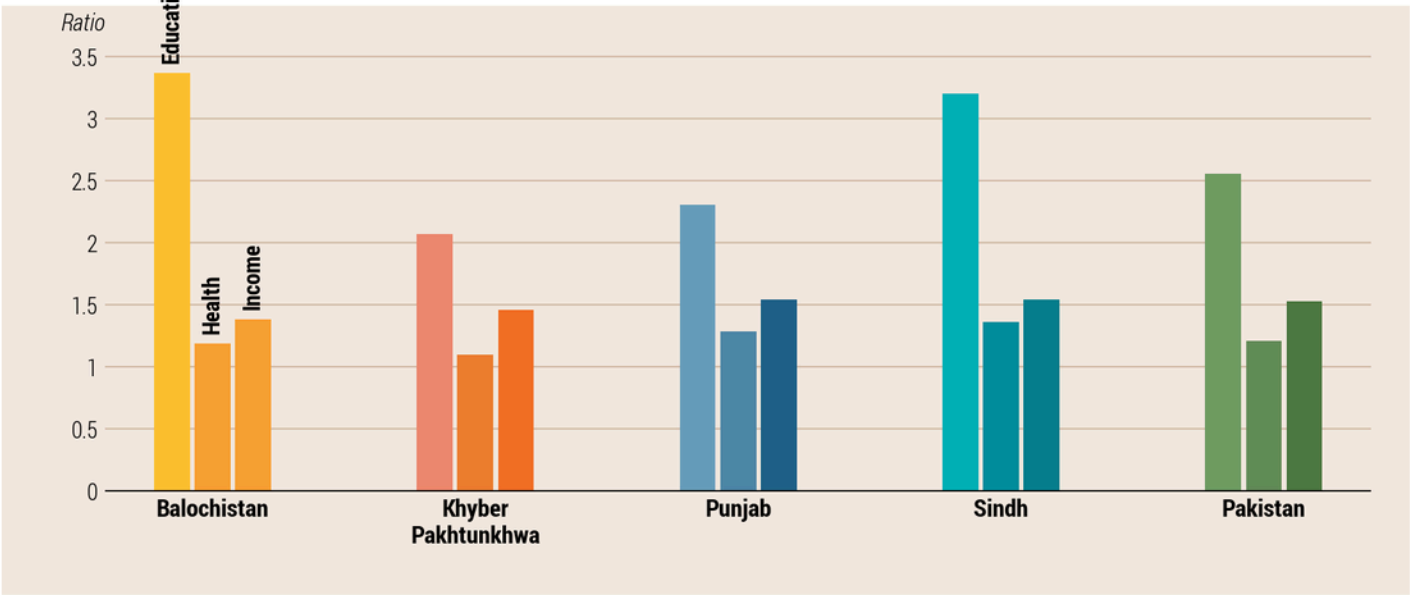

Source: UNDP calculations based on NHDR 2020 HDI.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 3.22

Ratio of the top to the bottom quintile by dimension of the HDI, (2018-2019)

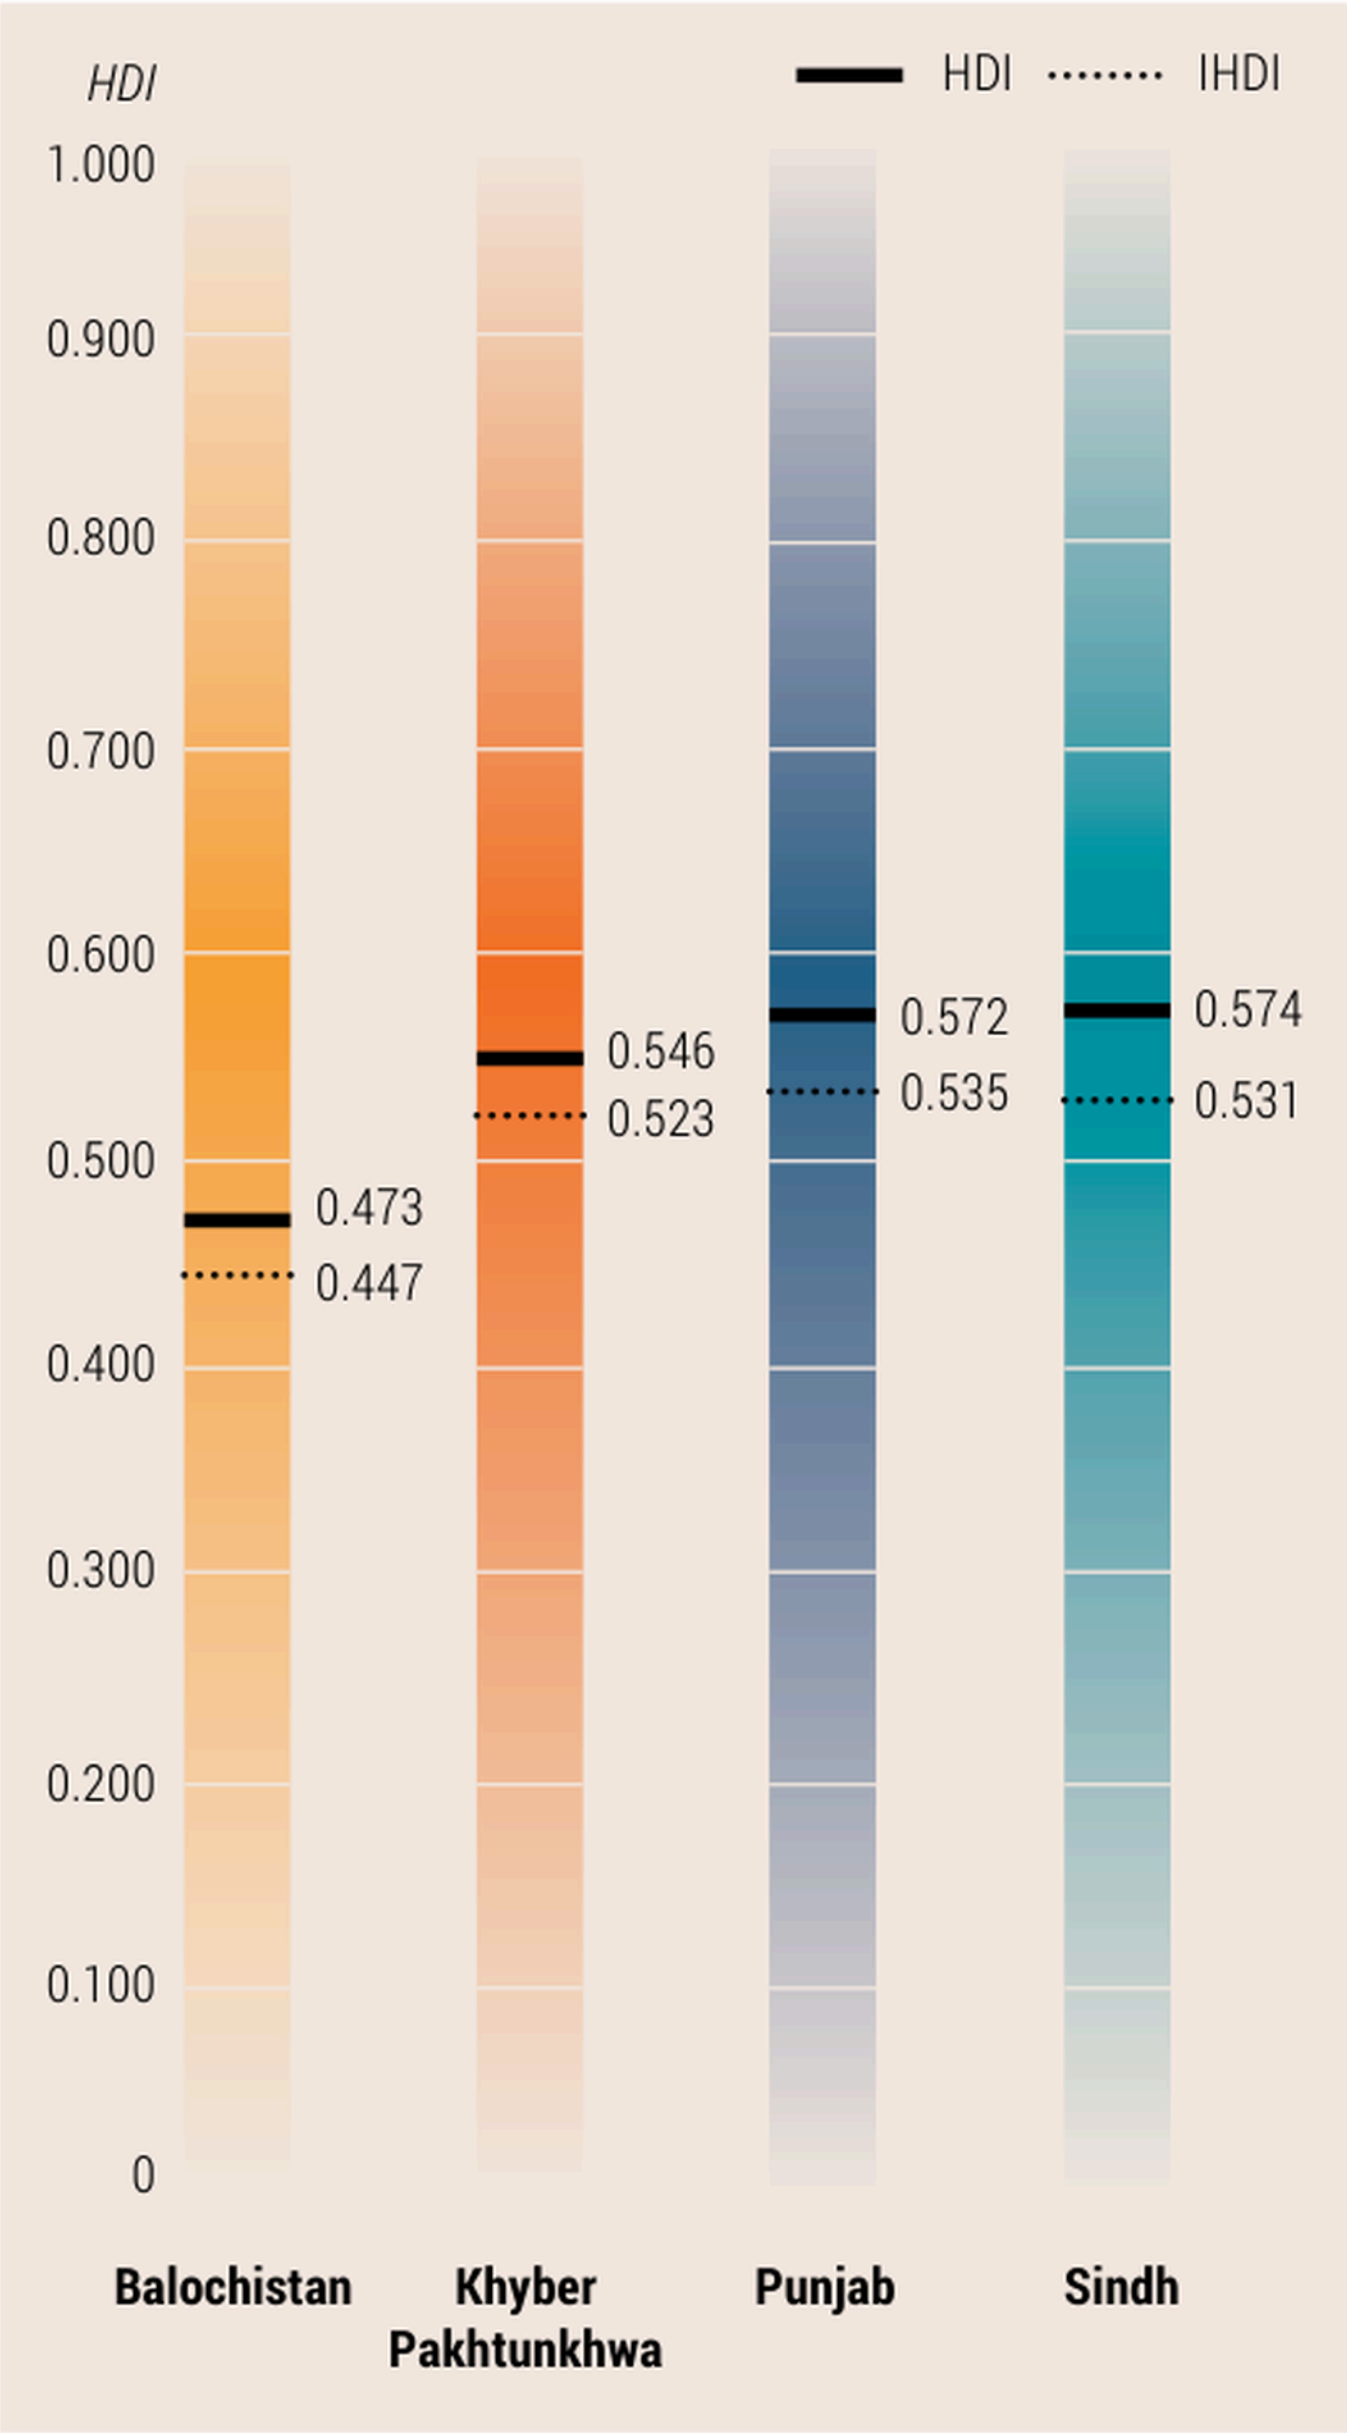

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Figure 3.23 The loss of human development due to inequality is highest in Sindh, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 3.23

The loss of human development due to inequality is highest in Sindh, (2018-2019)

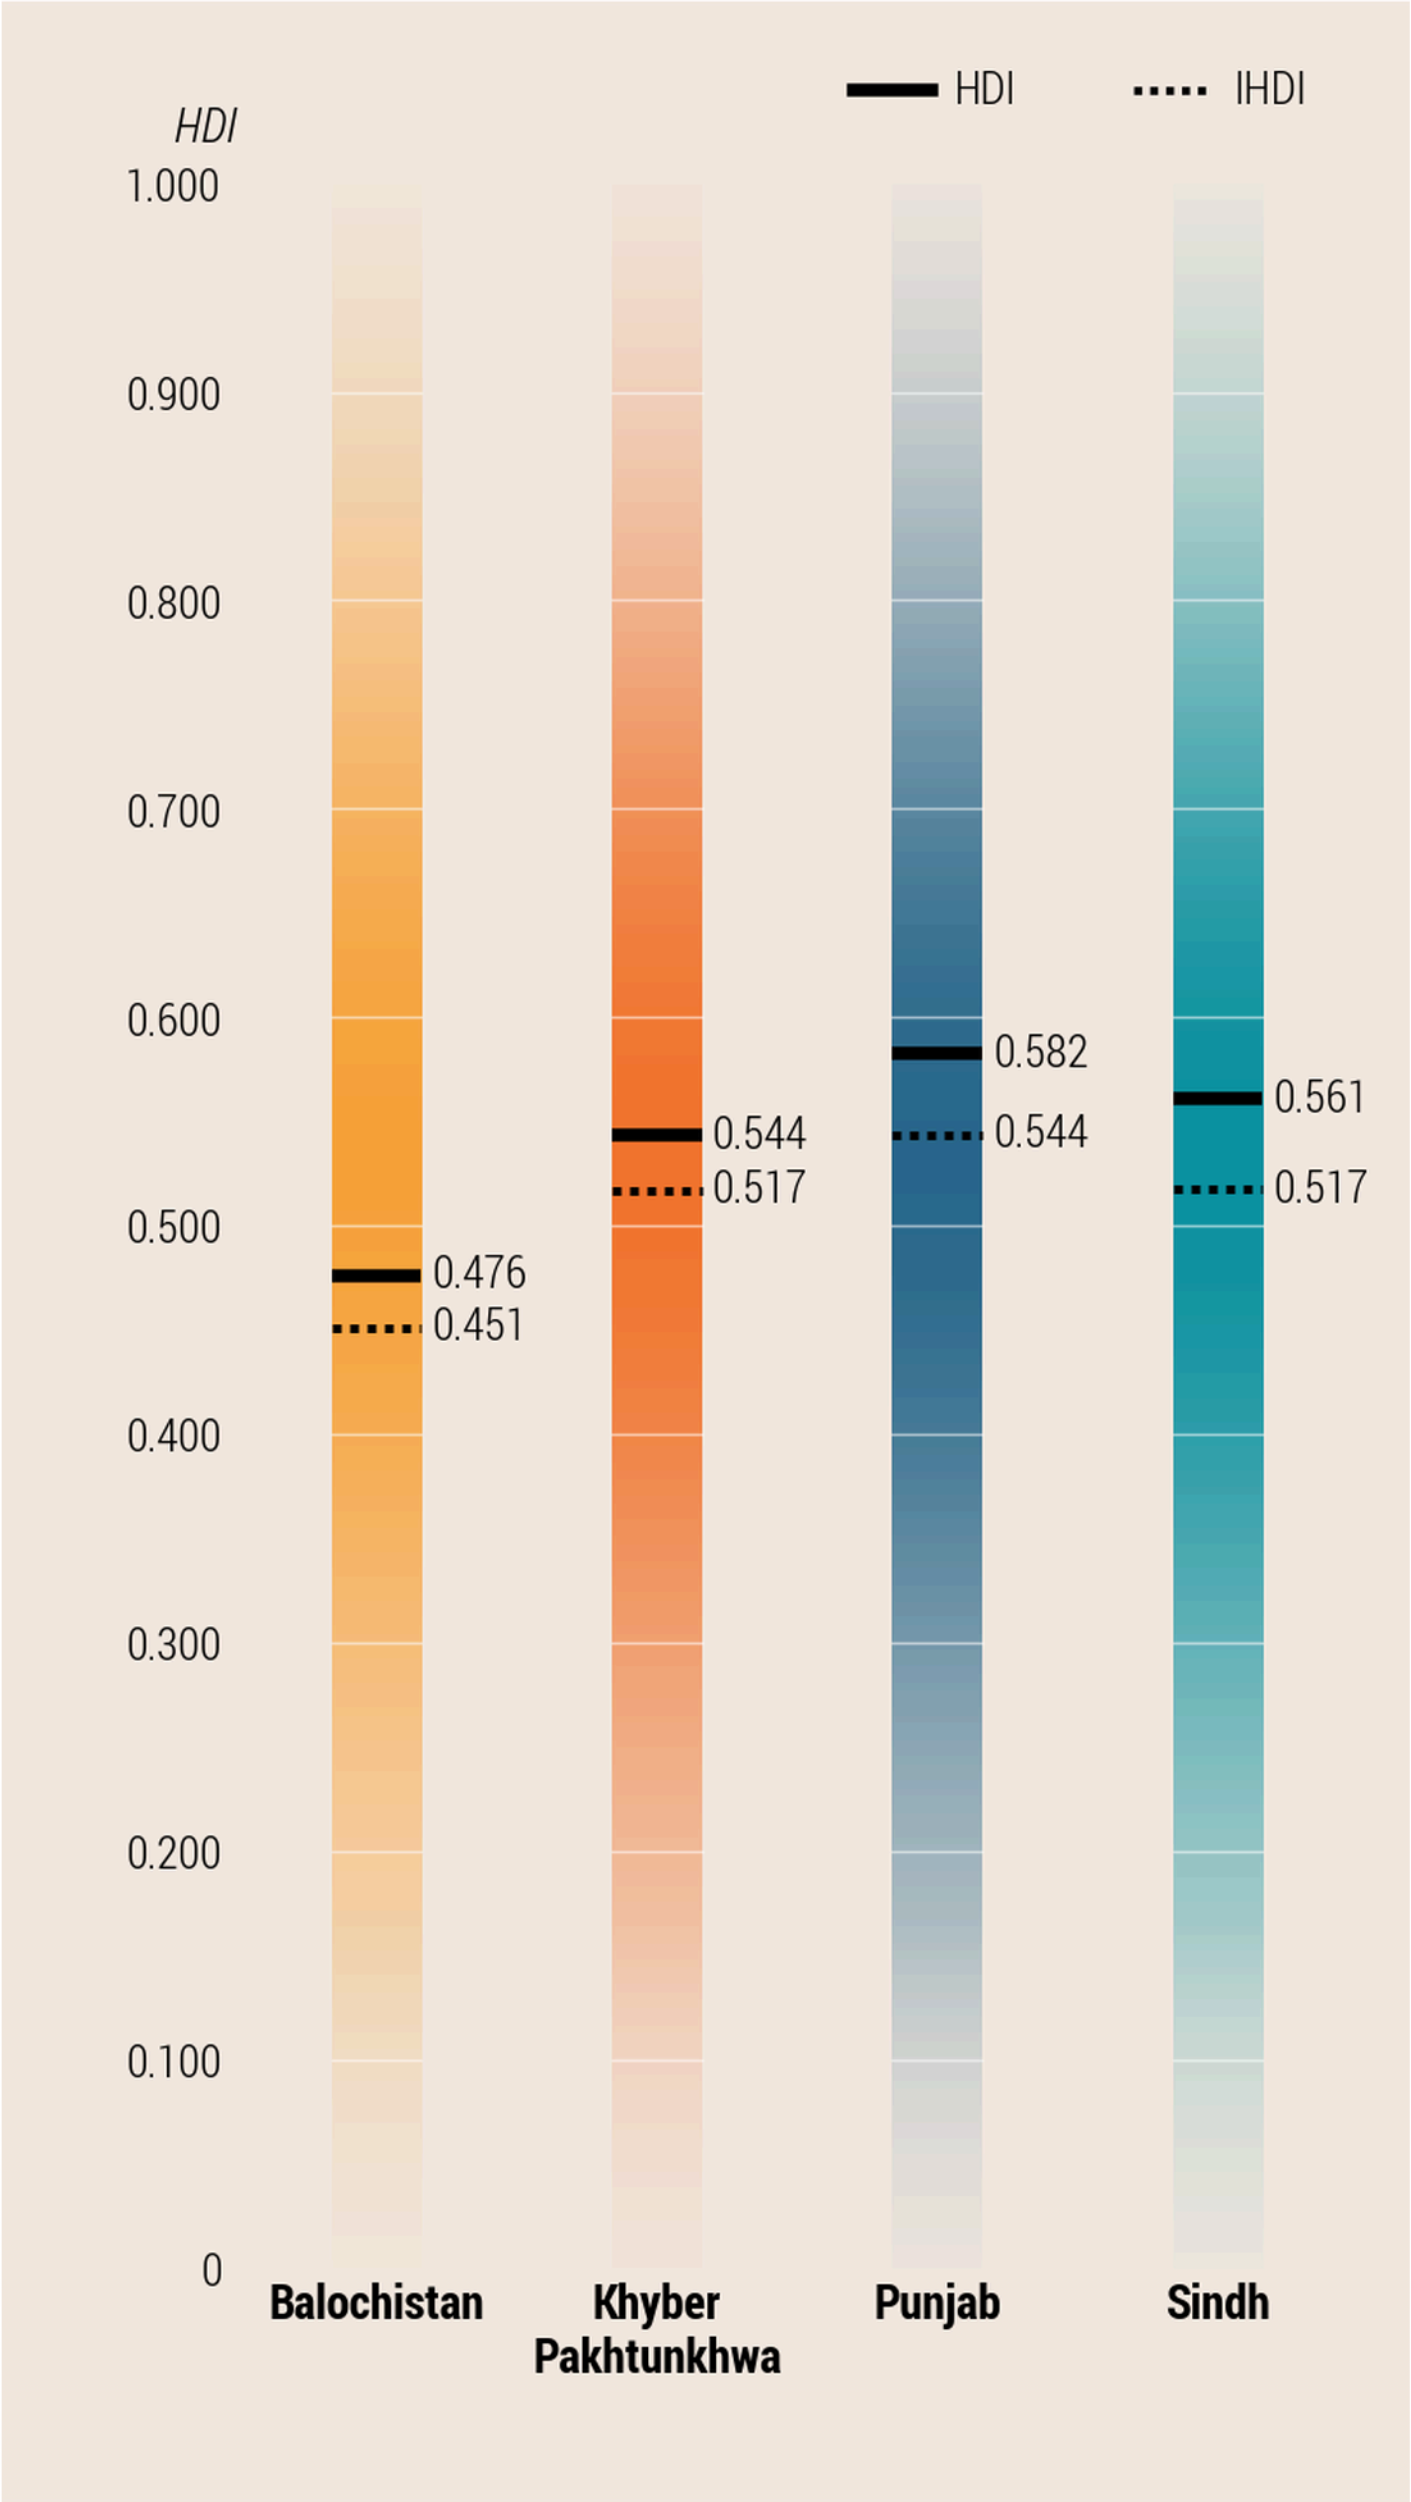

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha, 2019; PDHS, 2017-2018; multiple years of HIES data.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 3.23

Loss of human development due to inequality: HDI and IHDI by province, (2018-2019)

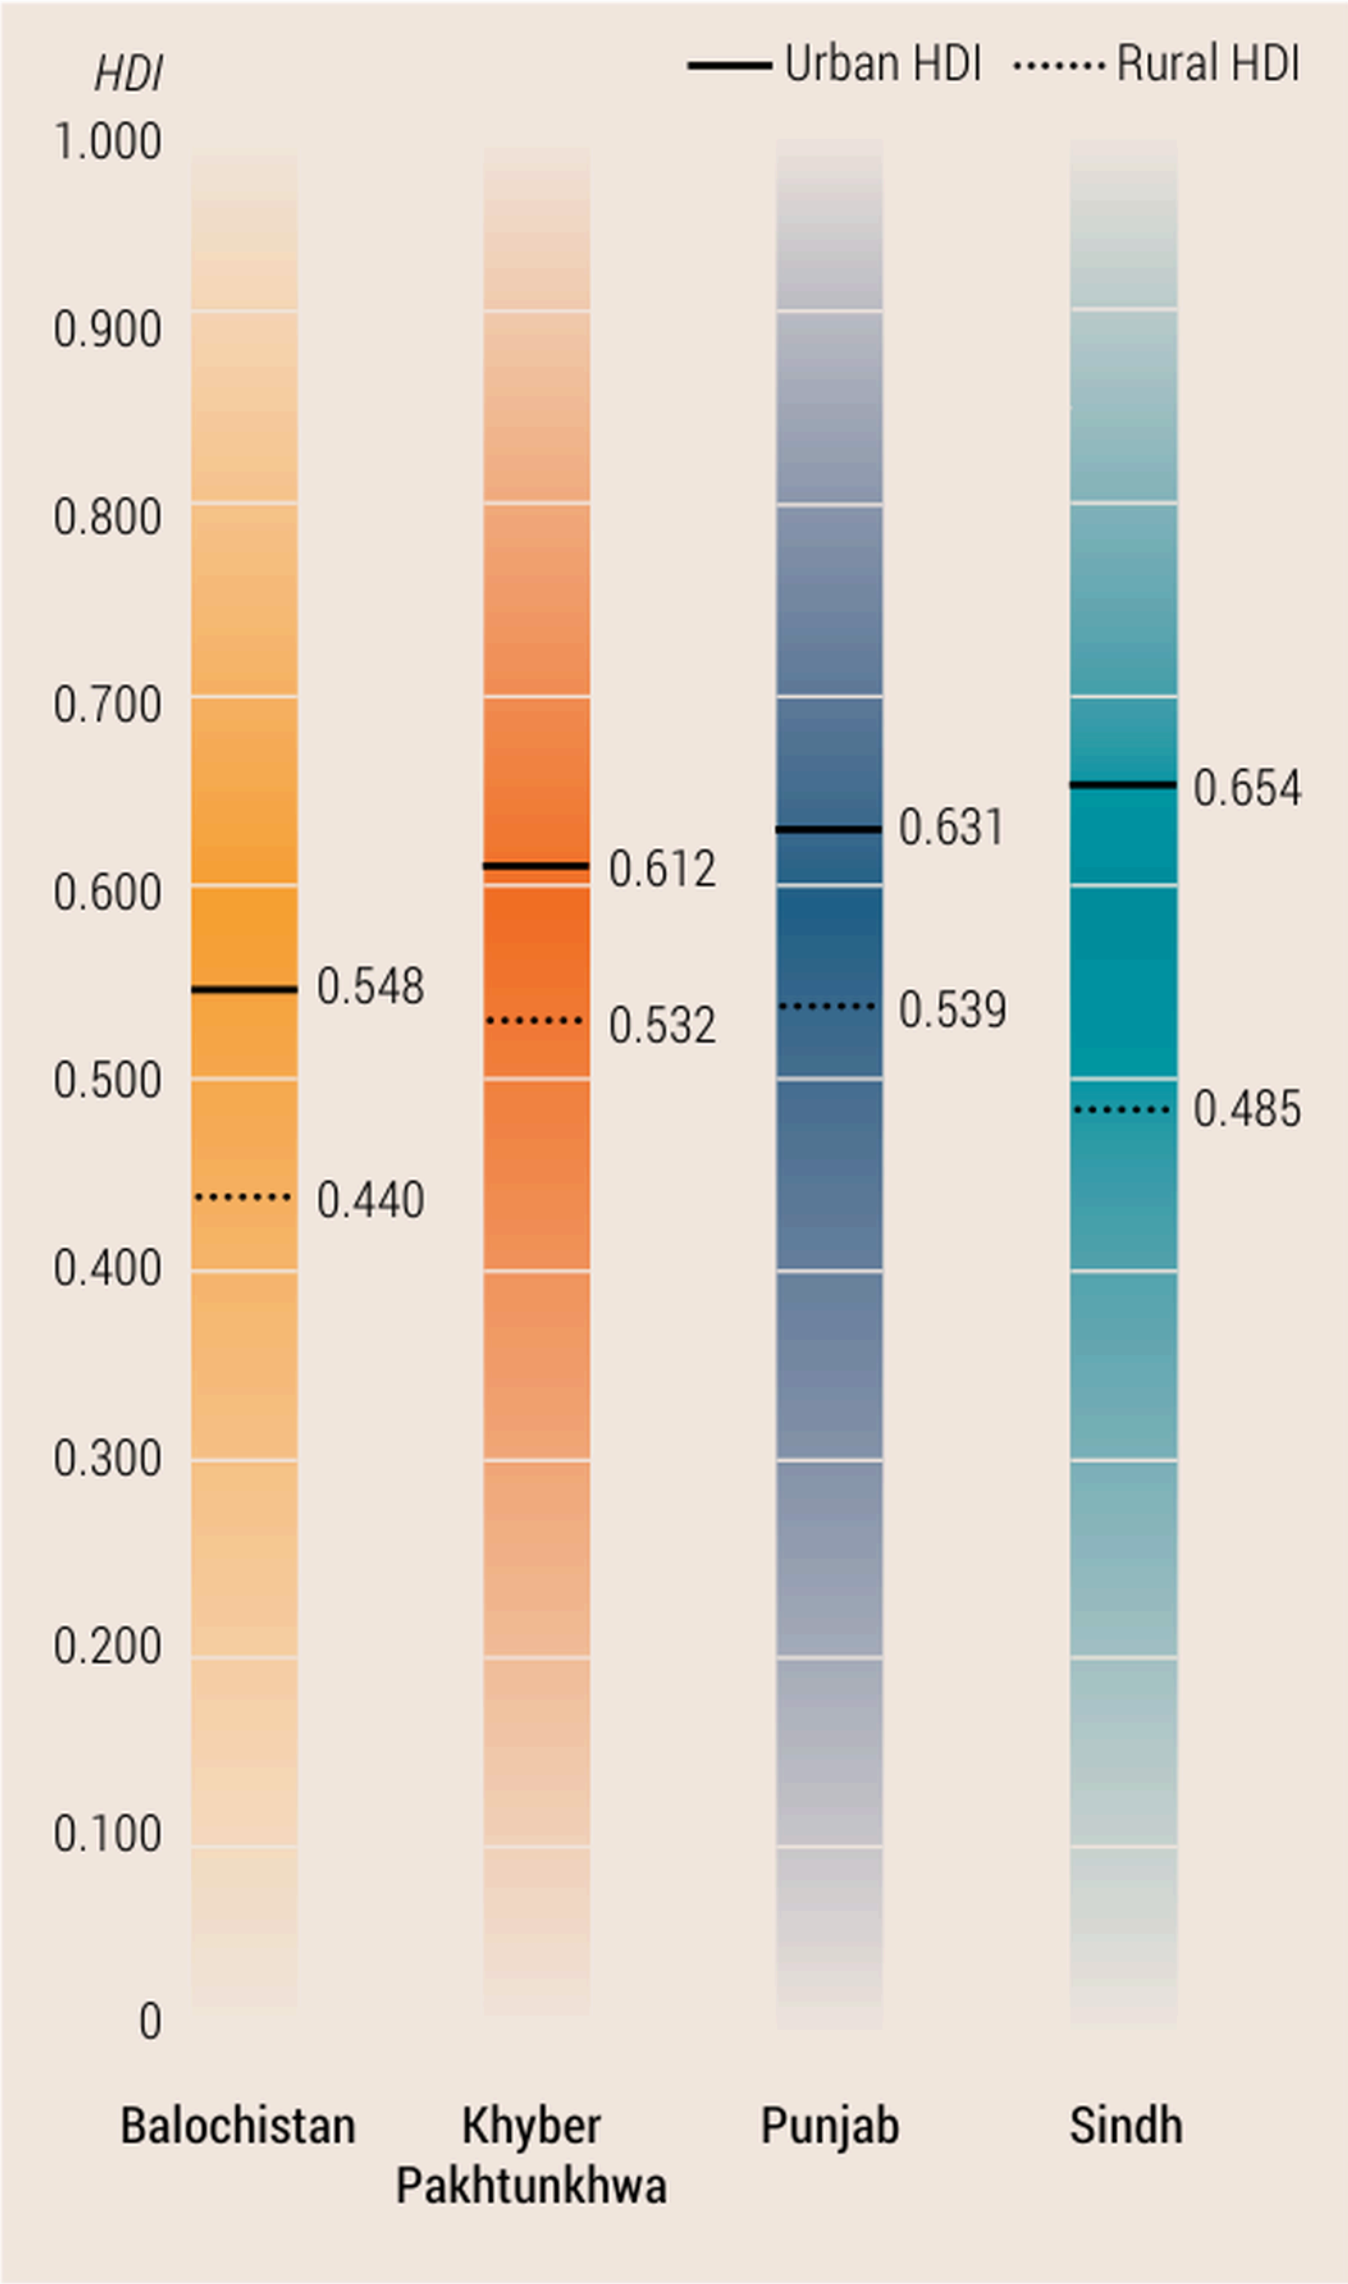

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Figure 3.28 The gap between rural and urban HDIs is highest in Sindh and lowest in Khyber Pakthunkhwa, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 3.28

The gap between rural and urban HDIs is highest in Sindh and lowest in Khyber Pakthunkhwa, (2018-2019)

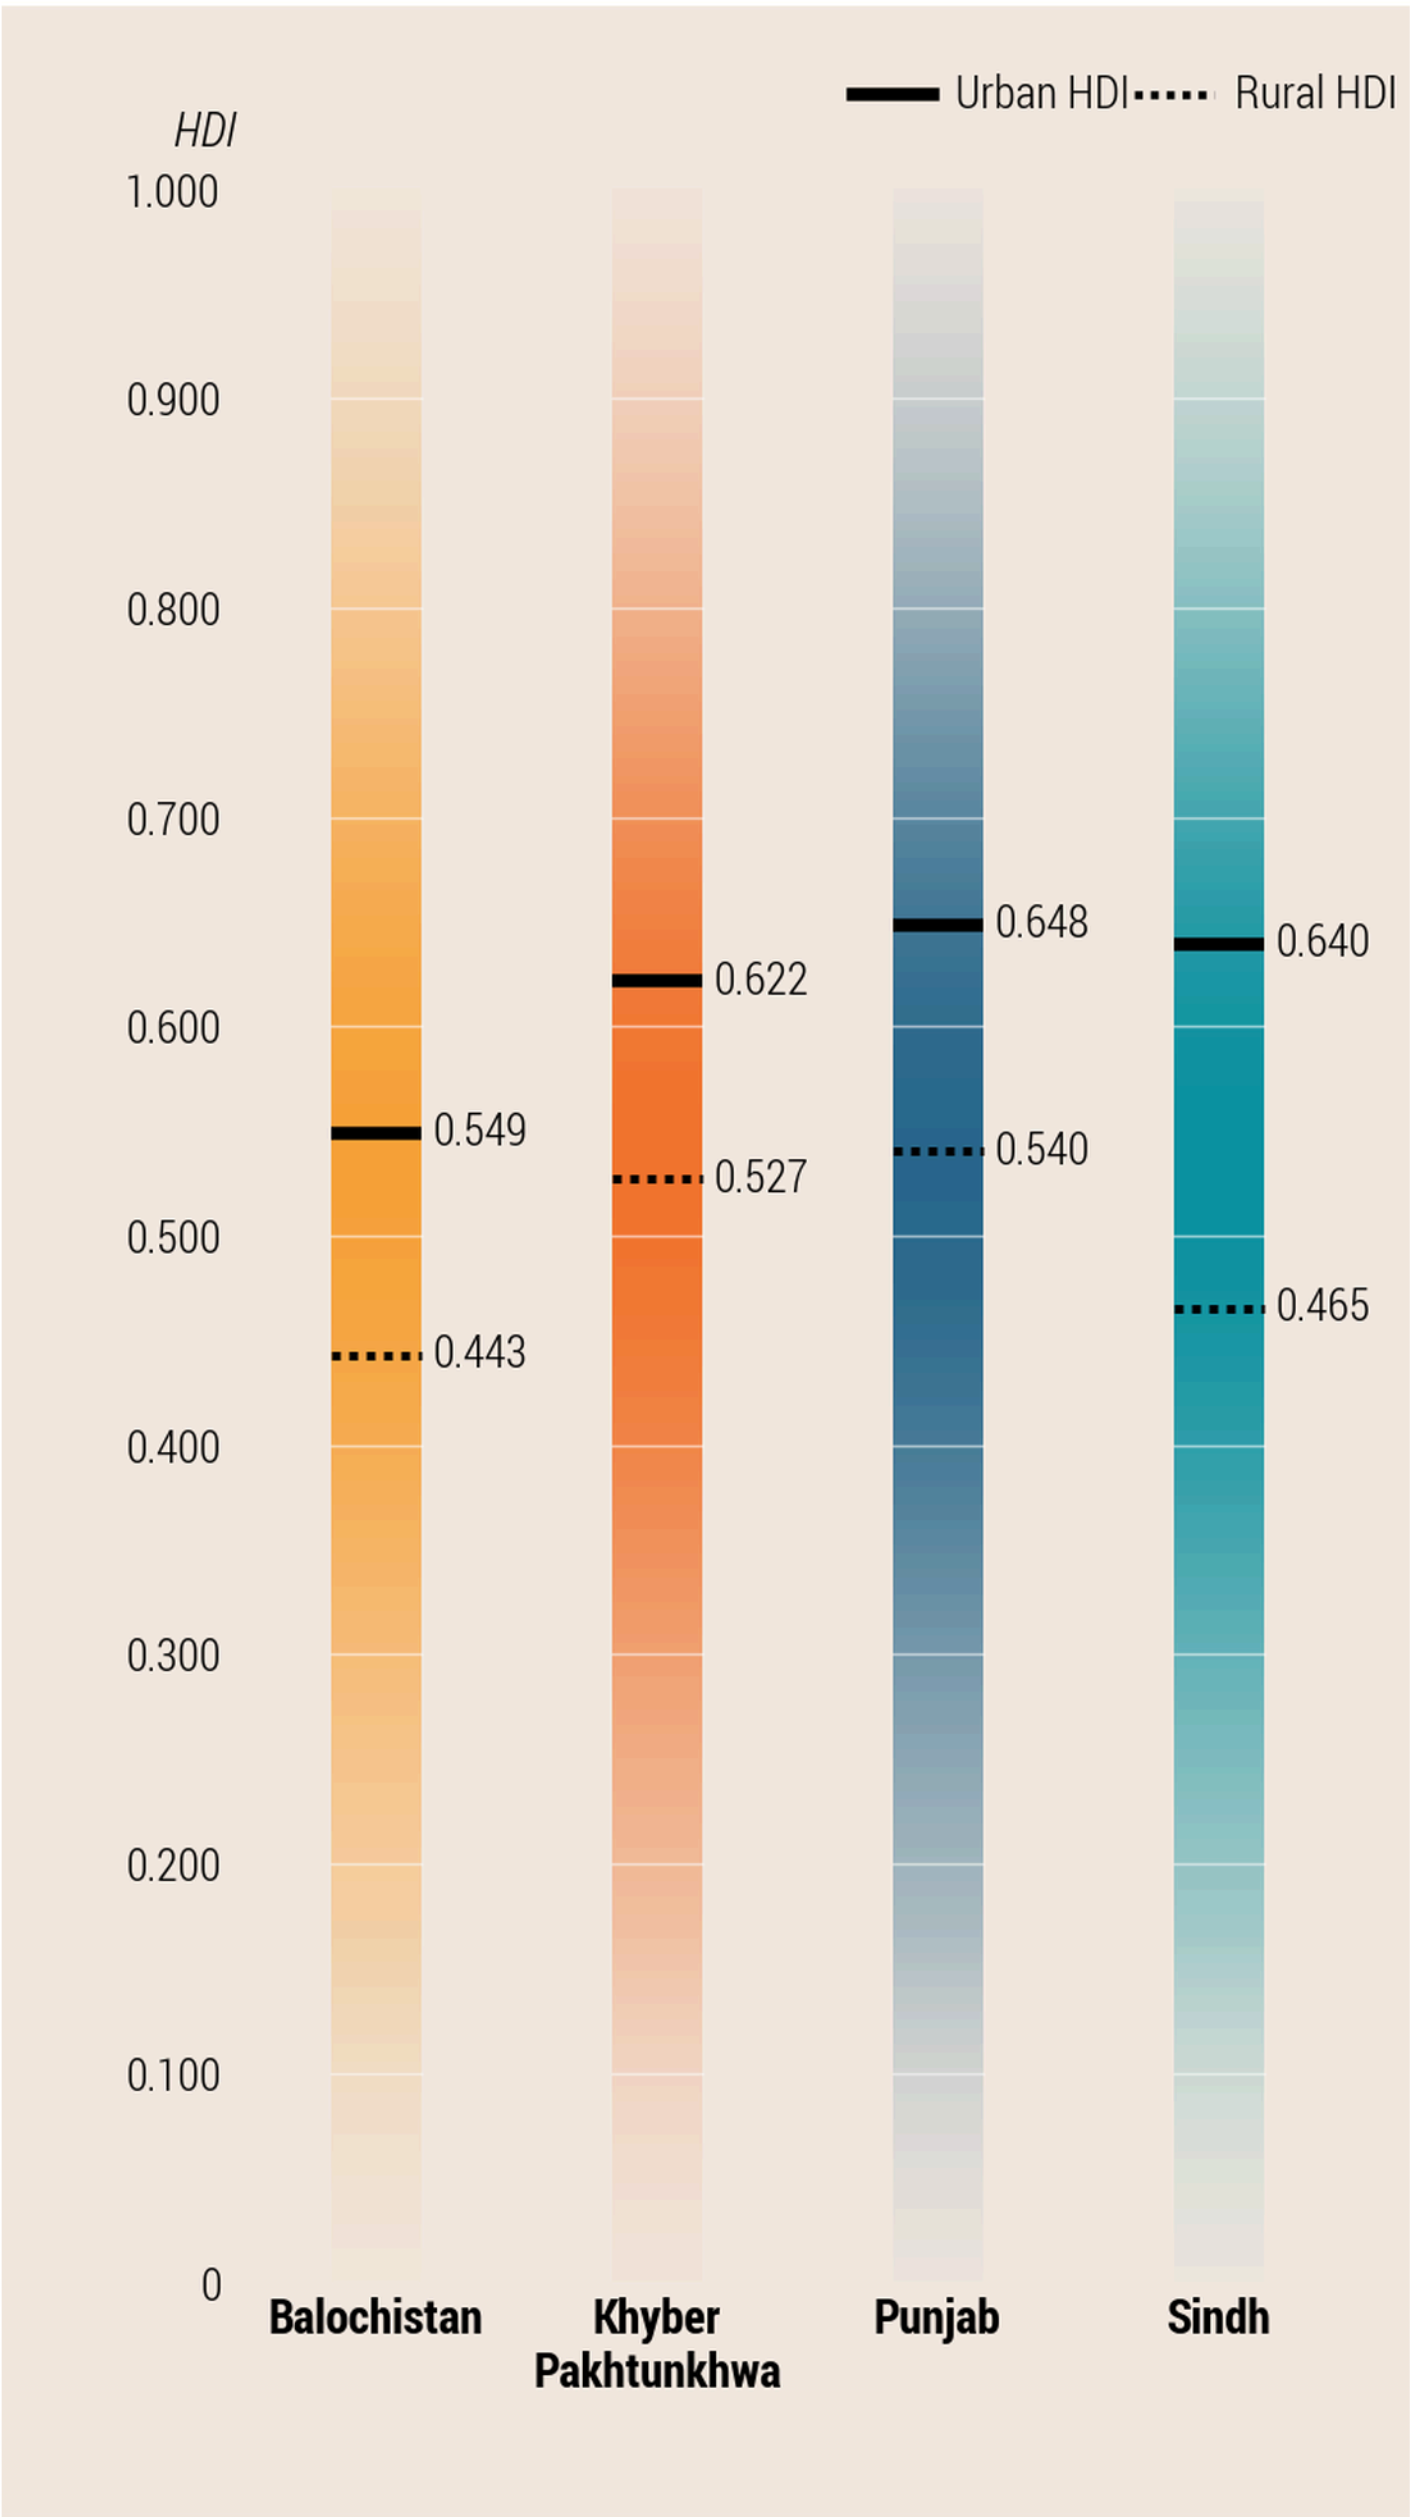

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha, 2019; PDHS, 2017-2018; multiple years of HIES data.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 3.28

Rural and urban HDIs by province, (2018-2019)

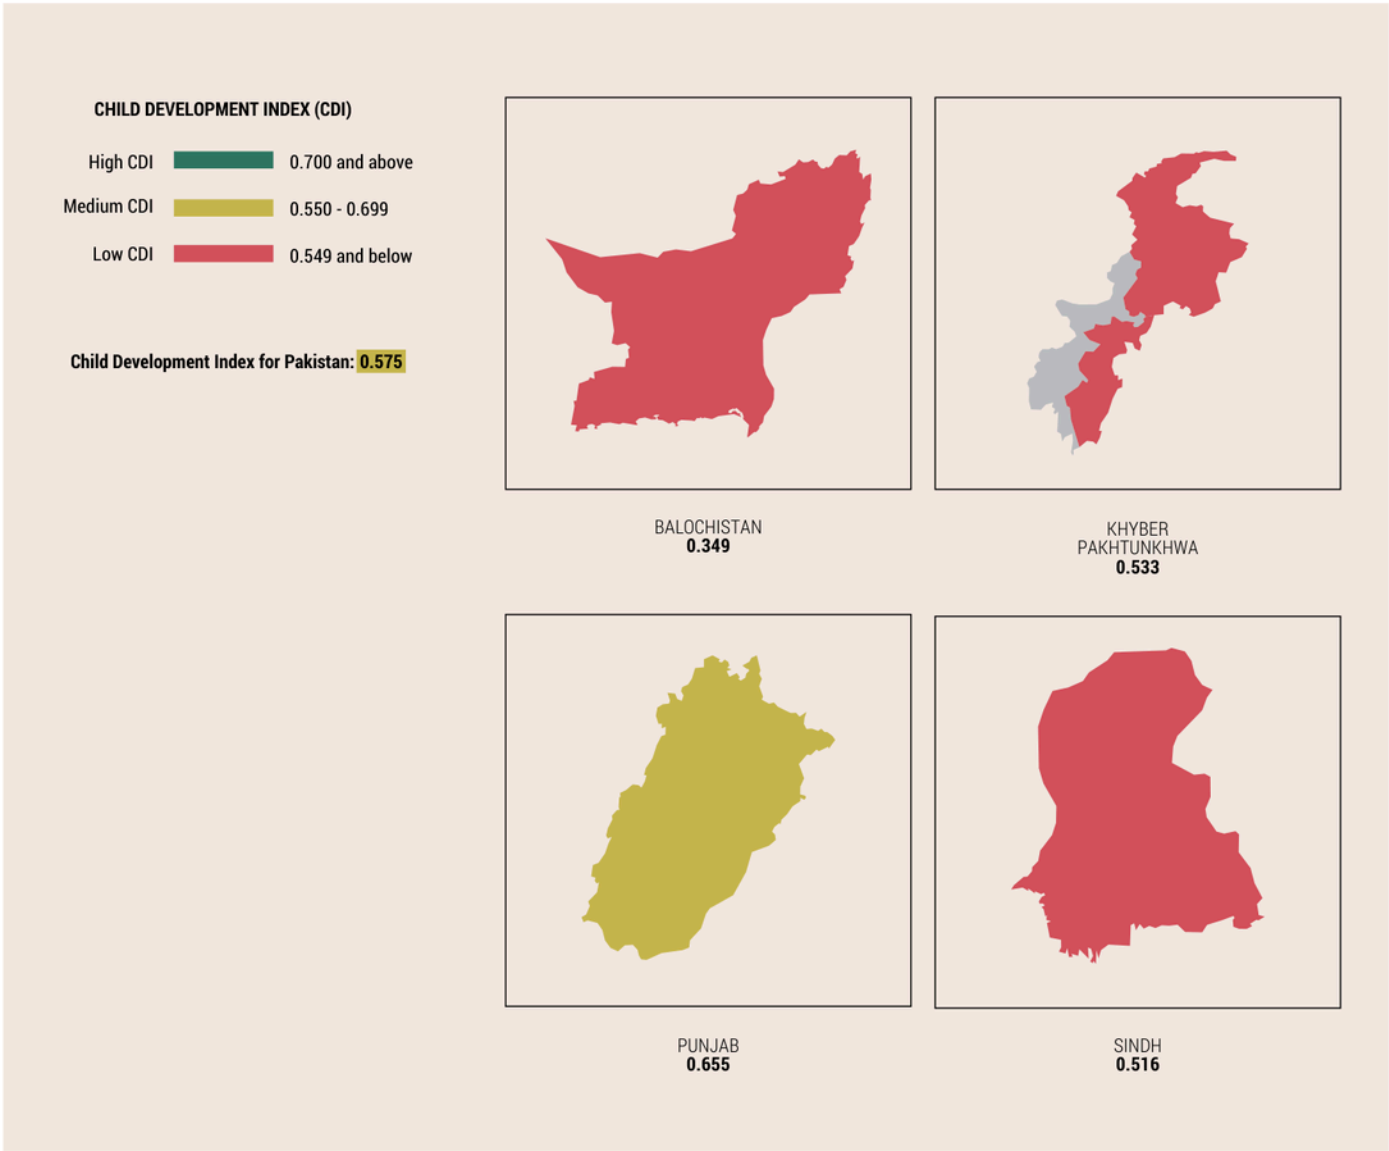

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Map 4.1 Pakistan Child Development Index, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

MAP 4.1

Pakistan Child Development Index, (2018-2019)

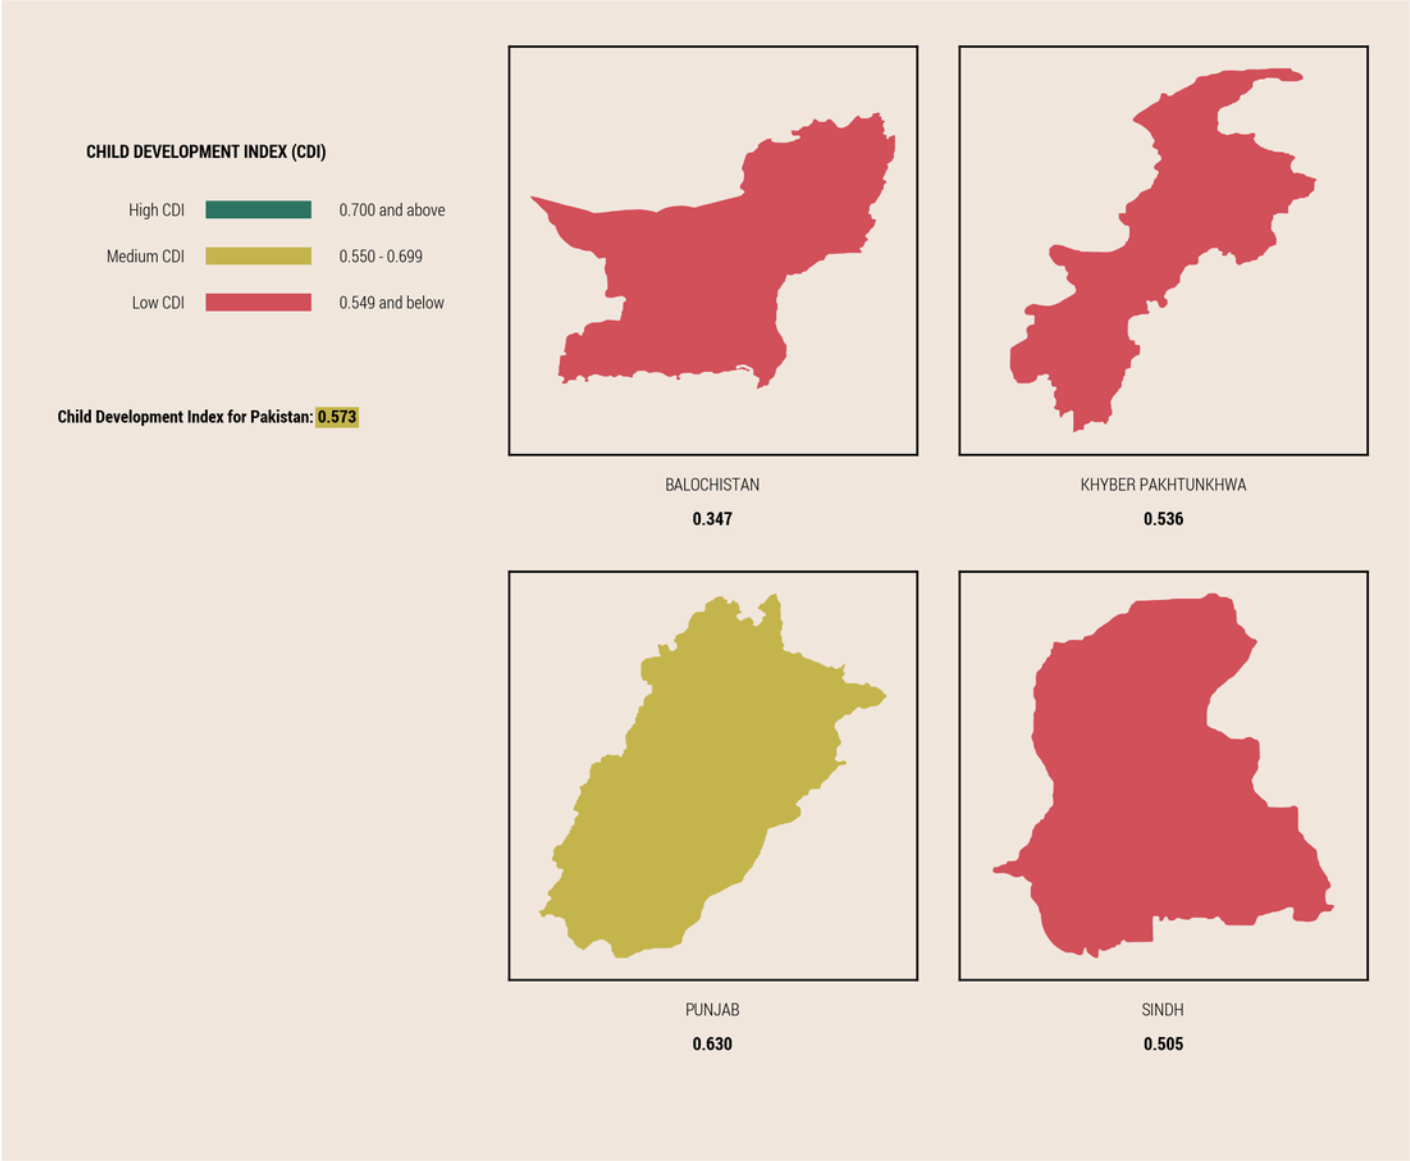

Source: UNDP calculations based on the HIES 2018–2019, the PSLM 2018–2019, and the PDHS 2017–2018.

Reproduced from microdata

MAP 4.1

Pakistan Child Development Index, (2018-2019)

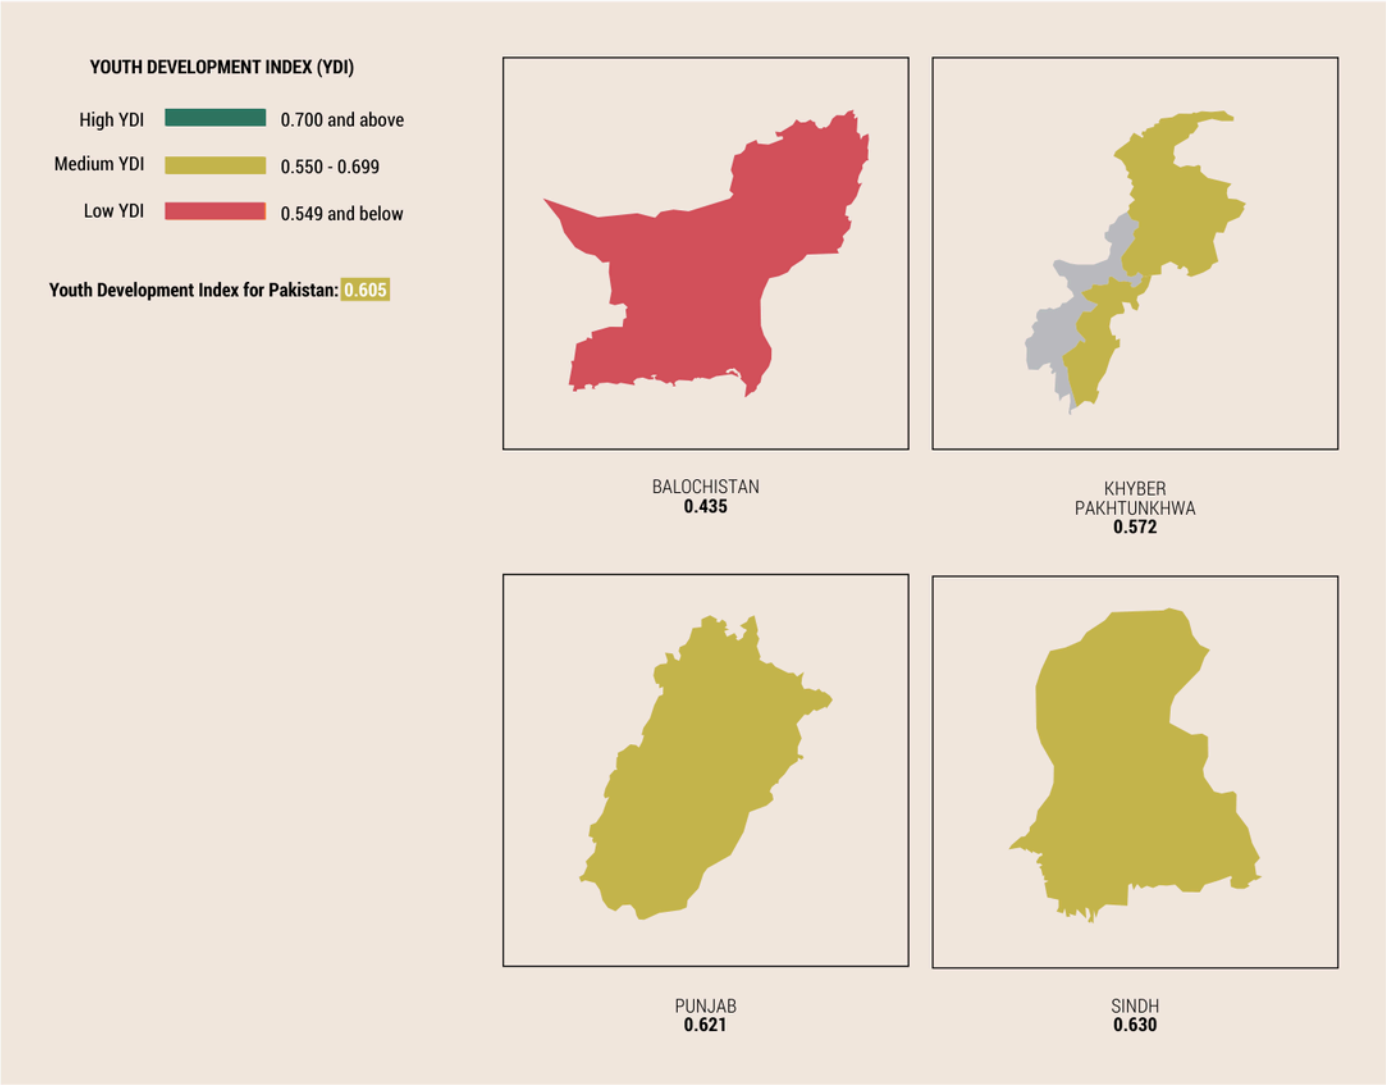

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19, LFS 2017-18 and PDHS 2017-18 microdata.

Map 4.2 Pakistan Youth Development Index, (2017-2018)

Published, NHDR 2020

MAP 4.2

Pakistan Youth Development Index, (2017-2018)

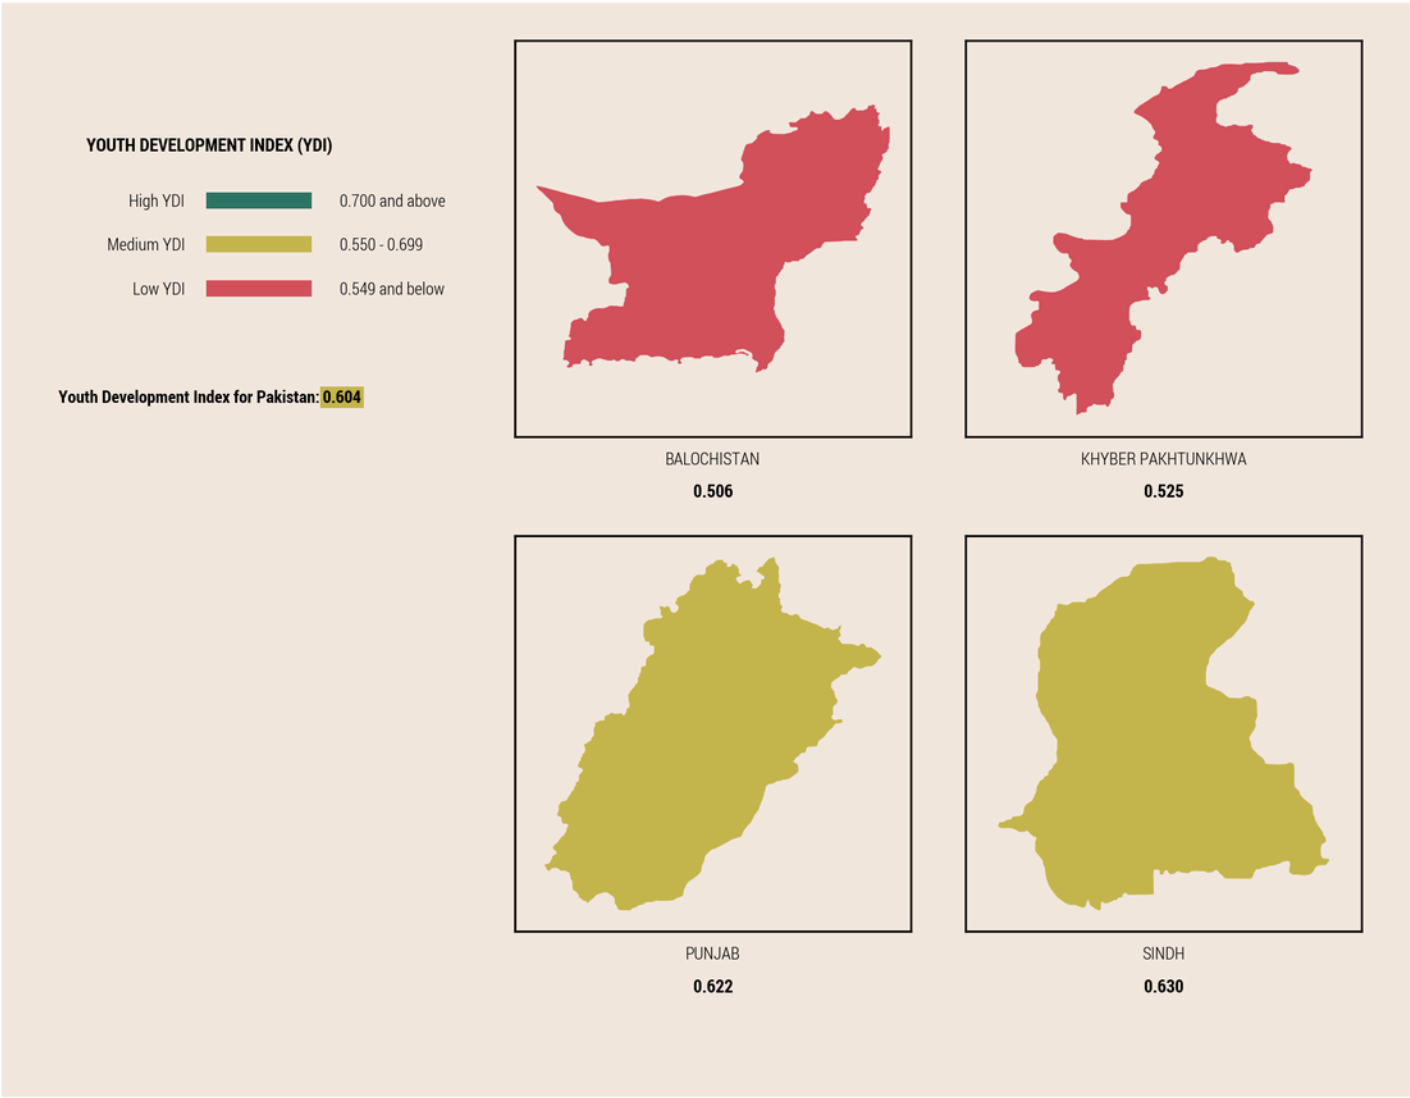

Source: UNDP calculations based on LFS 2017-2018 and PMMS, 2019.

Reproduced from microdata

MAP 4.2

Pakistan Youth Development Index, (2017-2018)

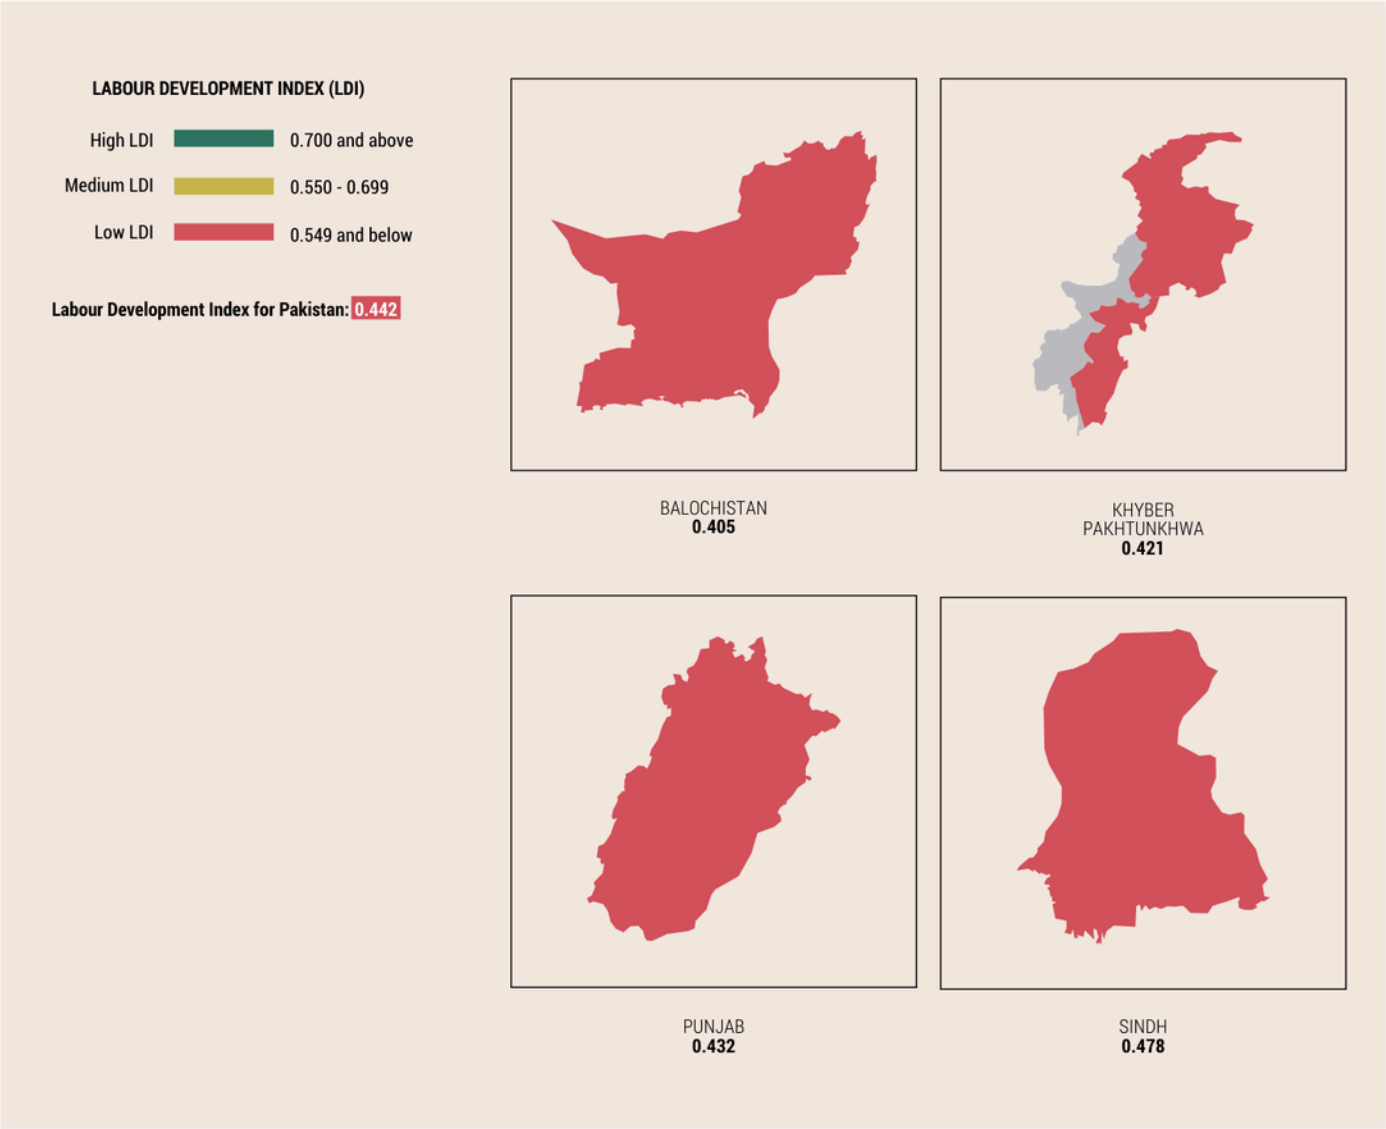

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2017-18 and PMMS 2019 microdata.

Map 4.3 Pakistan Labour Development Index, (2017-2018)

Published, NHDR 2020

MAP 4.3

Pakistan Labour Development Index, (2017-2018)

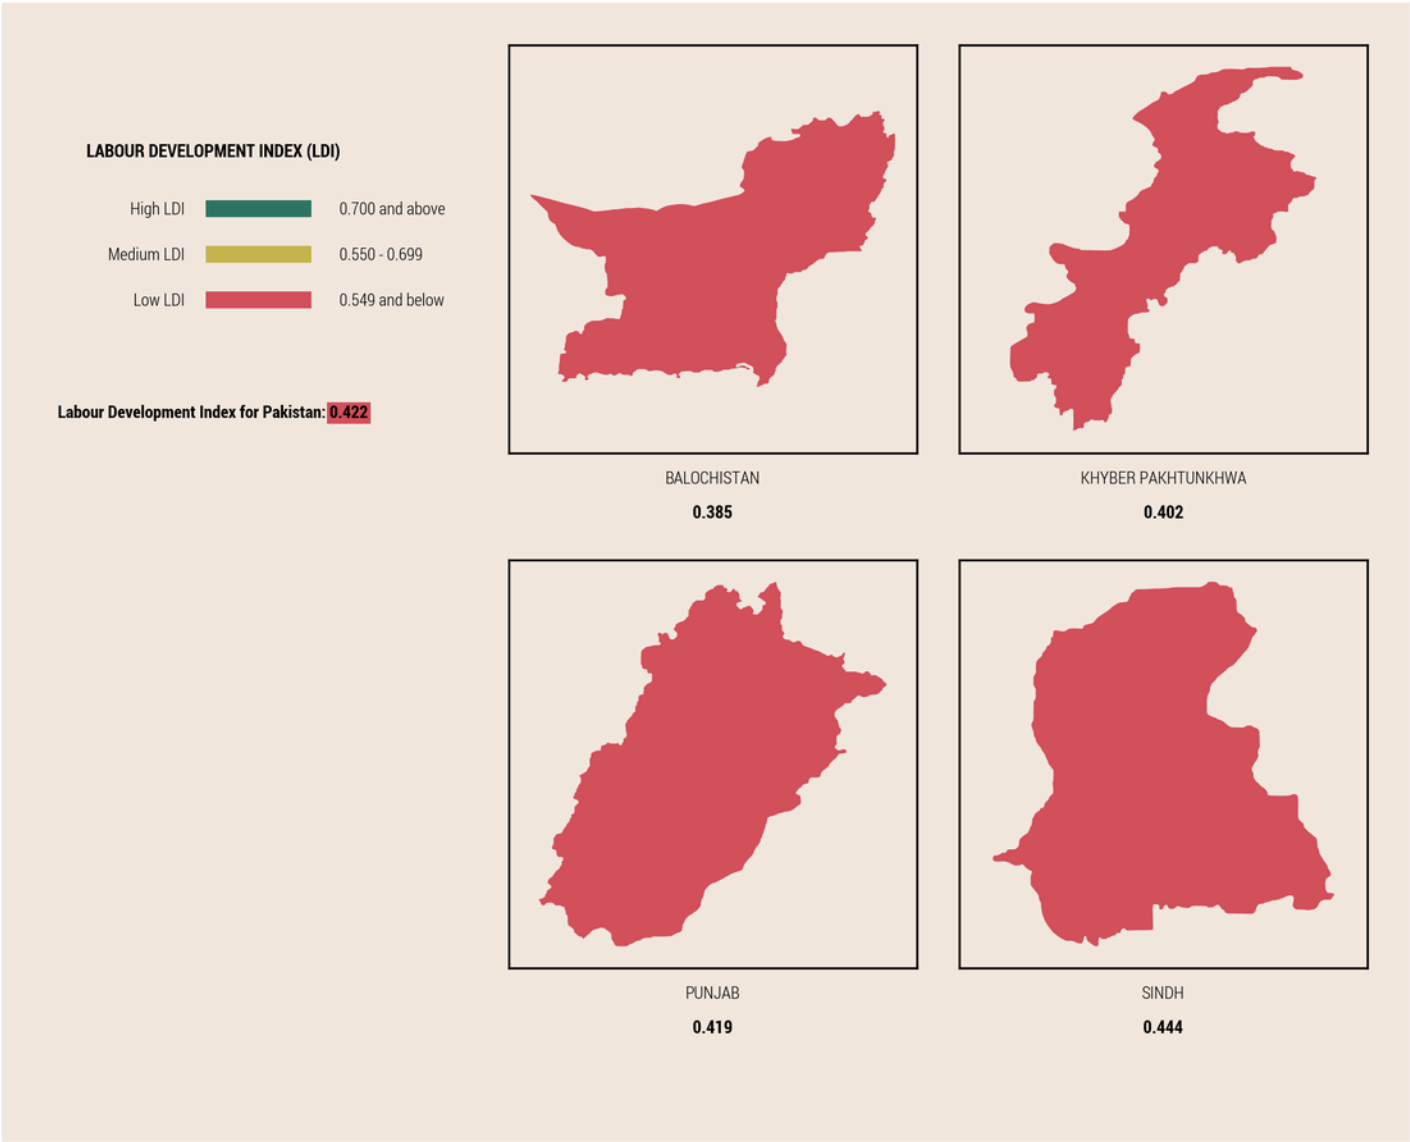

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha 2019 and LFS, 2017-2018.

Reproduced from microdata

MAP 4.3

Pakistan Labour Development Index, (2017-2018)

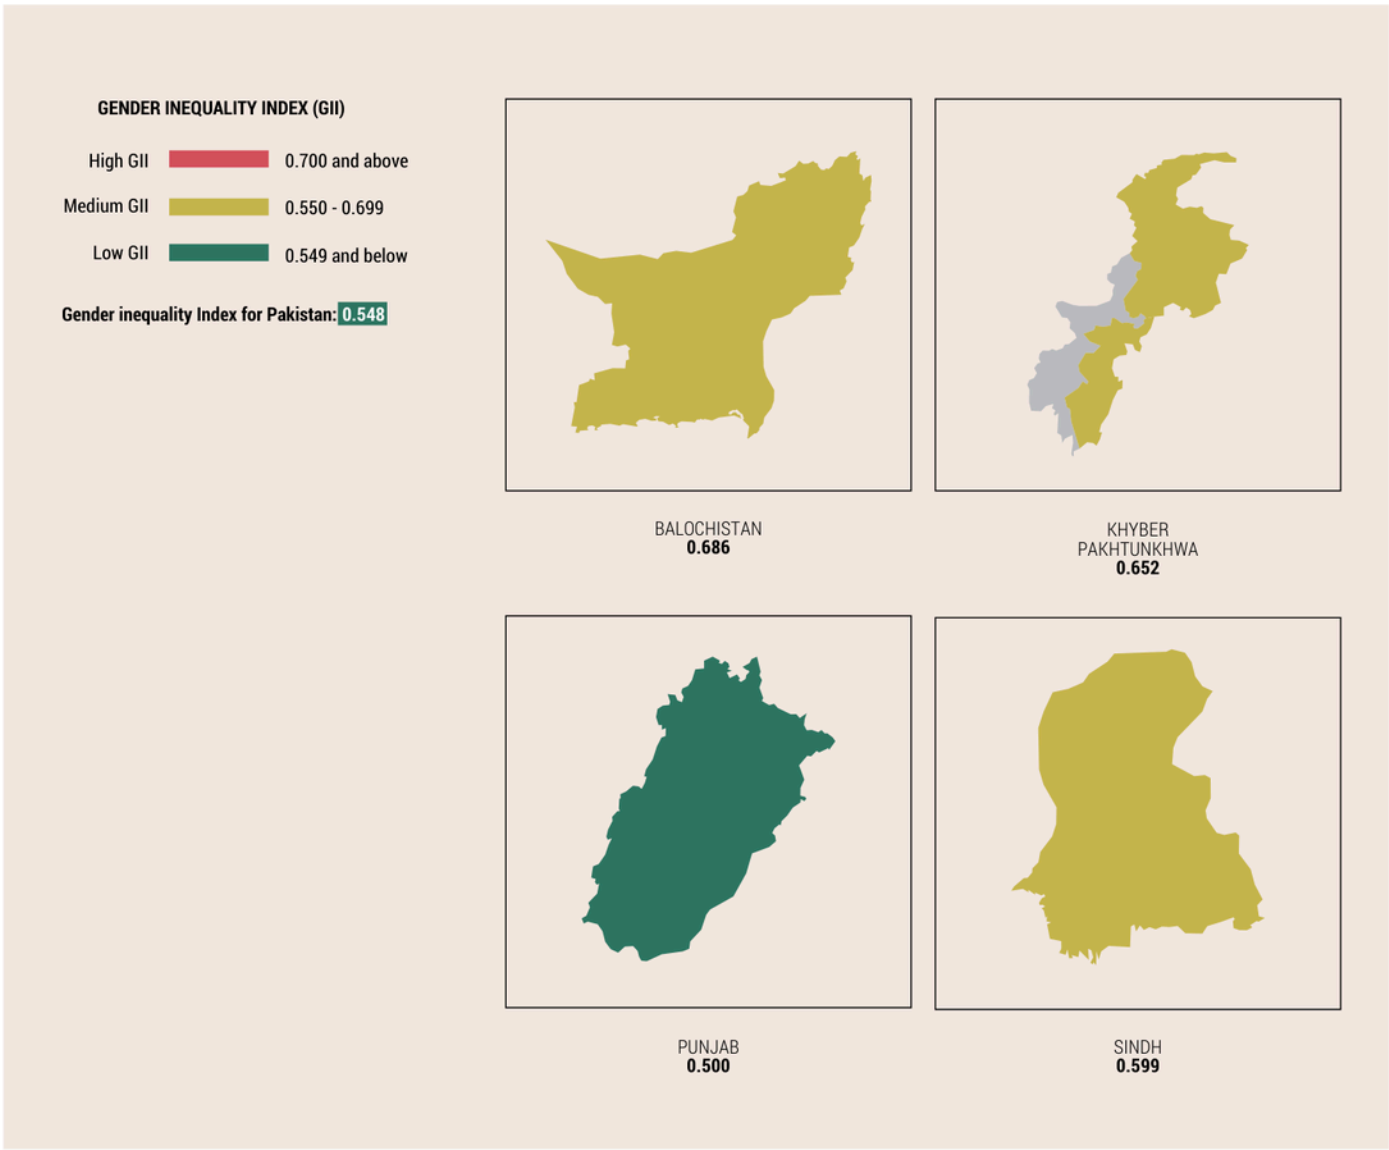

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2017-18 microdata, with WDI GDP and Pasha's provincial shares.

Map 4.4 Pakistan Gender Inequality Index, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

MAP 4.4

Pakistan Gender Inequality Index, (2018-2019)

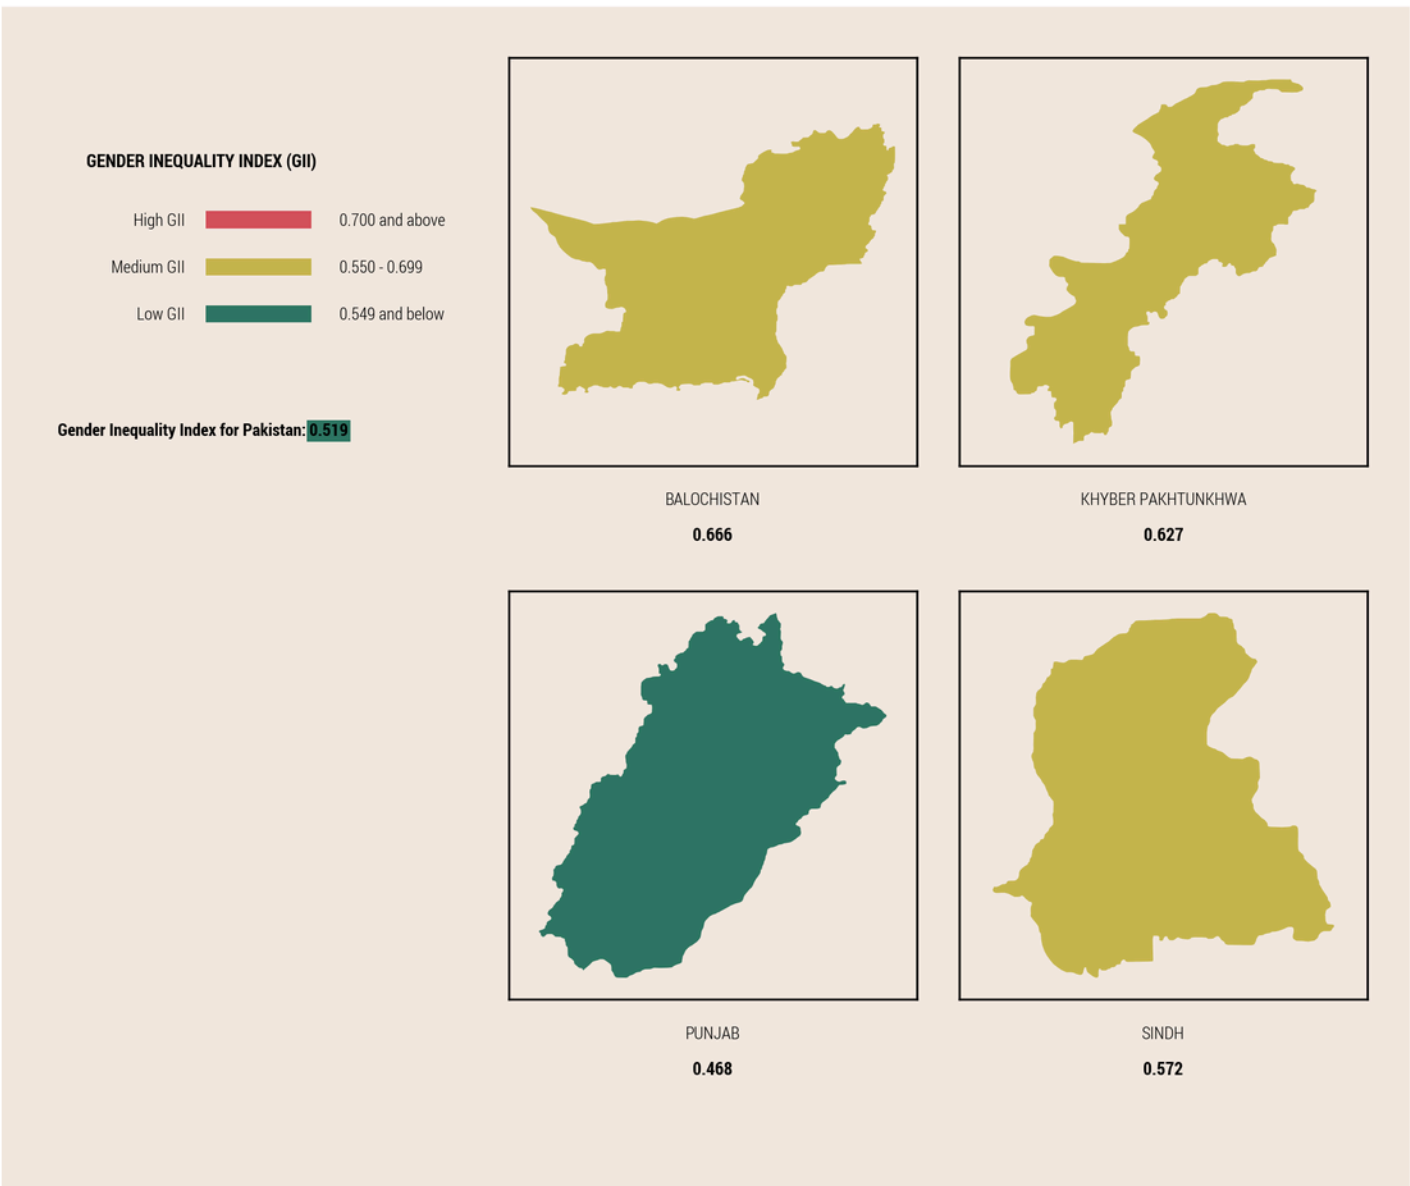

Note: The closer the GII is to 0, the better. See GII technical notes for more details.
Source: UNDP calculations based on PSLM, 2018-2019; LFS, 2017-2018; and Khan, A., & Naqvi, S., 2018.

Reproduced from microdata

MAP 4.4

Pakistan Gender Inequality Index, (2018-2019)

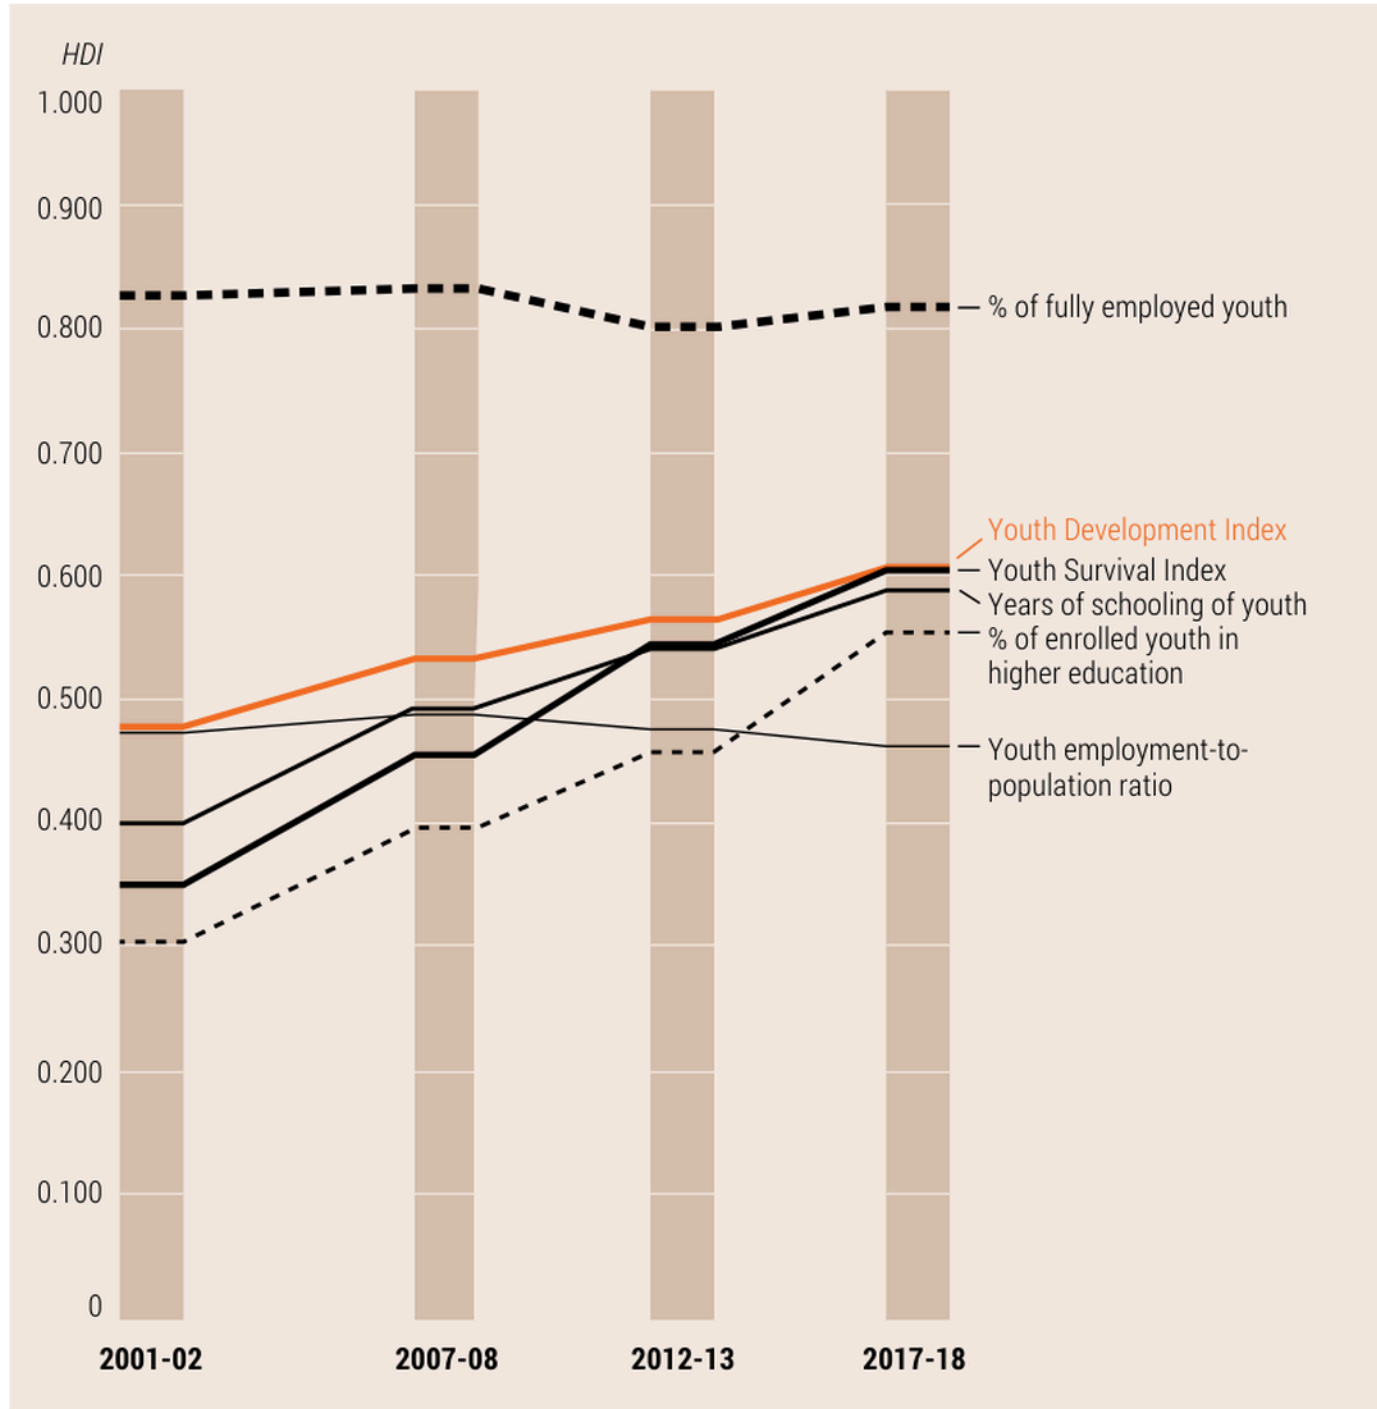

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2018-19 and LFS 2017-18 microdata; seats as NHDR.

Figure 4.1 Trends in the national Youth Development Index and its sub-indices*, (2001- 2018)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 4.1

Trends in the national Youth Development Index and its sub-indices*, (2001-2018)

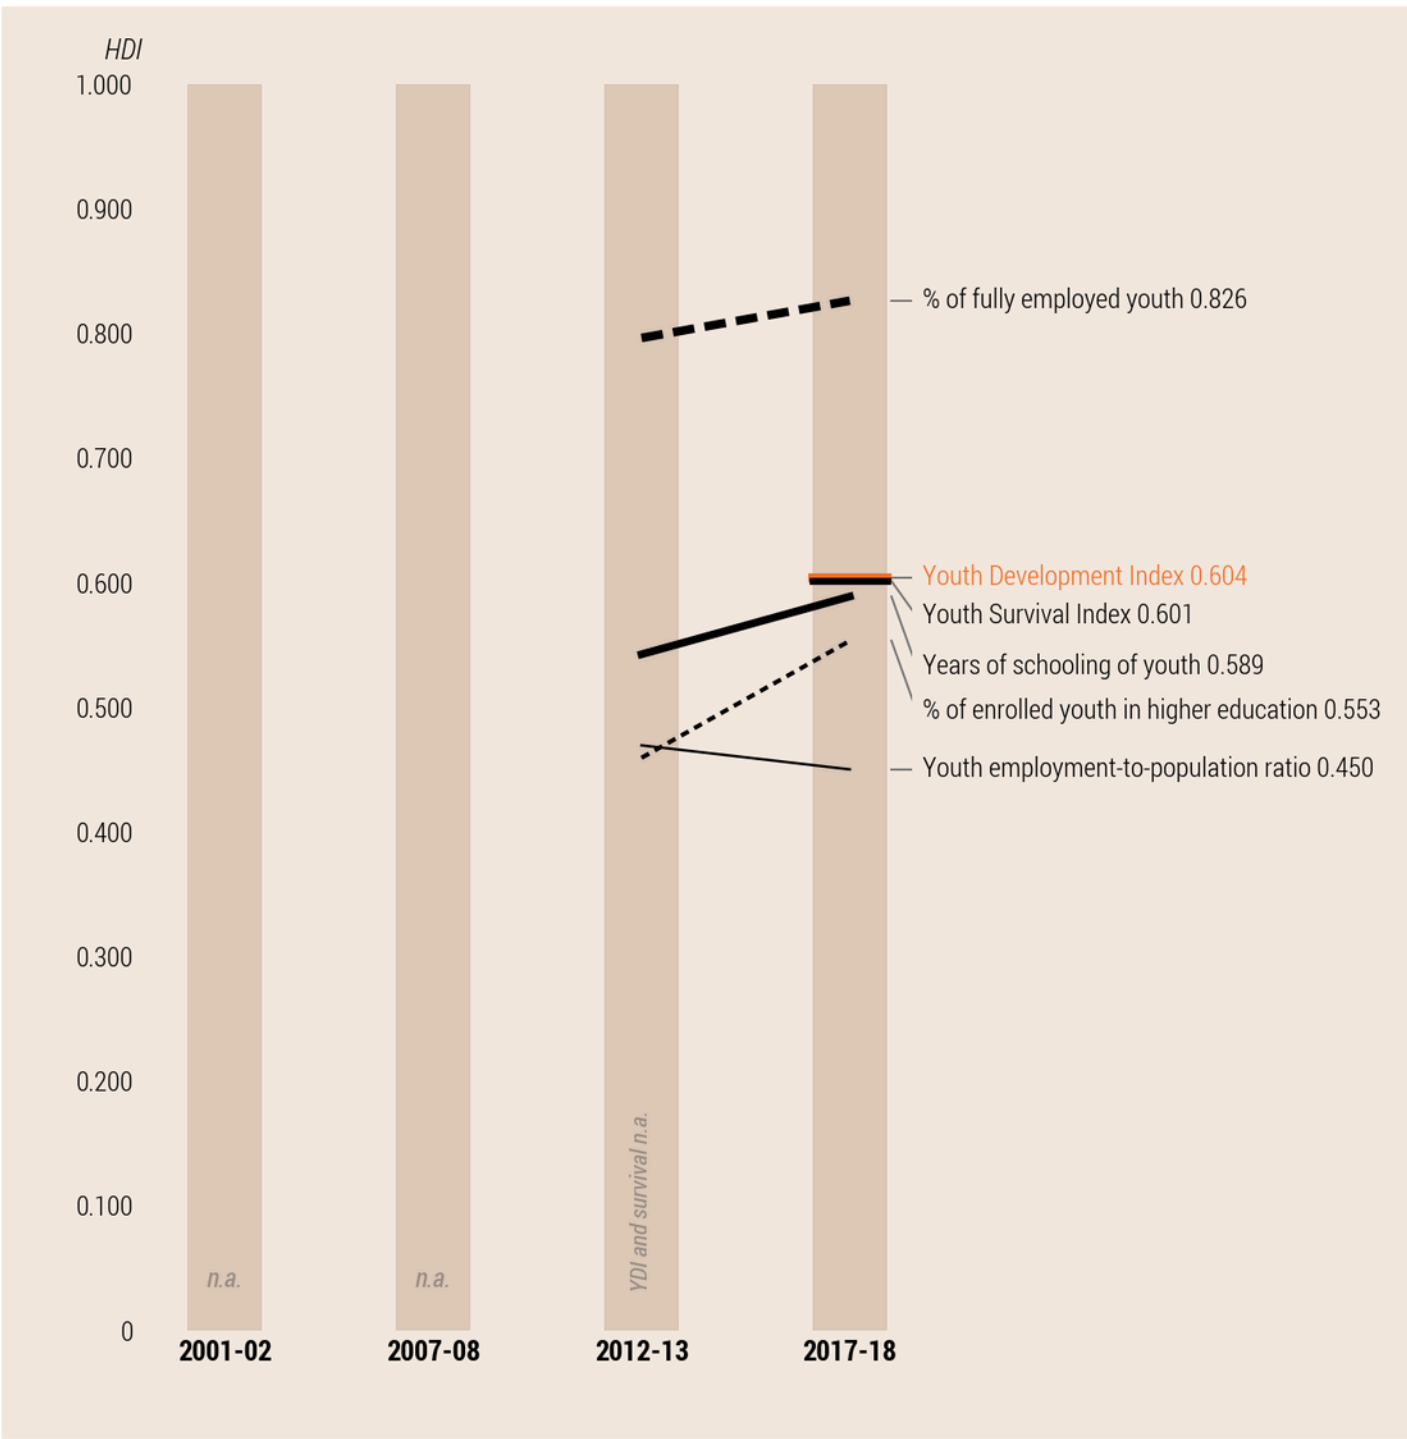

Note: The actual value of each indicator is given in the Statistical Annex.
Source: UNDP calculations based on multiple years data of LFS, PDHS, and PMMS.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 4.1

Trends in the national Youth Development Index and its sub-indices, (2001-2018)

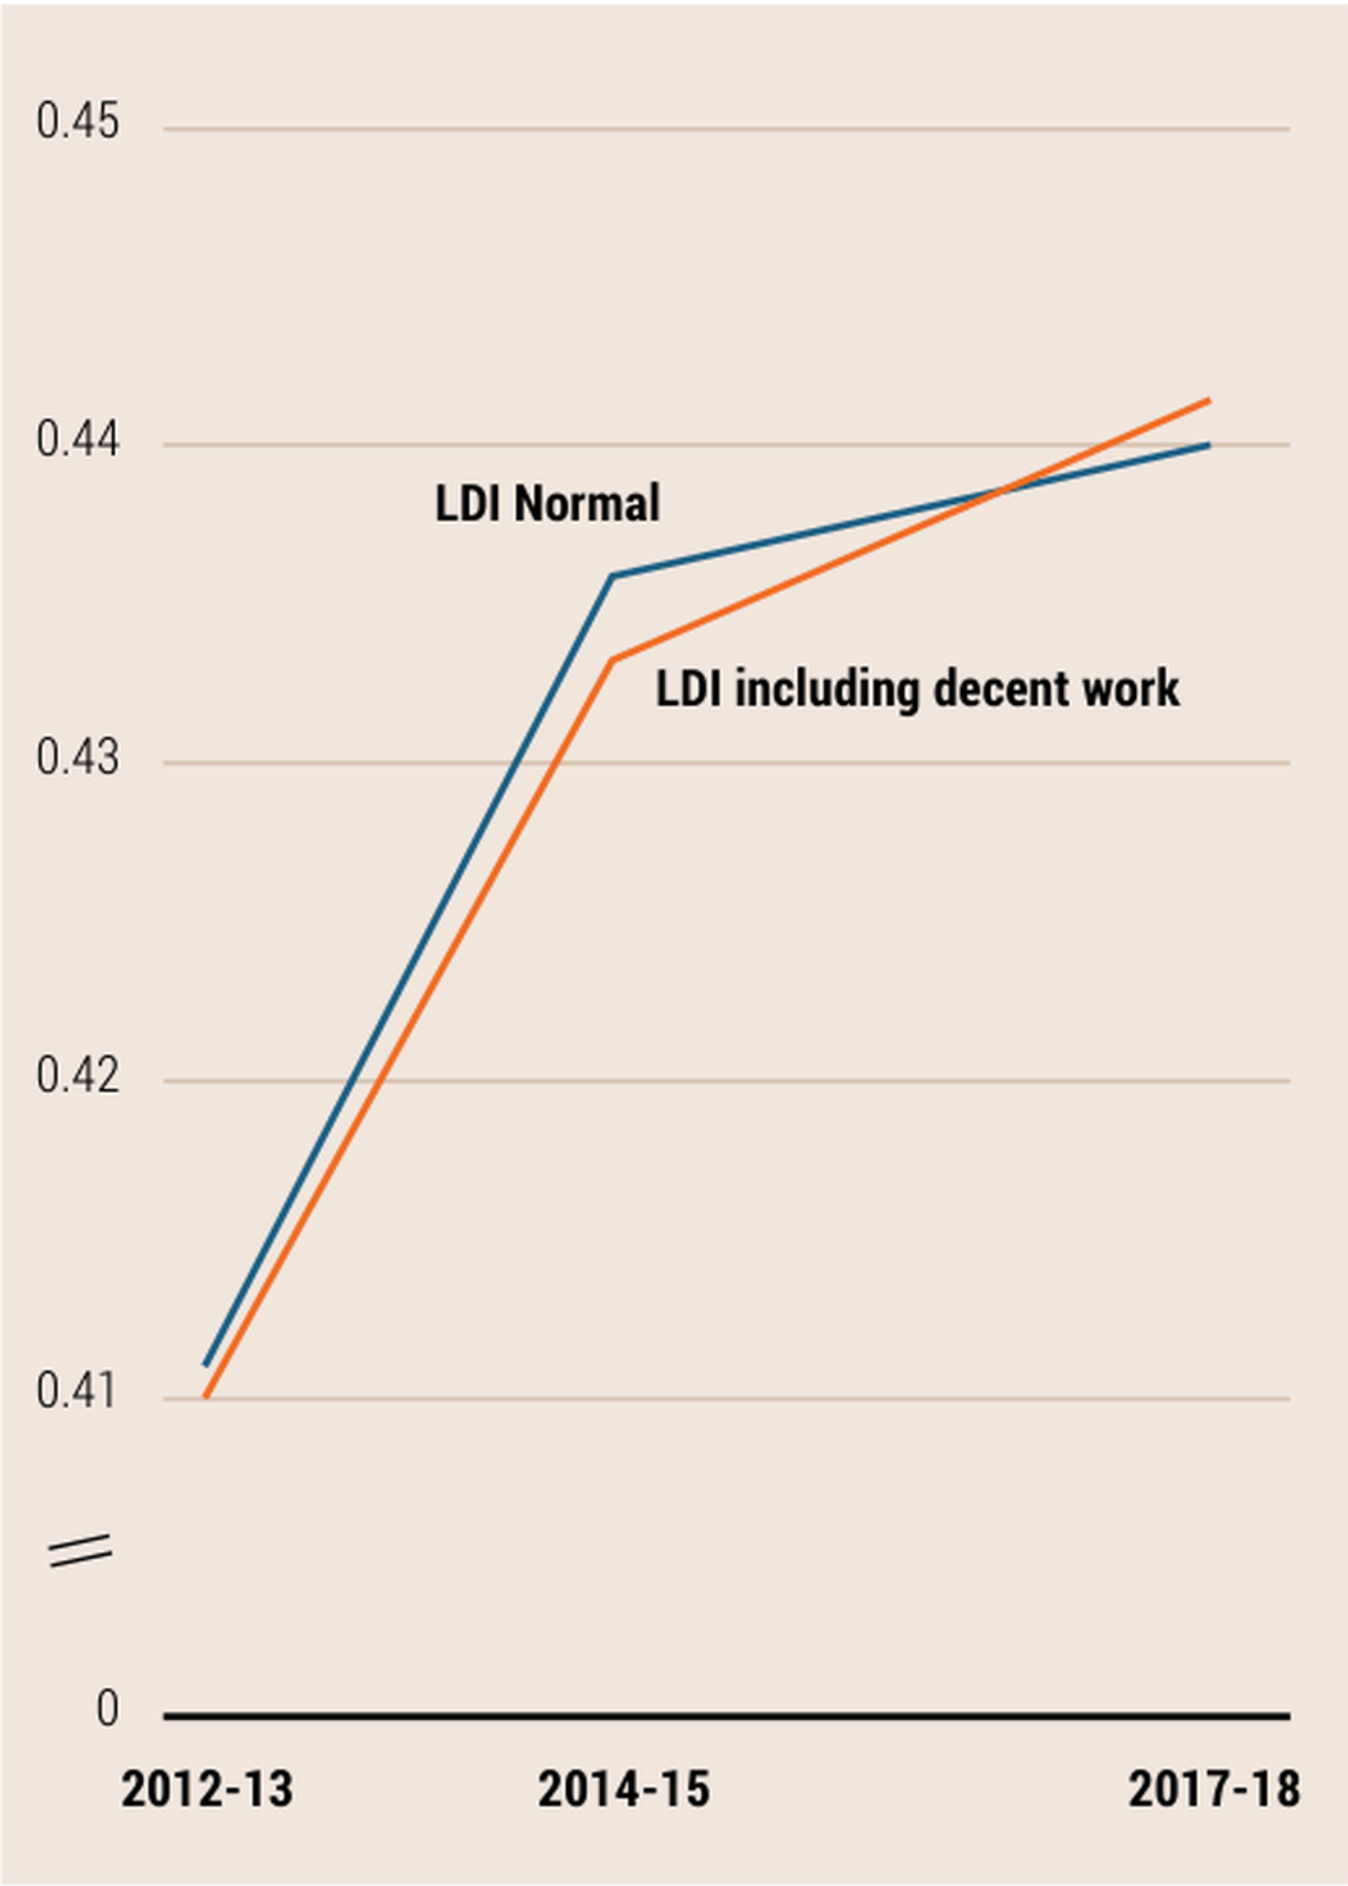

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2012-13 and 2017-18, and PMMS 2019 microdata.

Figure 4.4 Over the years labour development is improving with regards to decent working conditions, (2012-2018)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 4.4

Over the years labour development is improving with regards to decent working conditions, (2012-2018)

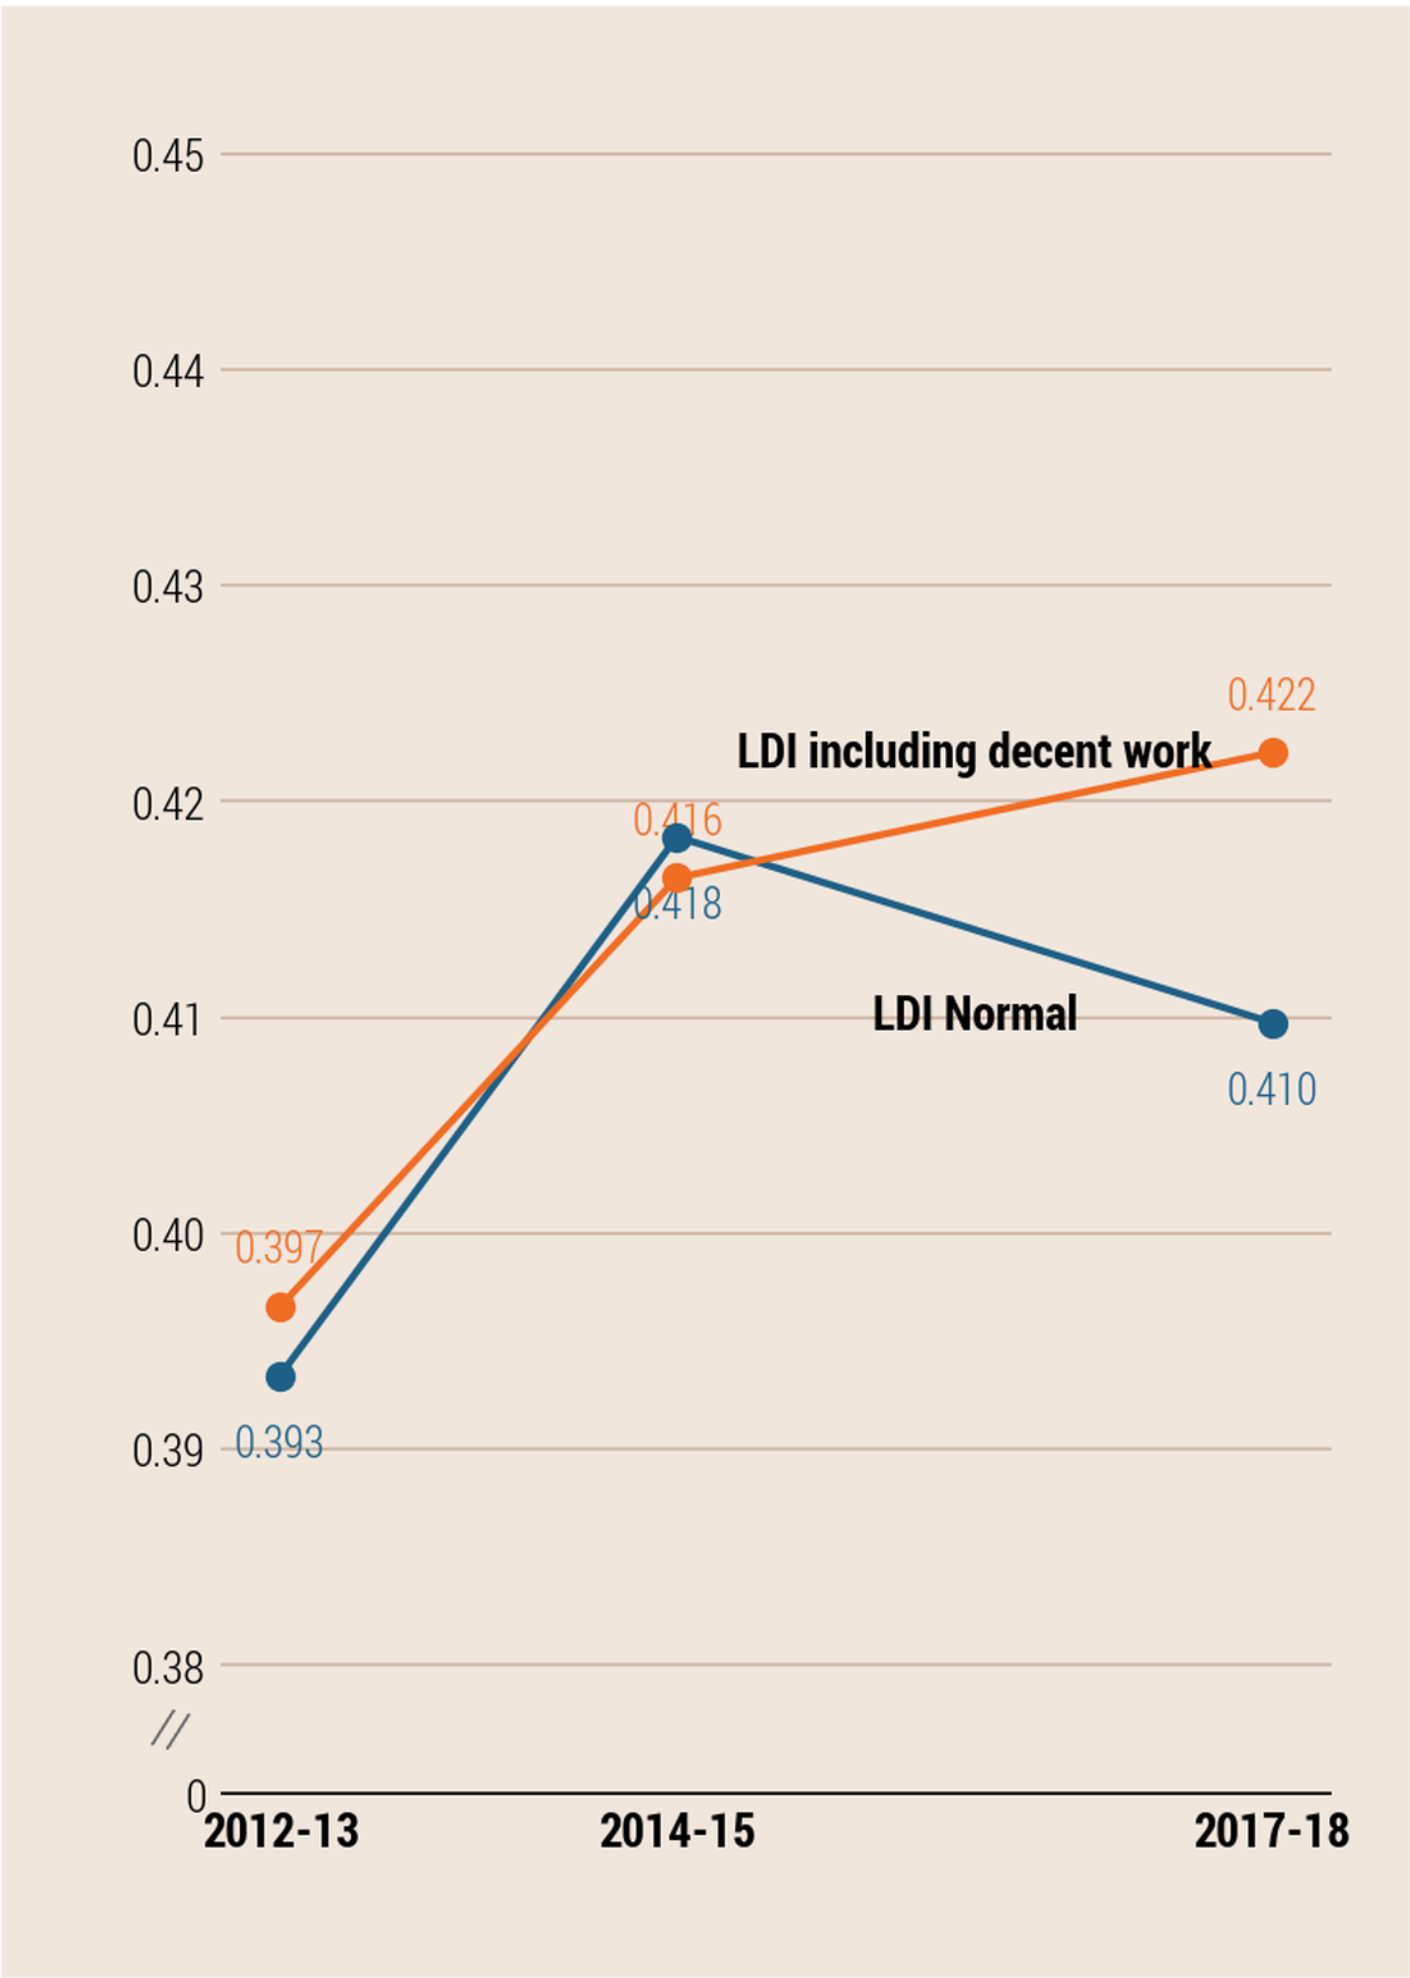

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha 2019 and multiple years of LFS.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 4.4

Labour Development Index, normal and including decent work, (2012-2018)

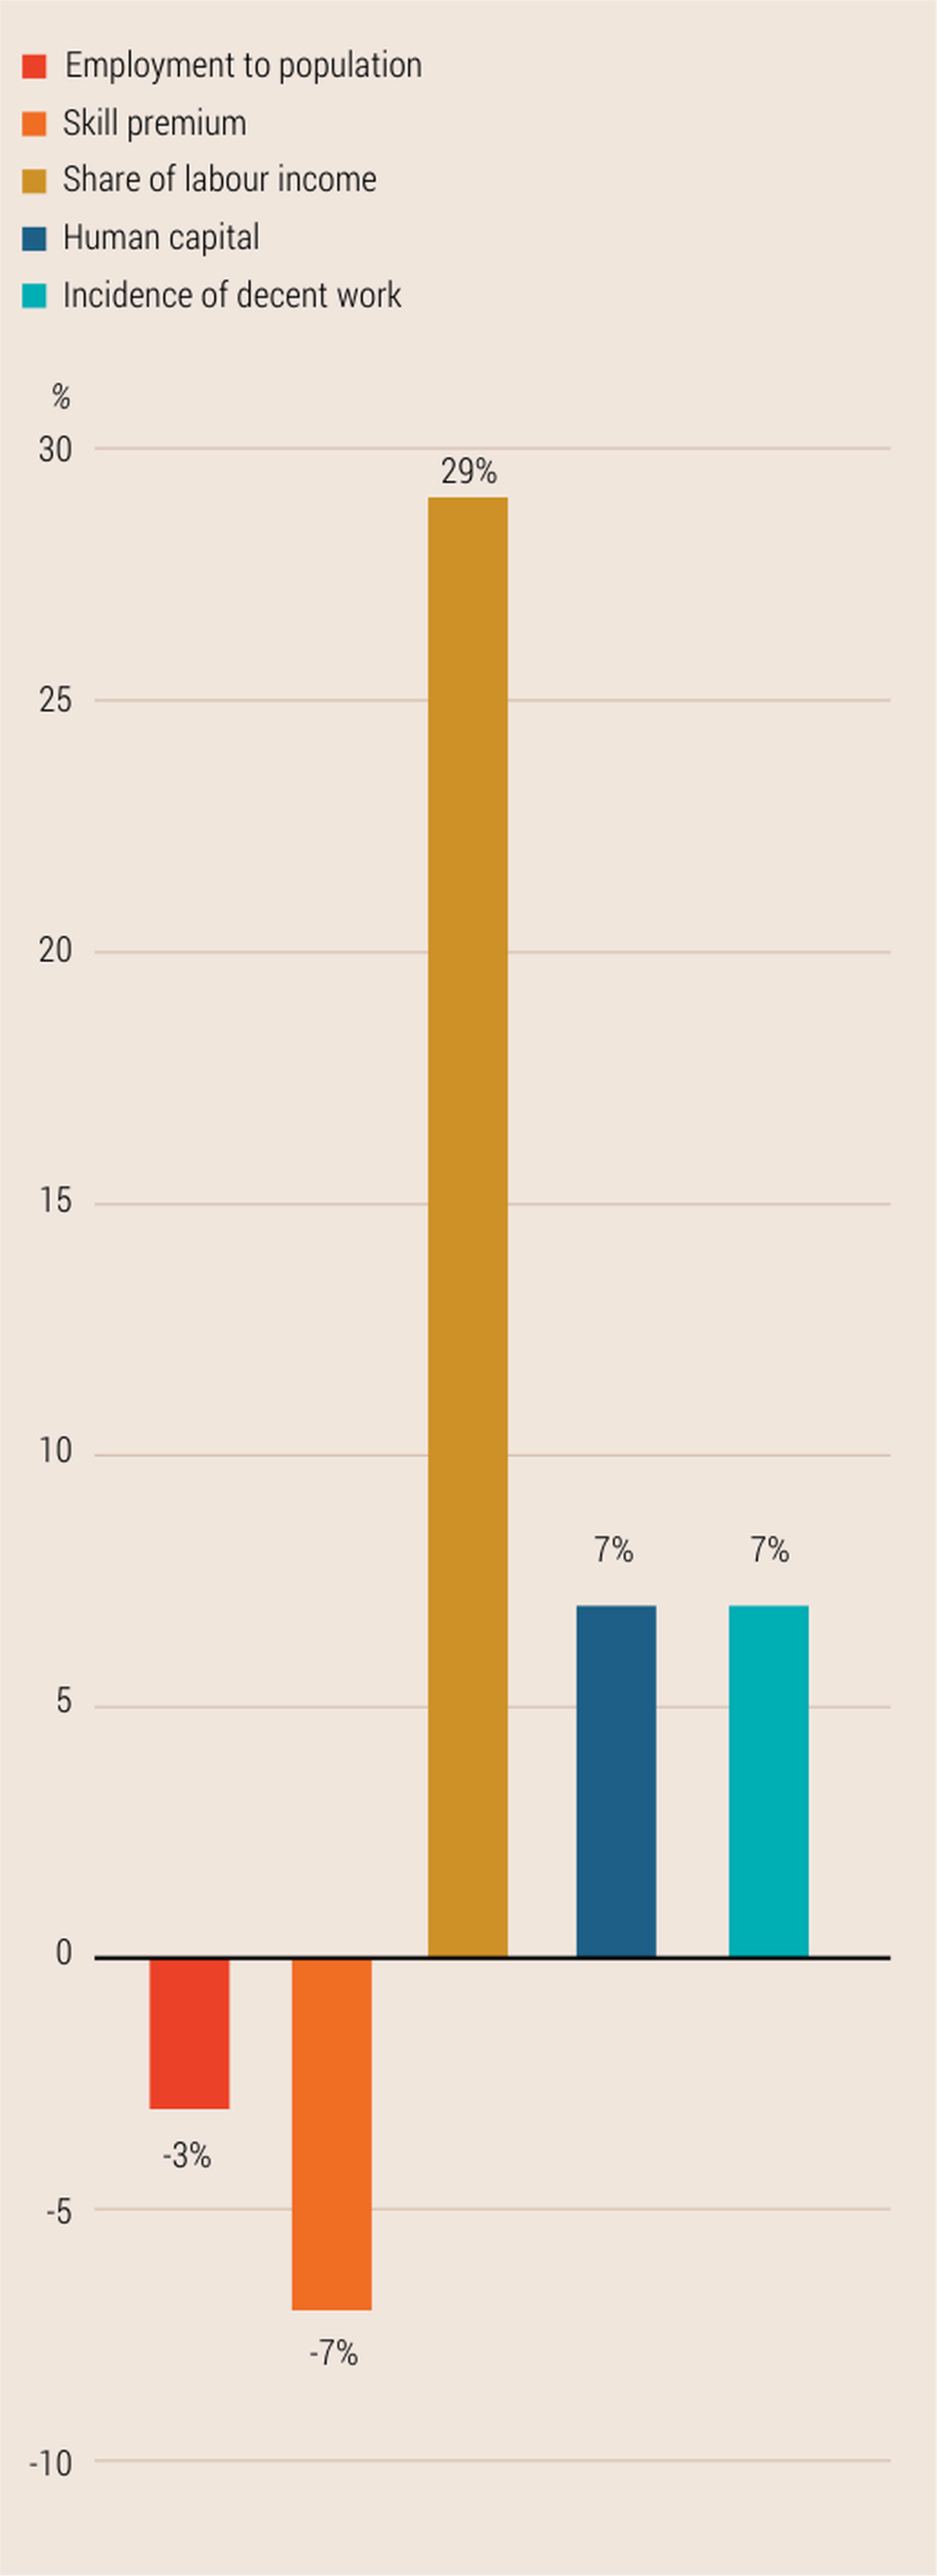

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2012-13, 2014-15 and 2017-18 microdata, with WDI GDP.

Figure 4.5 Changes in the dimensions of the national Labour Development Index, (2012-2018)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 4.5

Changes in the dimensions of the national Labour Development Index, (2012-2018)

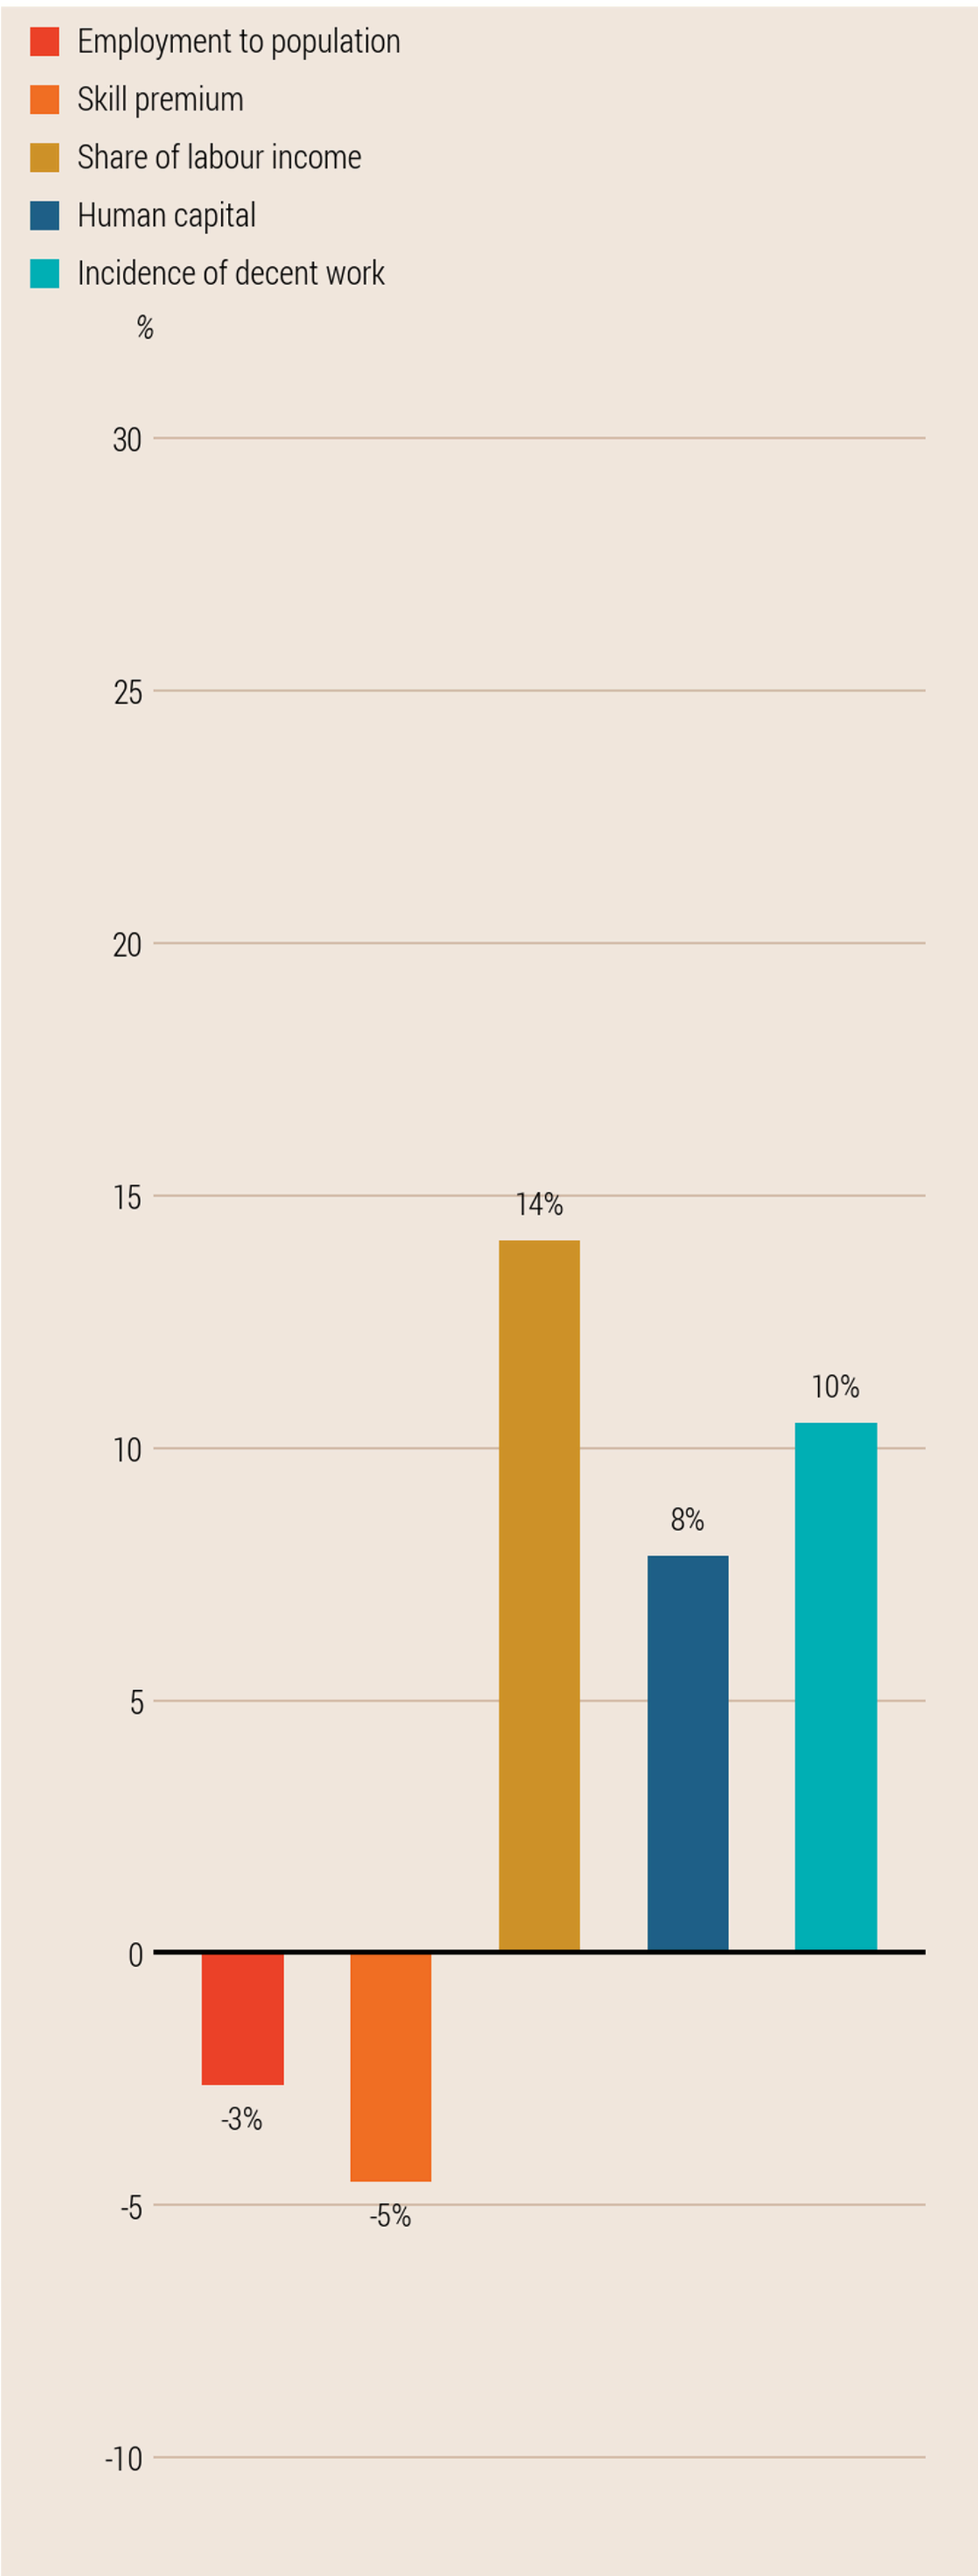

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha 2019 and multiple years of LFS.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 4.5

Changes in the dimensions of the national Labour Development Index, (2012-2018)

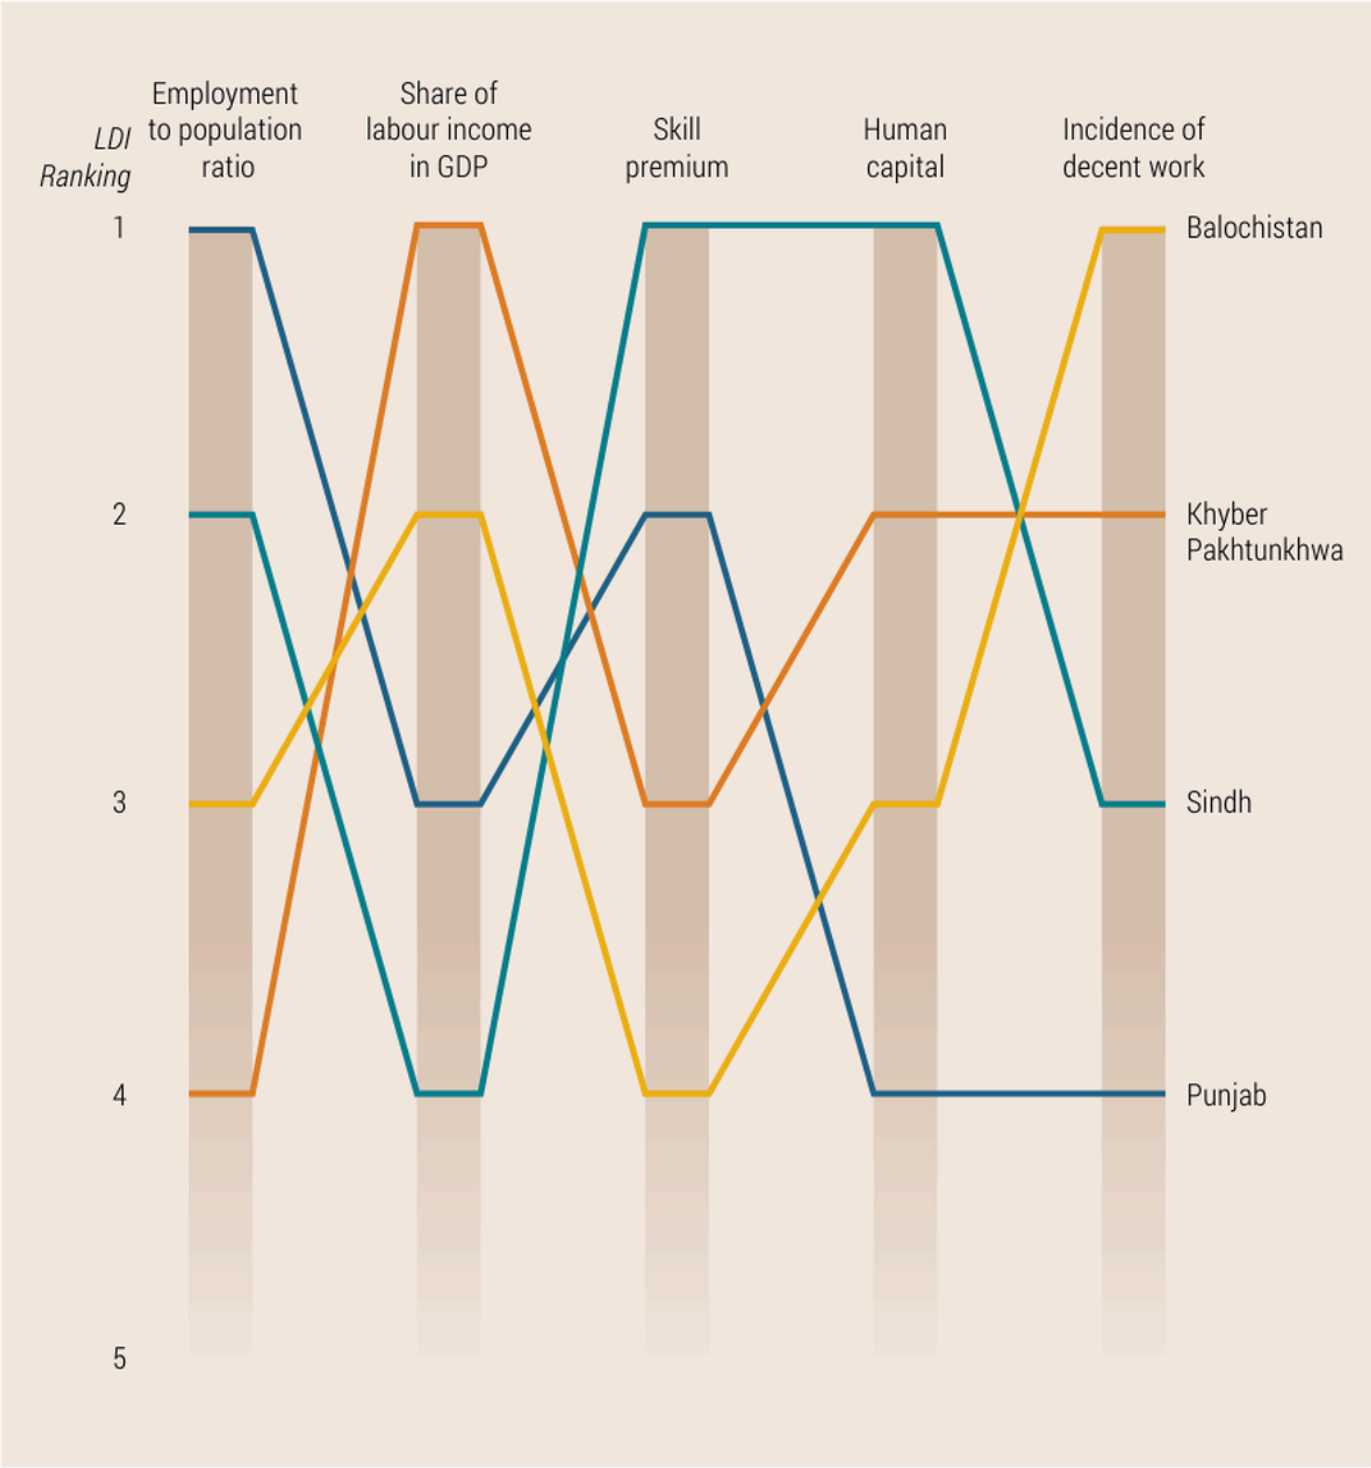

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2012-13 and 2017-18 microdata, with WDI GDP.

Figure 4.6 Provincial Labour Development Index rankings by indicator values, (2017- 2018)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 4.6

Provincial Labour Development Index rankings by indicator values, (2017-2018)

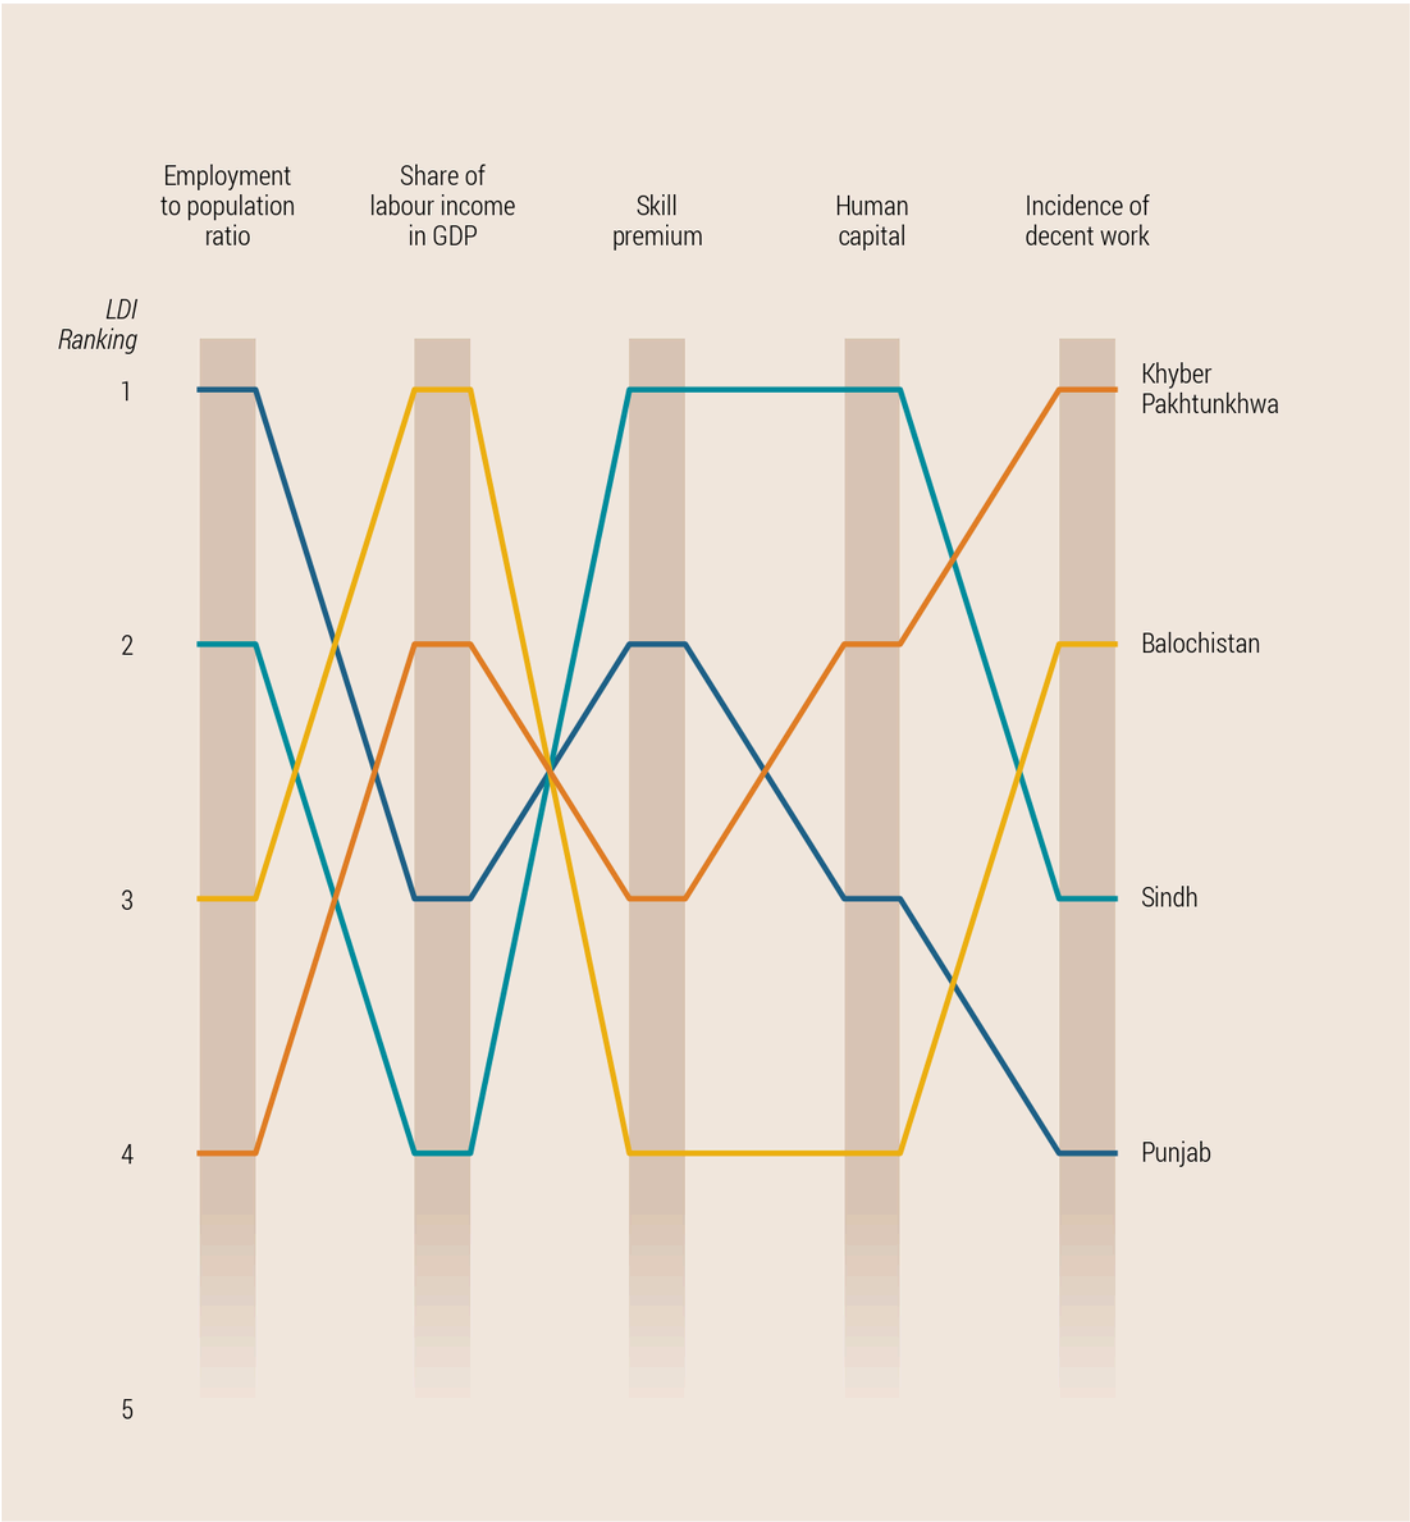

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha 2019 and LFS 2017-2018.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 4.6

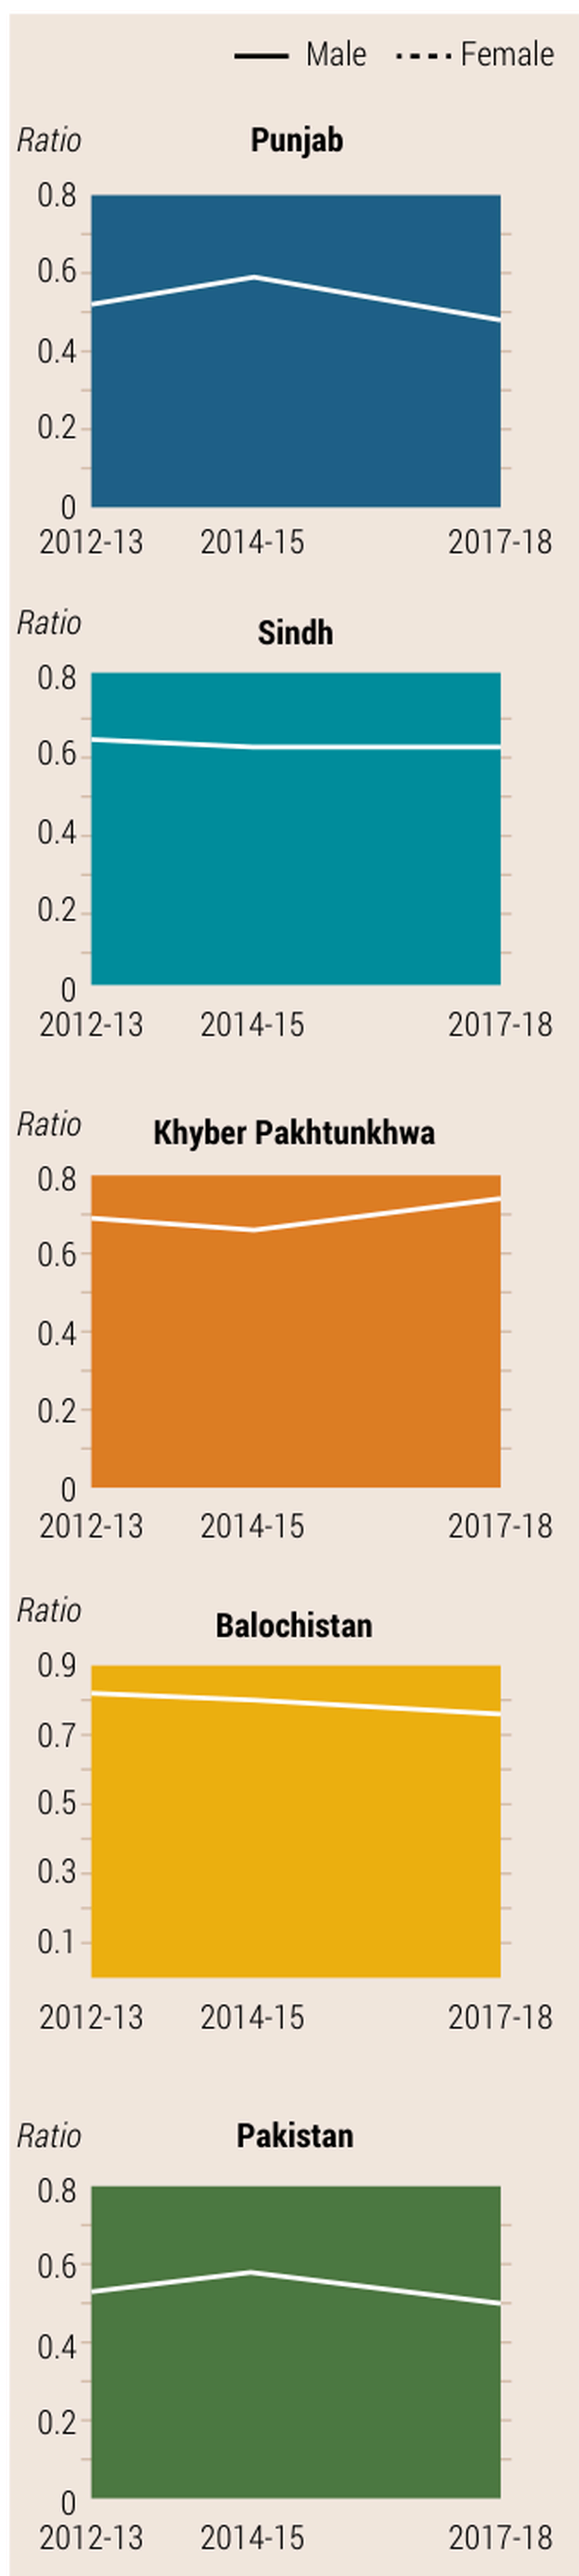

Provincial Labour Development Index rankings by indicator values, (2017-2018)

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2017-18 microdata, with WDI GDP and Pasha's provincial shares.

FIGURE 4.7

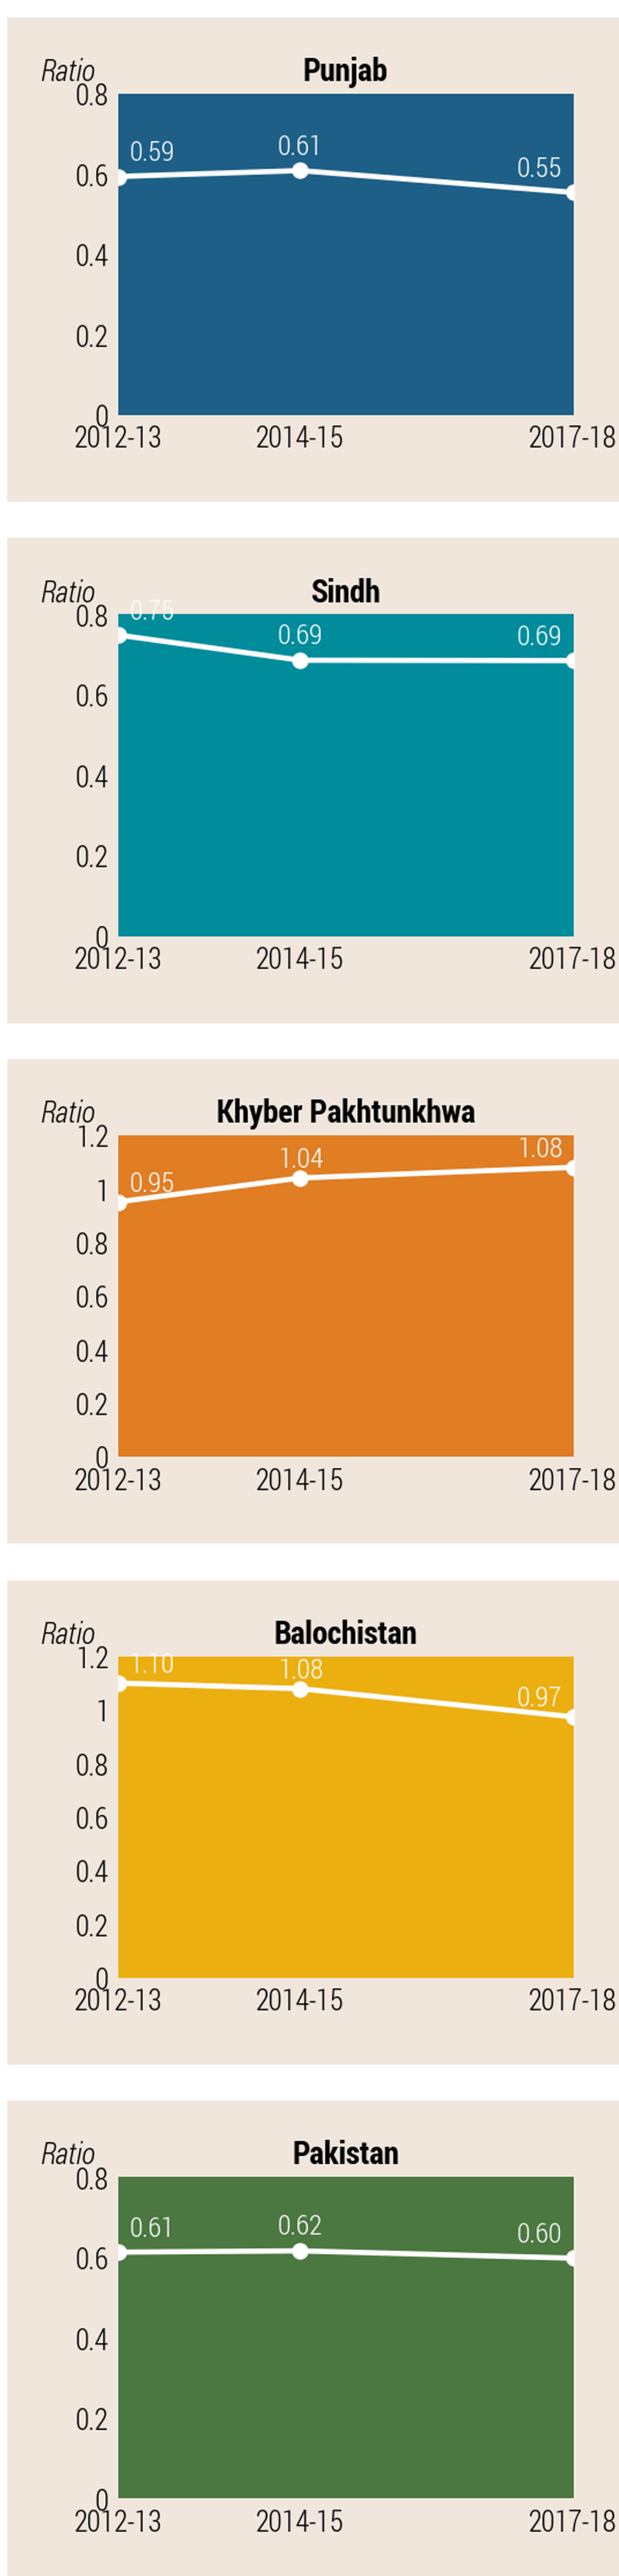

Gender wage ratios, (2012-2018)

Source: UNDP calculations based on multiple years of LFS.

FIGURE 4.7

Gender wage ratios, (2012-2018)

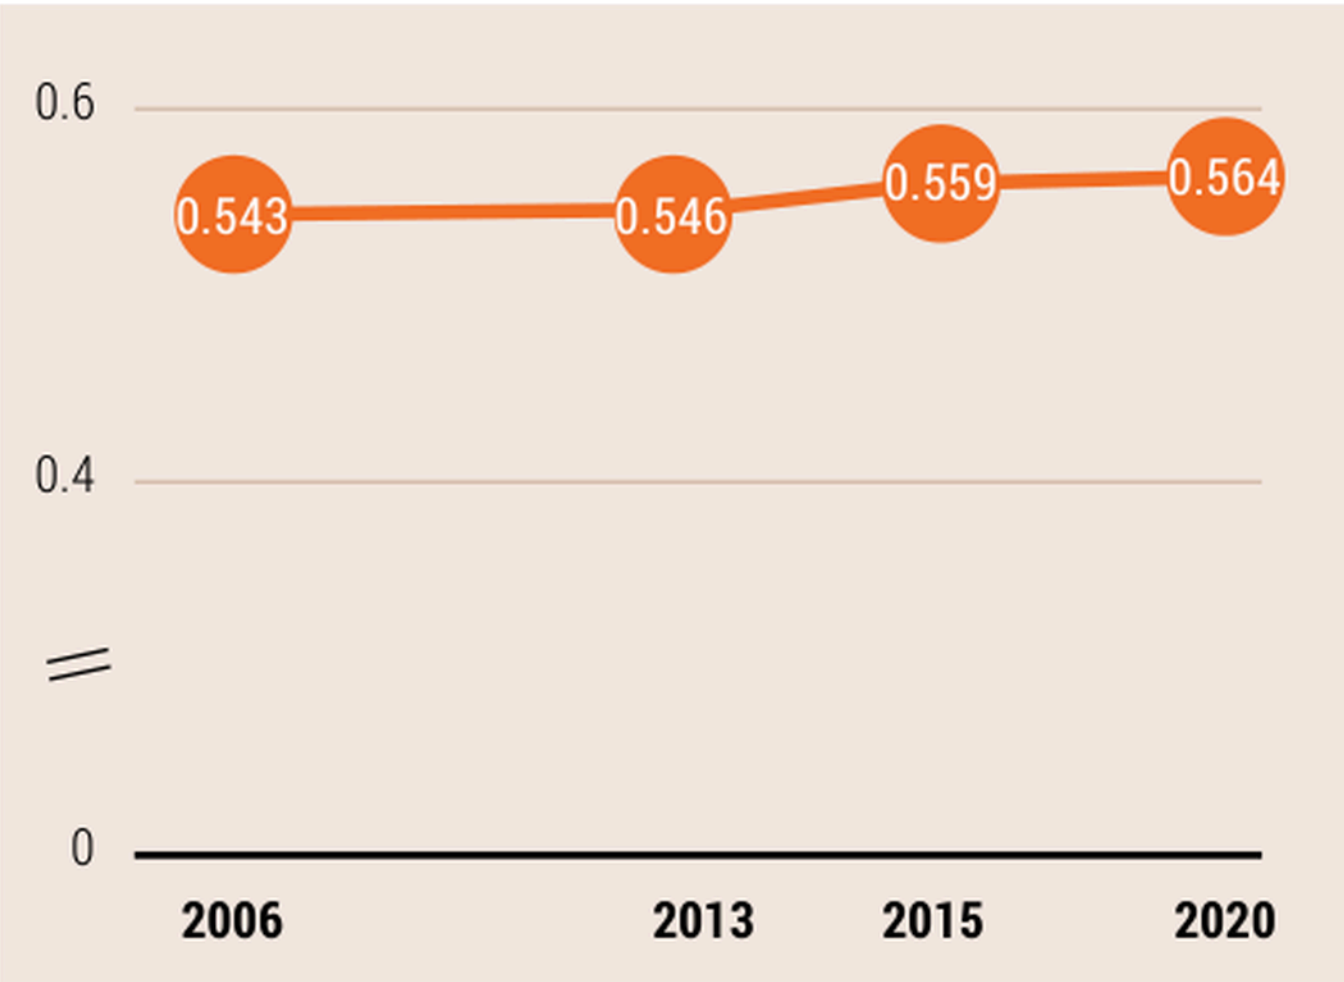

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2012-13, 2014-15 and 2017-18 microdata.

Figure 4.8 Pakistan's performance on the Global Gender Gap Index, (2006-2018)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 4.8

Pakistan's performance on the Global Gender Gap Index, (2006-2018)

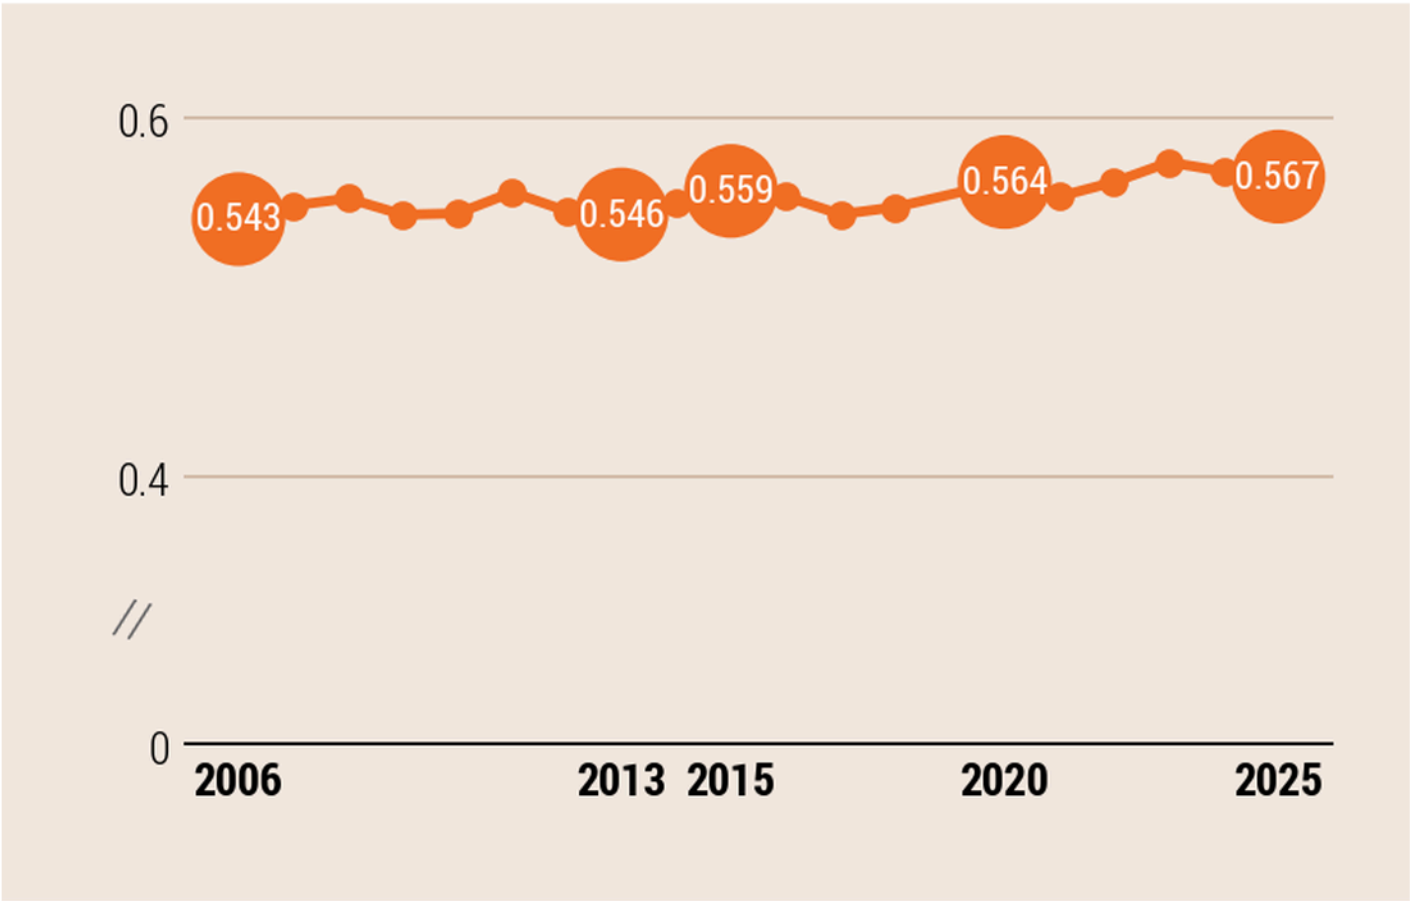

Source: WEF 2020.

Reproduced from the WEF reports

FIGURE 4.8

Pakistan's performance on the Global Gender Gap Index, (2006-2025)

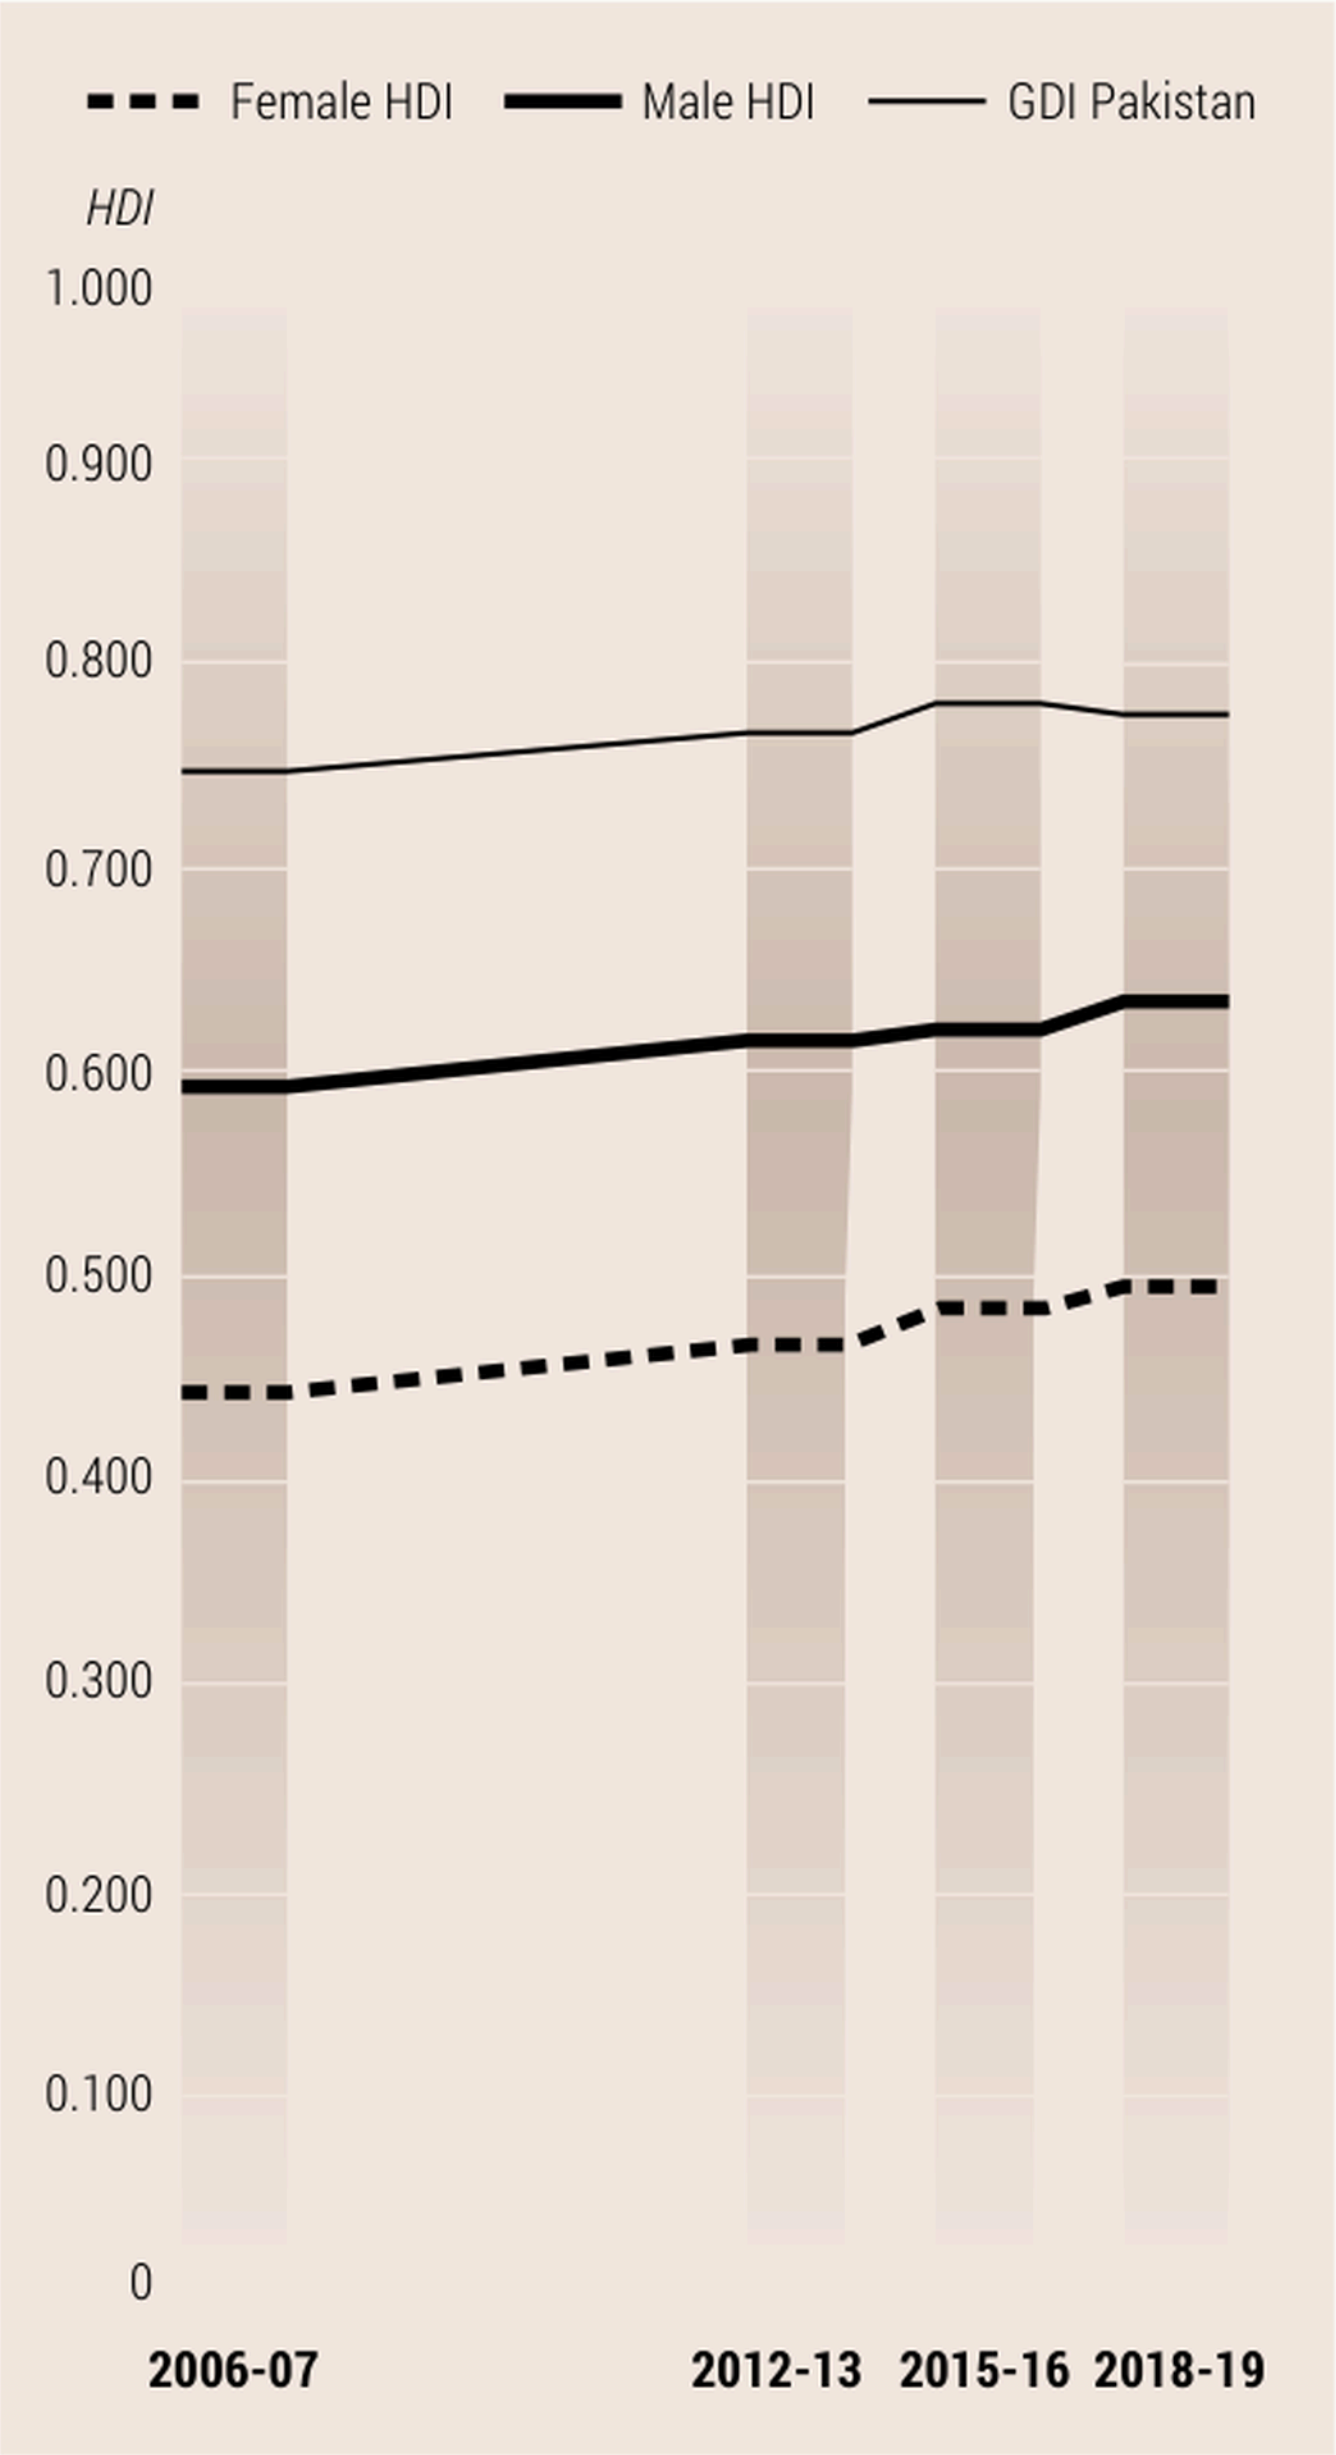

Source: WEF, Global Gender Gap Report, editions 2006 to 2025 (score as printed in each edition).

Figure 4.9 Pakistan Gender Development Index, (2006-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 4.9

Pakistan Gender Development Index, (2006-2019)

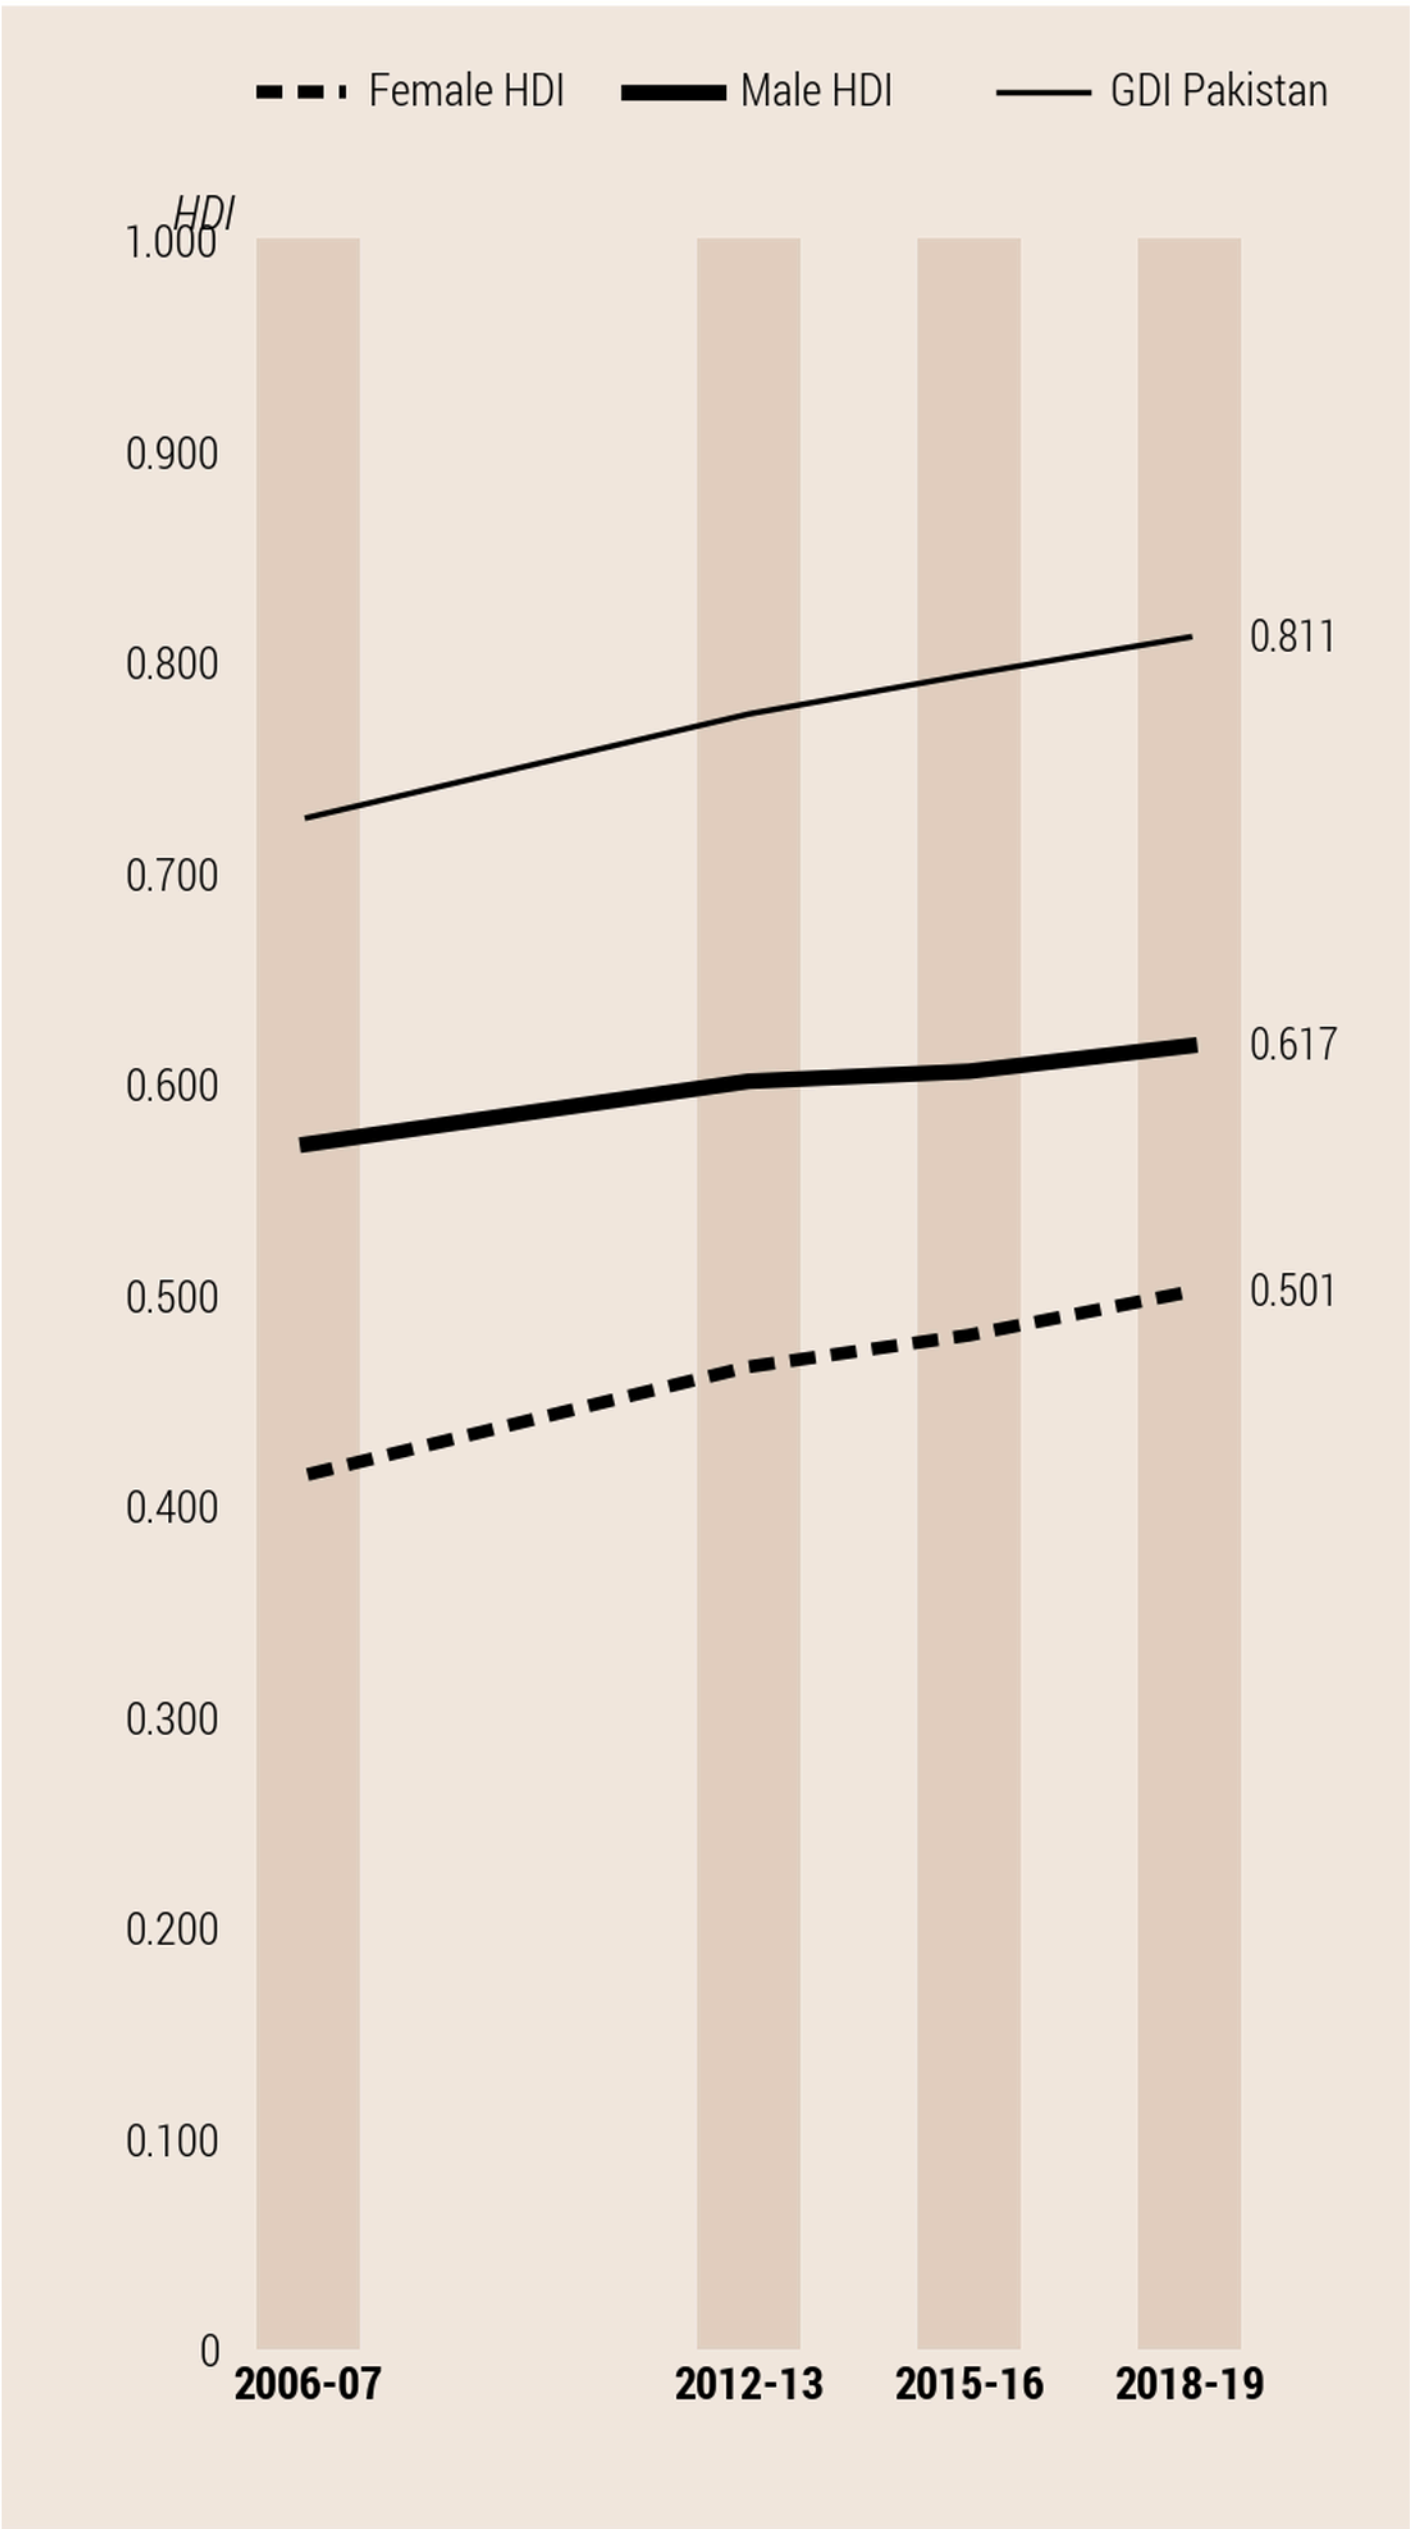

Note: GDI is the ratio of female to male HDI values.
Source: UNDP calculations based on HIES, 2005-2006, 2011-2012, 2015-2016, and 2018-2019; Global HDR, 2018, and Population census, 2017.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 4.9

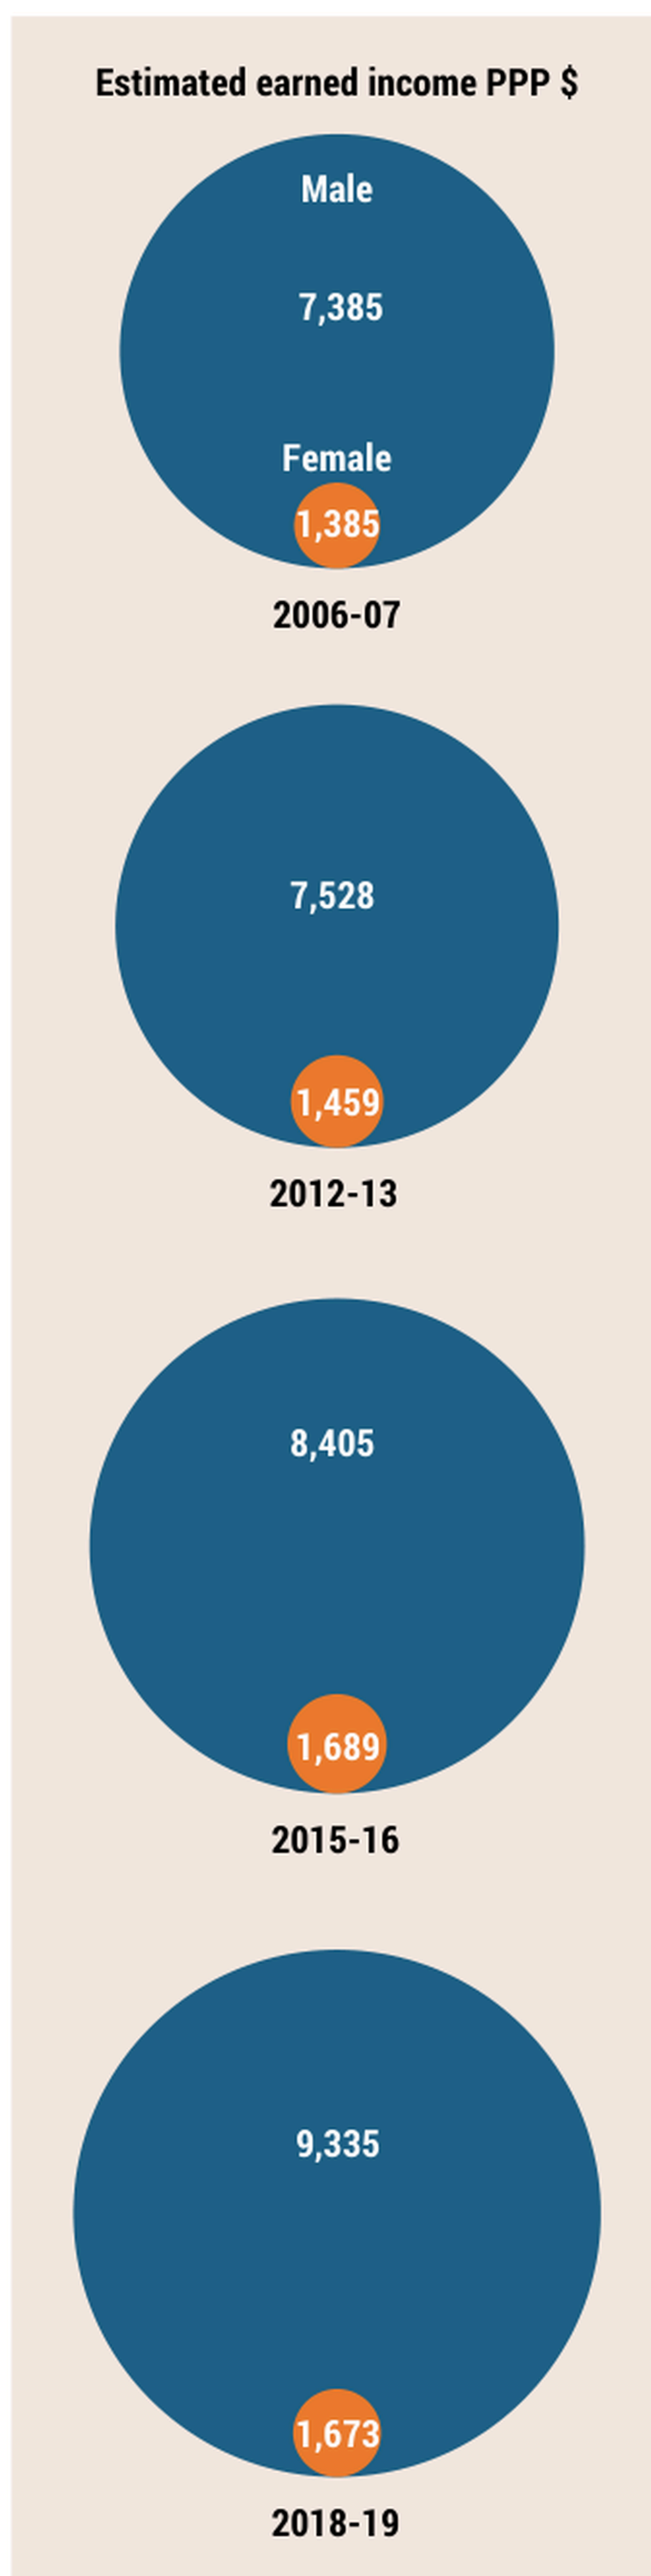

Pakistan Gender Development Index, (2006-2019)

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2005-06, 2011-12, 2015-16 and 2018-19, LFS 2006-07, 2012-13, 2014-15 and 2018-19 microdata; life expectancy by sex and GNI per head from WDI.

FIGURE 4.10

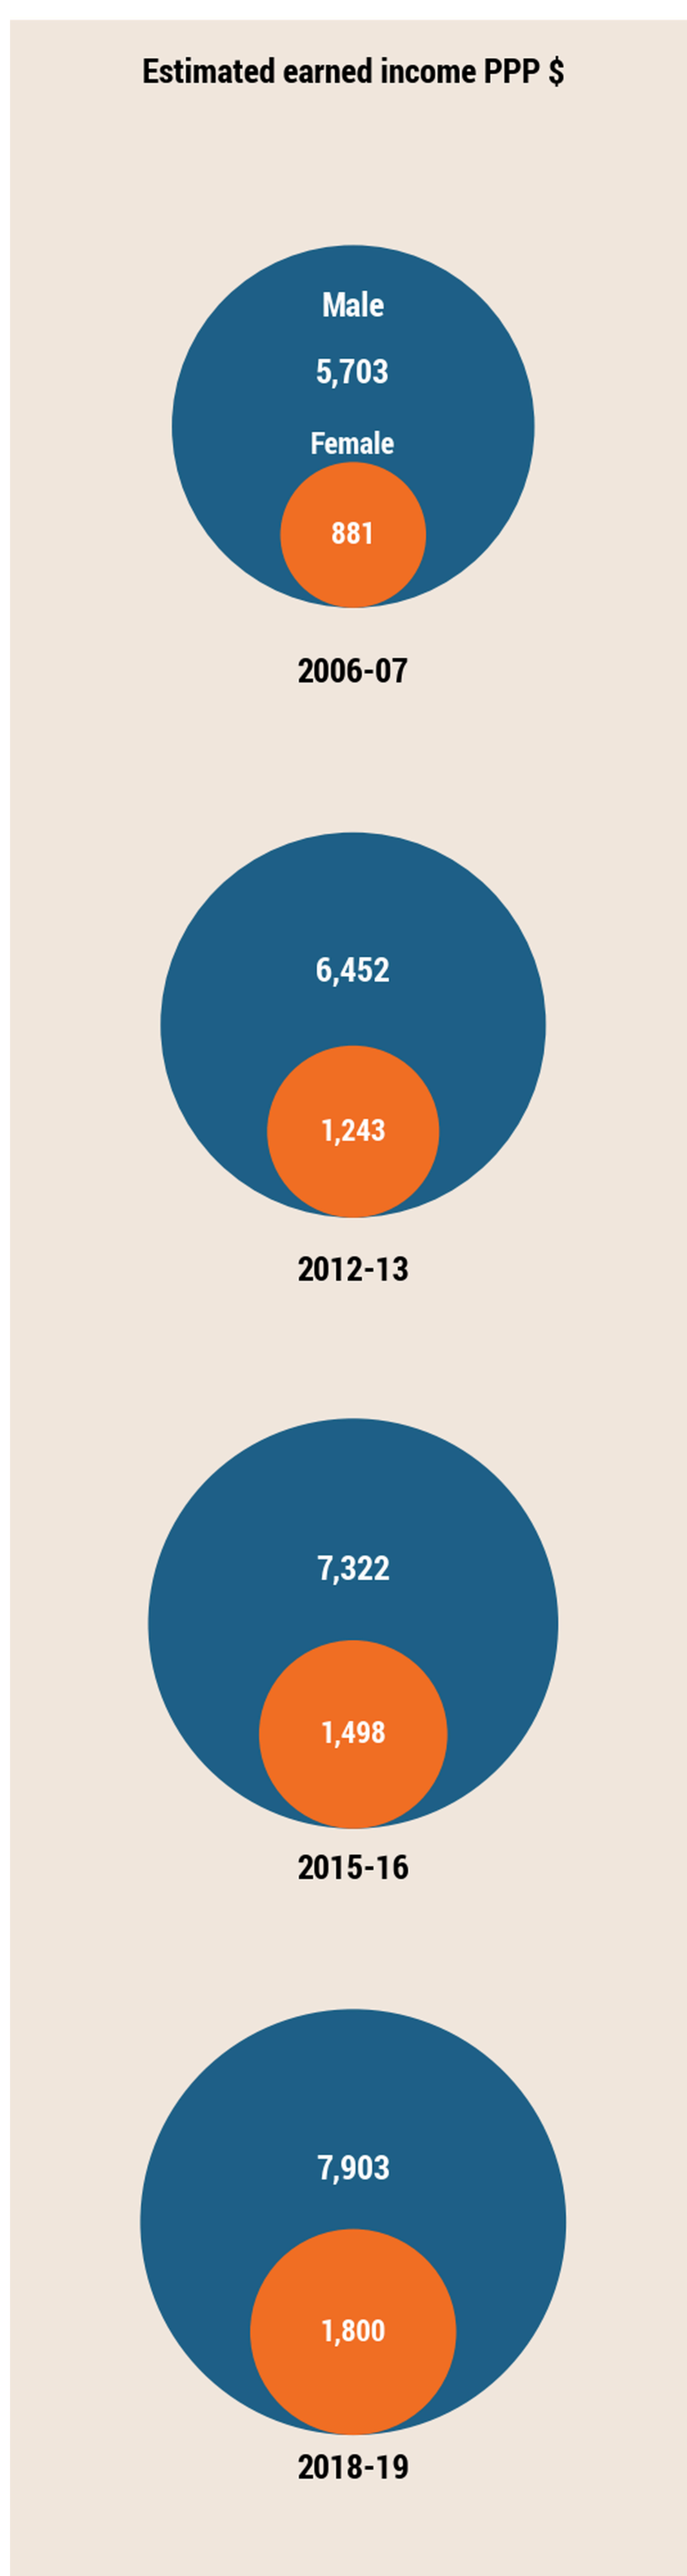

Wider gap in female and male earnings, (2006-2019)

Source: UNDP calculations based on multiple years of National Accounts, LFS, and Population Census, 2017.

FIGURE 4.10

Female and male earnings, (2006-2019)

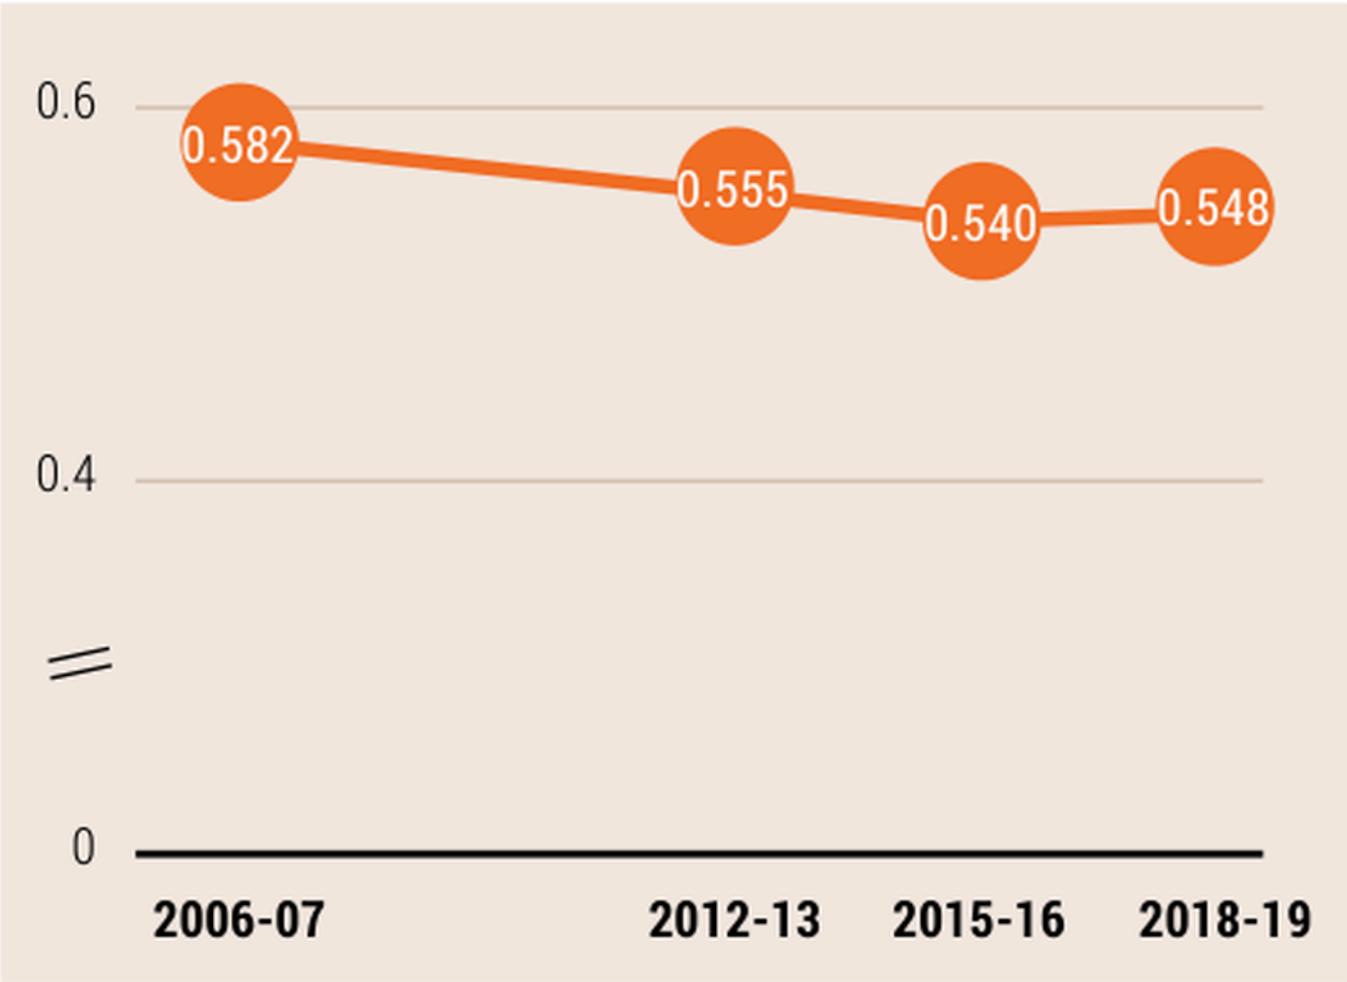

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2006-07, 2012-13, 2014-15 and 2018-19 microdata, with WDI GNI per head (PPP) and the Census 2017 female share.

Figure 4.11 Pakistan's Gender Inequality Index over the years, (2006-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 4.11

Pakistan's Gender Inequality Index over the years, (2006-2019)

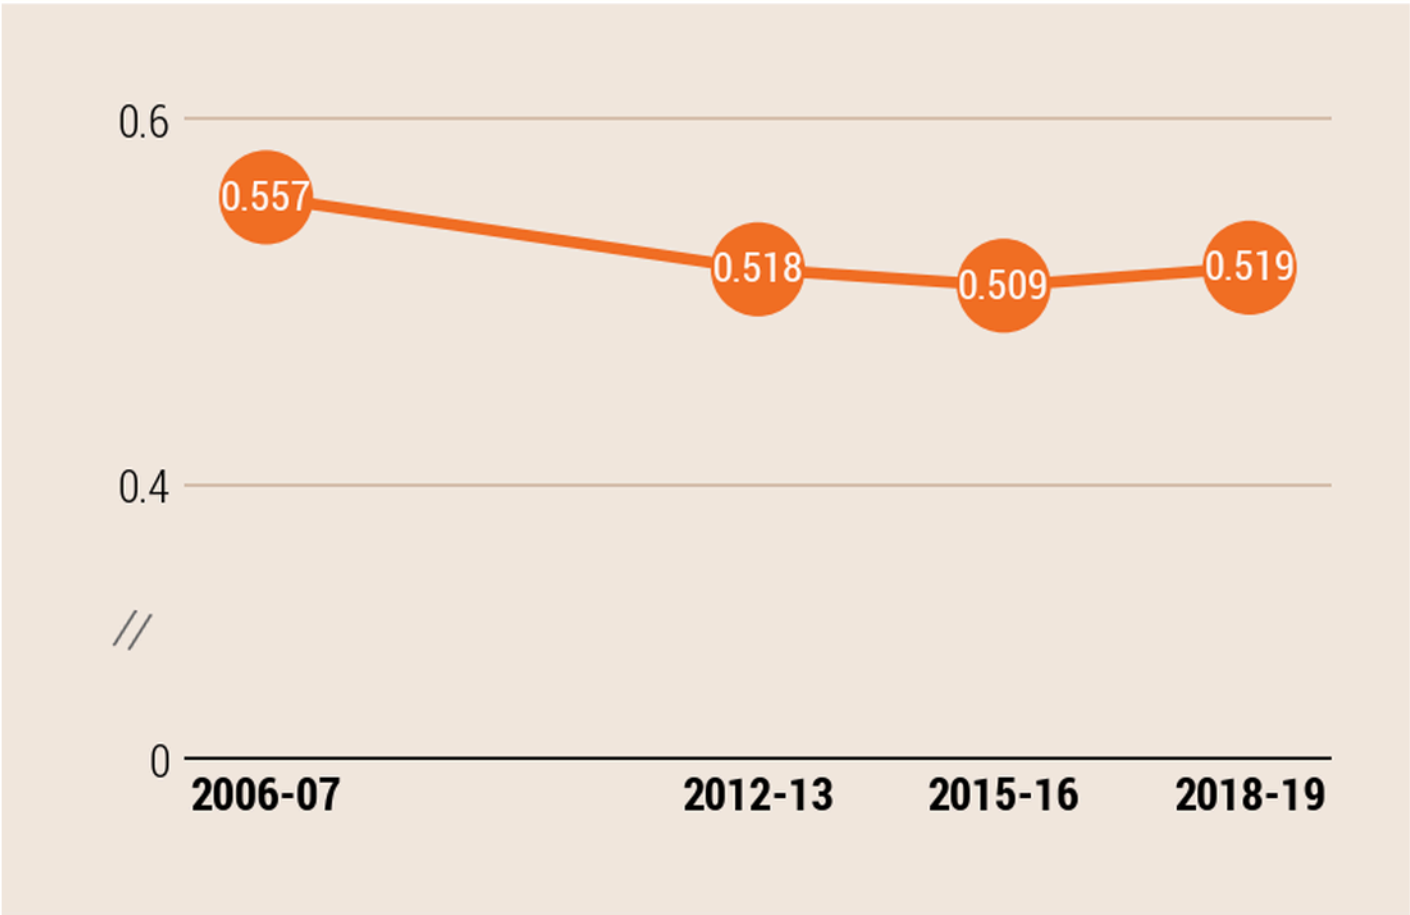

Source: UNDP calculations based on multiple sources of PSLM, LFS; and Khan, A., & Naqvi, S. 2018.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 4.11

Pakistan's Gender Inequality Index over the years, (2006-2019)

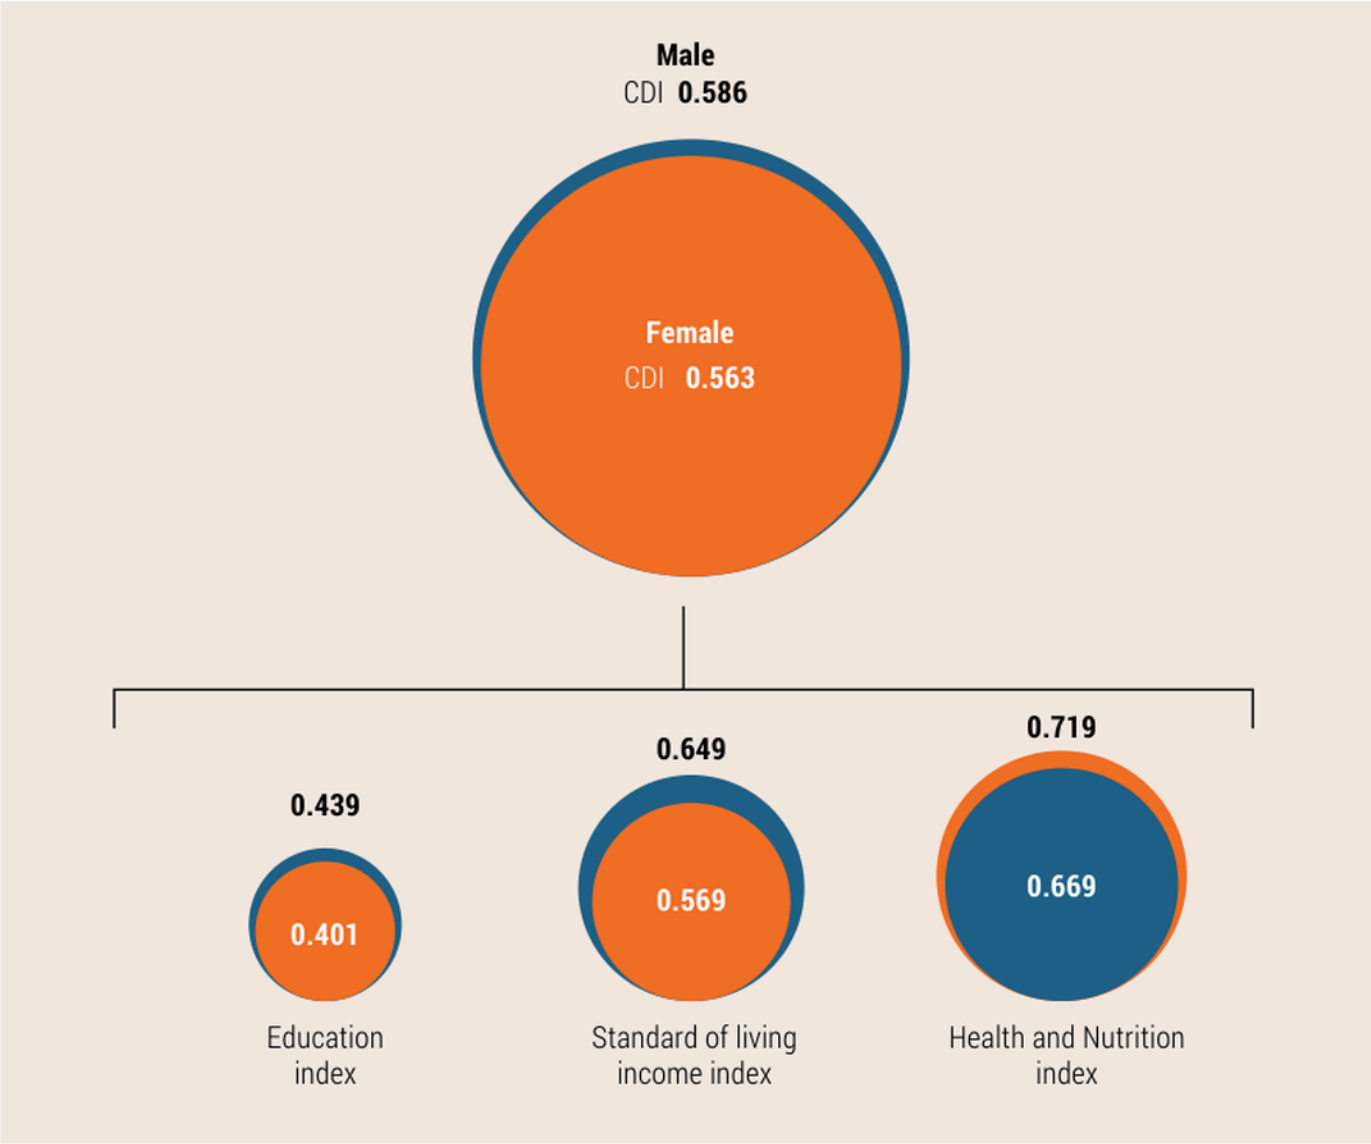

Source: Reproduced from HIES 2005-06, 2011-12 and 2018-19, PSLM 2014-15, and LFS 2006-07, 2012-13, 2014-15 and 2017-18 microdata; seats from WDI.

Figure 4.12 Gender-based Child Development Index, (2018-2019)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 4.12

Gender-based Child Development Index, (2018-2019)

Source: UNDP calculations based on HIES, 2018-2019; PSLM, 2018-2019; PDHS, 2017-2018.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 4.12

Gender-based Child Development Index, (2018-2019)

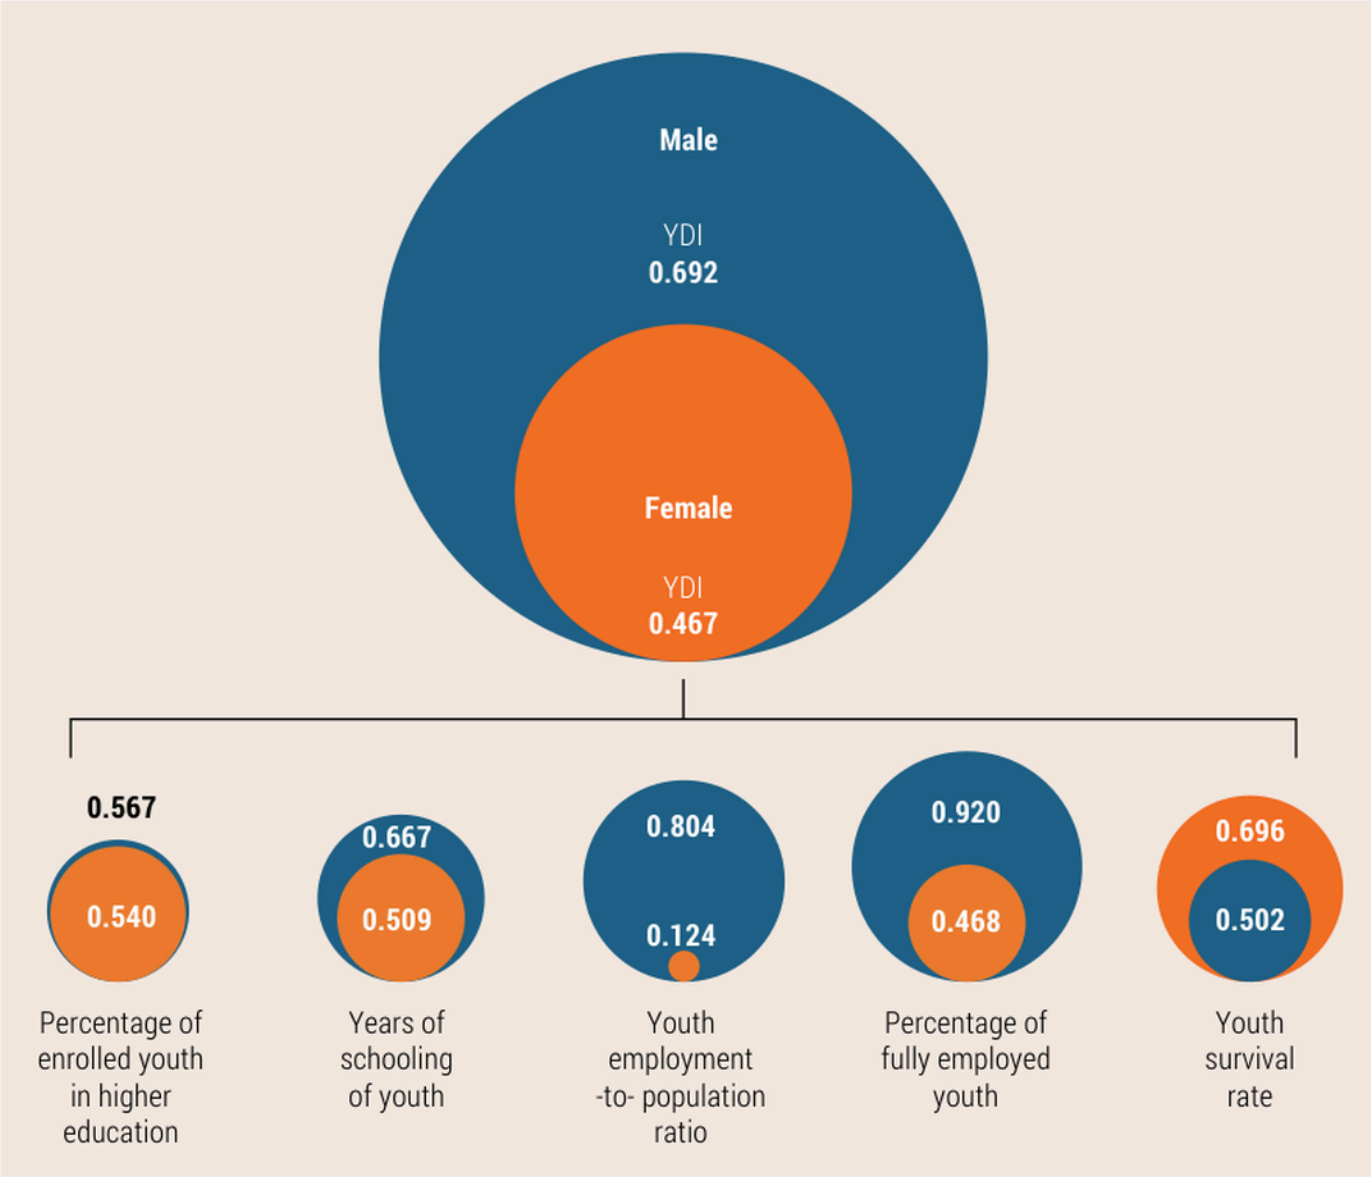

Figure 4.13 The male YDI is twice the female YDI, (2018)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 4.13

The male YDI is twice the female YDI, (2018)

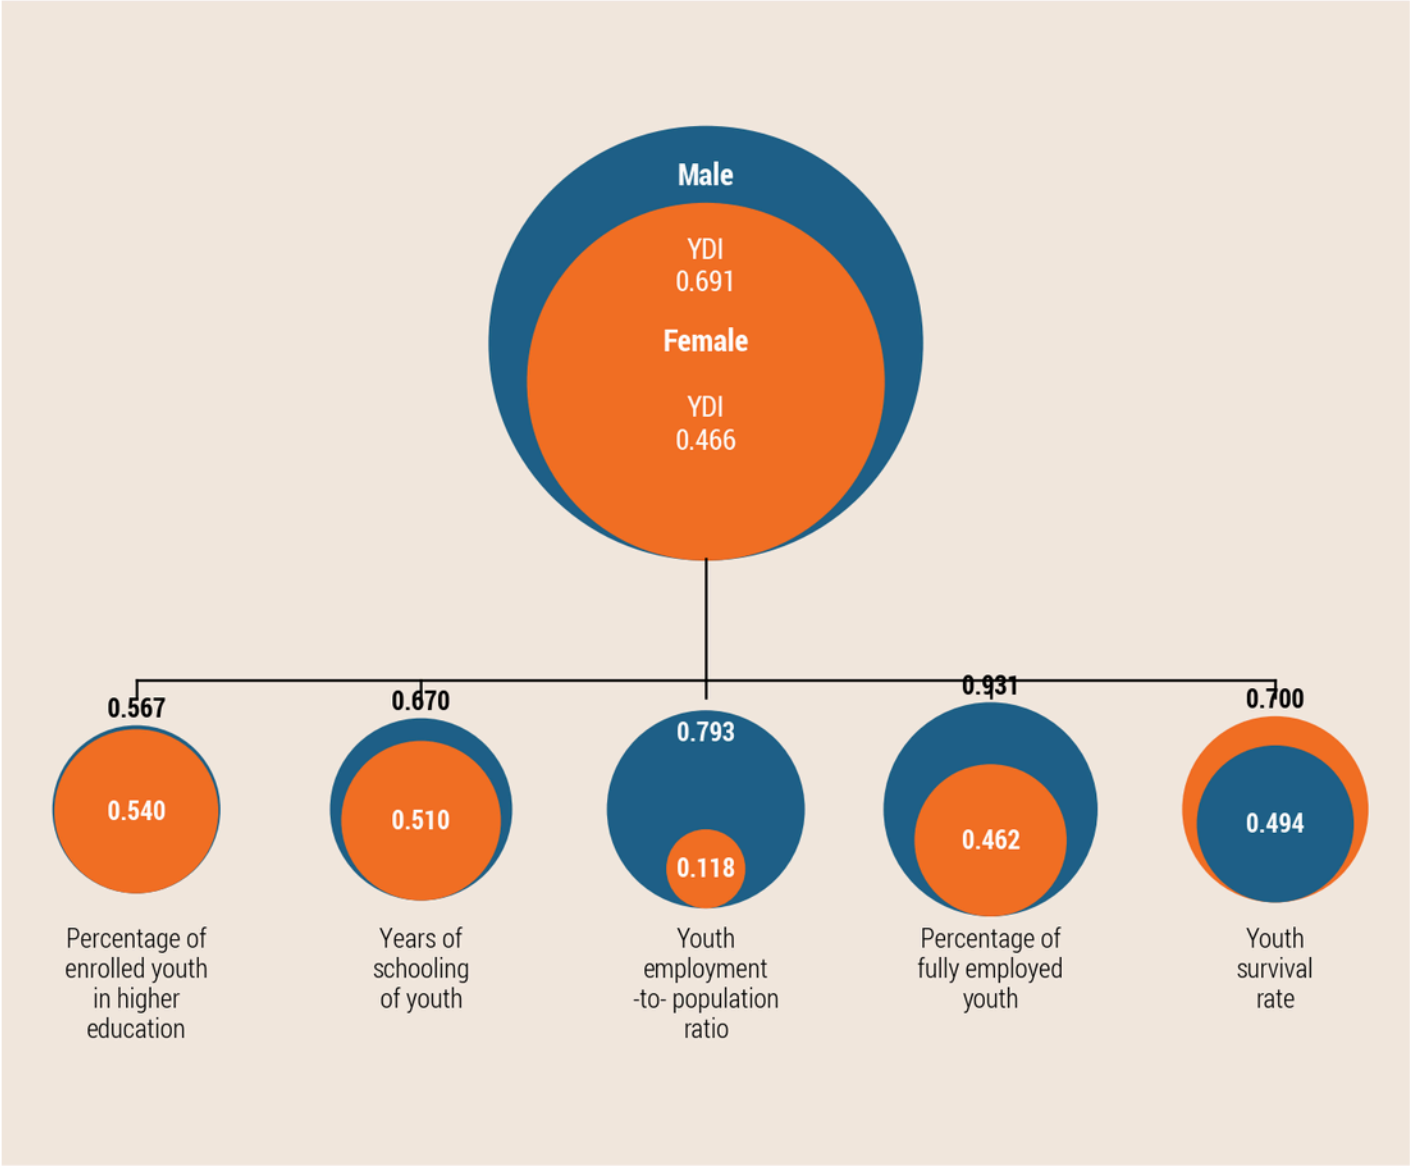

Source: UNDP calculations based on LFS, 2017-2018 and PMMS, 2019.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 4.13

The male and female Youth Development Index, (2018)

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2017-18 and PMMS 2019 microdata.

FIGURE 4.15

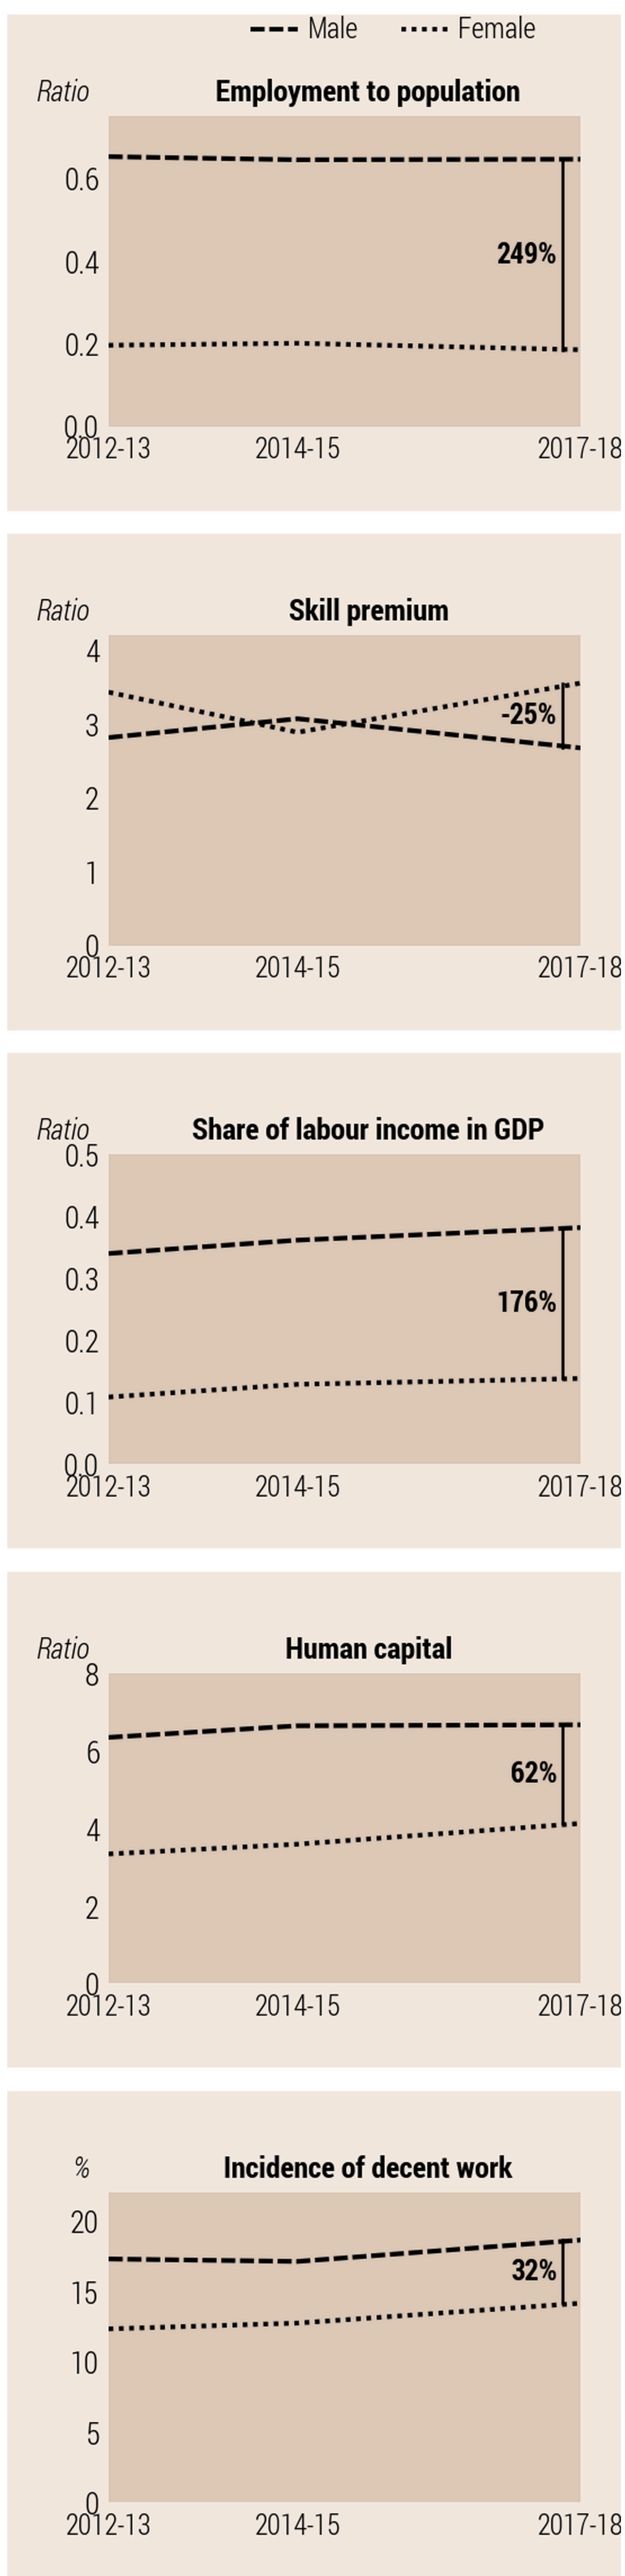

Dimensions of the Labour Development Index revealing gender discrimination in the labour market, (2012-2018)

Source: UNDP calculations based on Pasha 2019 and multiple years of LFS.

FIGURE 4.15

Dimensions of the Labour Development Index by sex, (2012-2018)

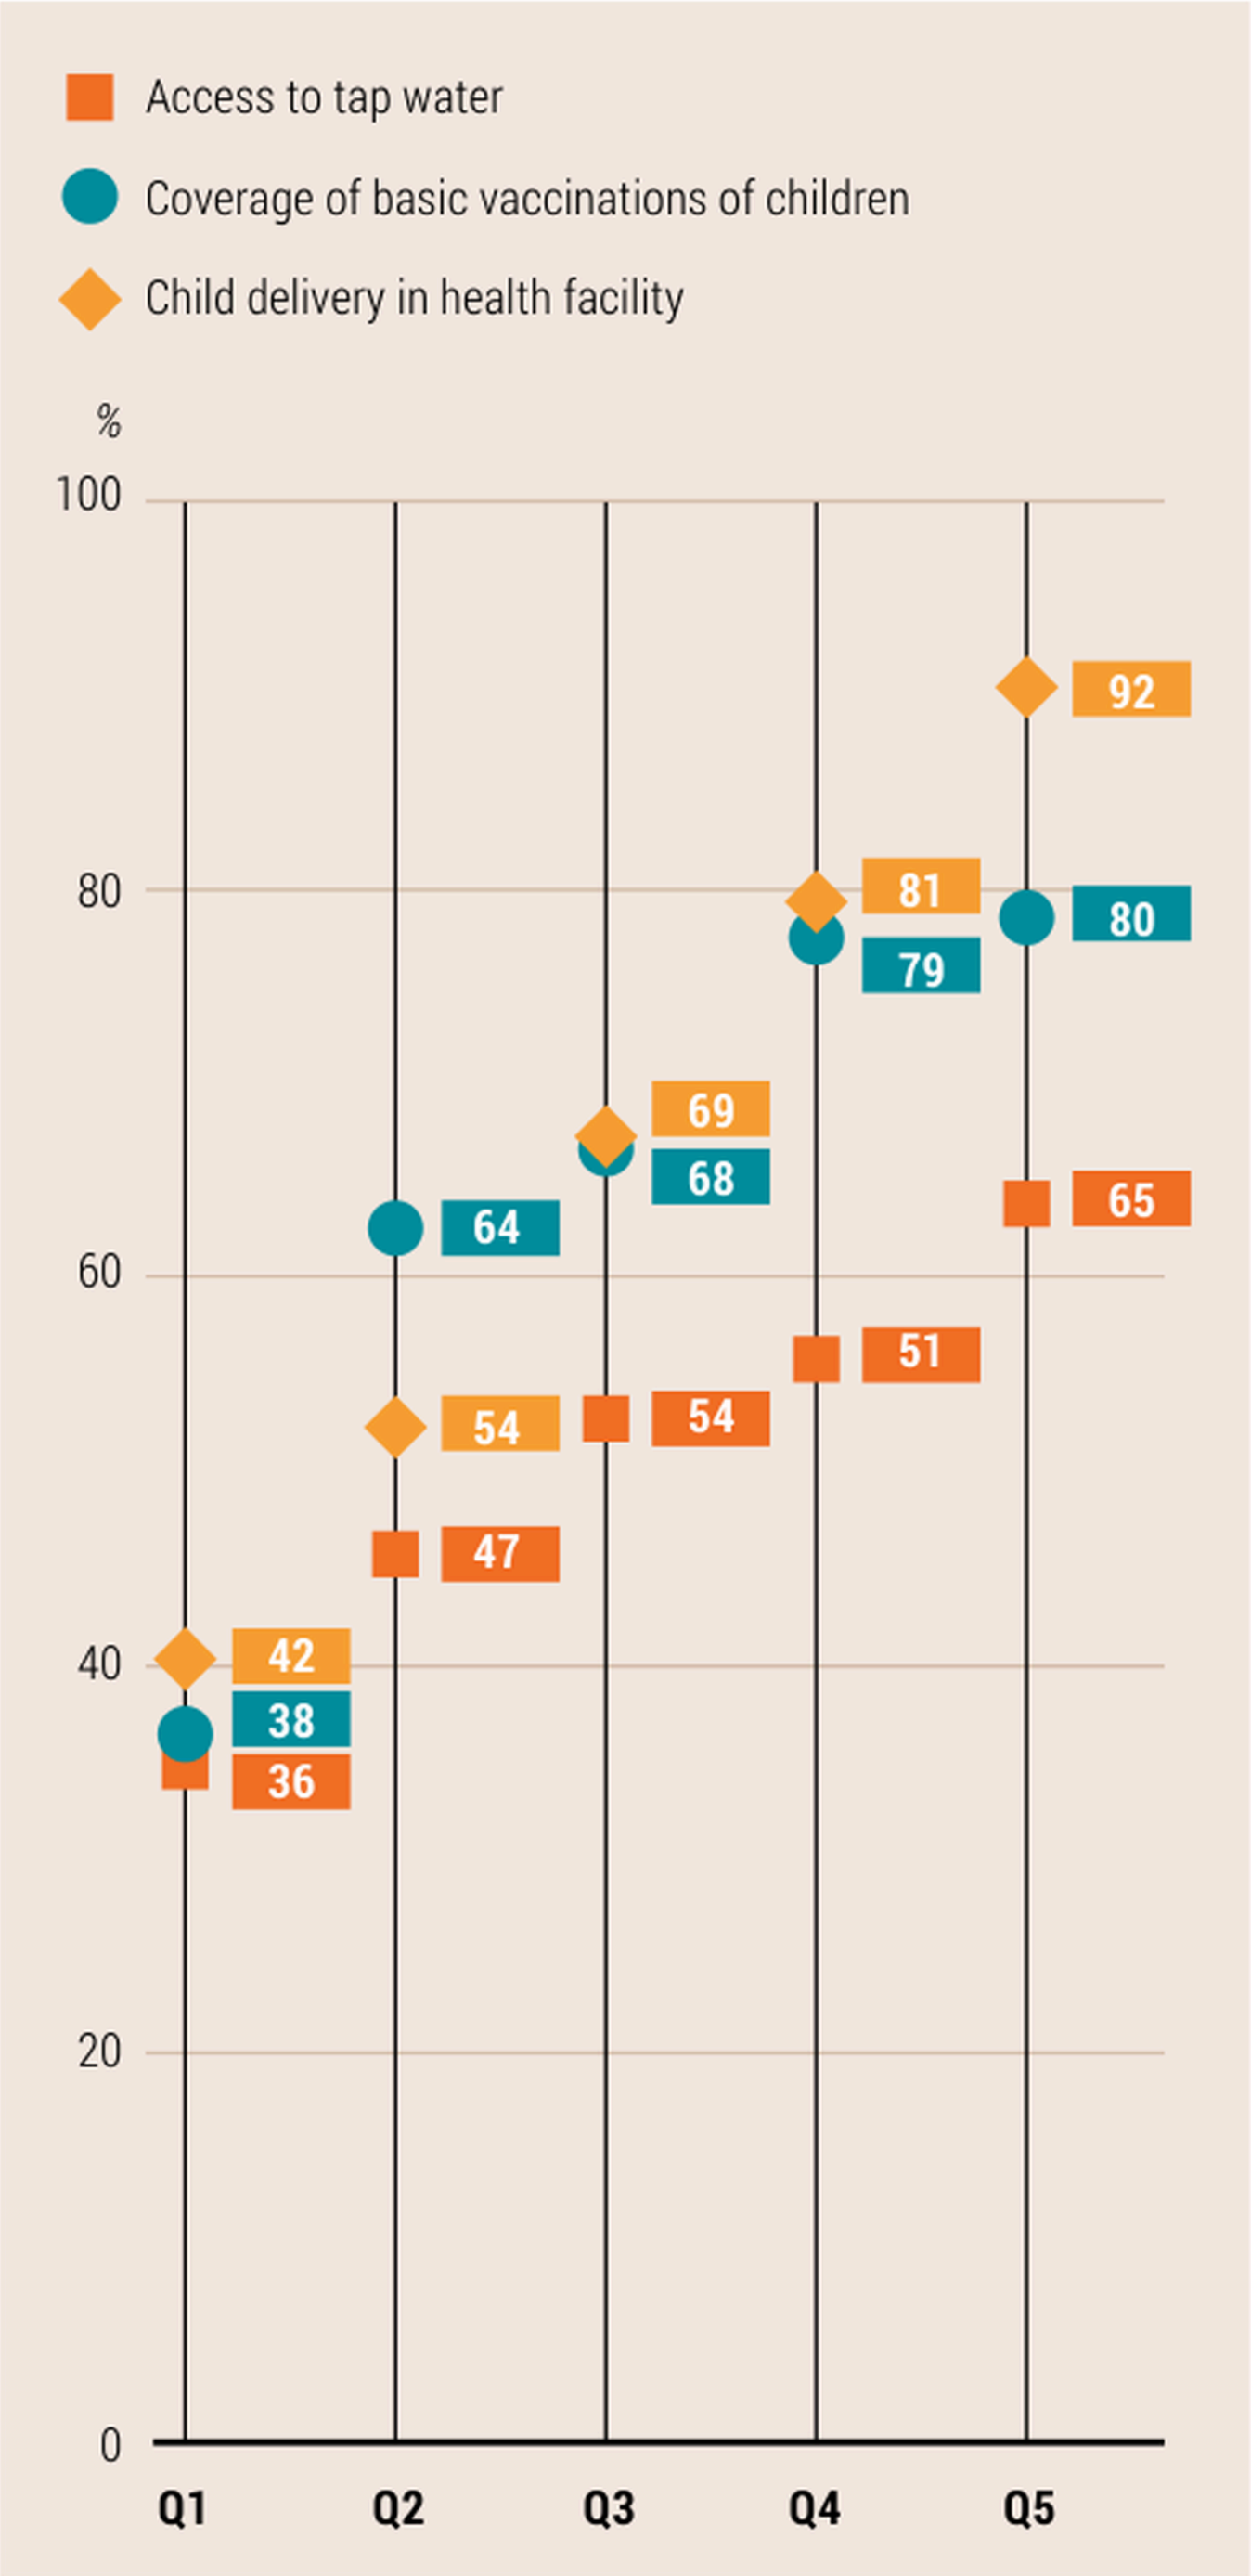

Source: Reproduced from LFS 2012-13, 2014-15 and 2017-18 microdata, with WDI GDP.

Figure 5.19 Richest households have higher access to health services as compared to poorest (%), (2017-2018)

Published, NHDR 2020

FIGURE 5.19

Richest households have higher access to health services as compared to poorest (%), (2017-2018)

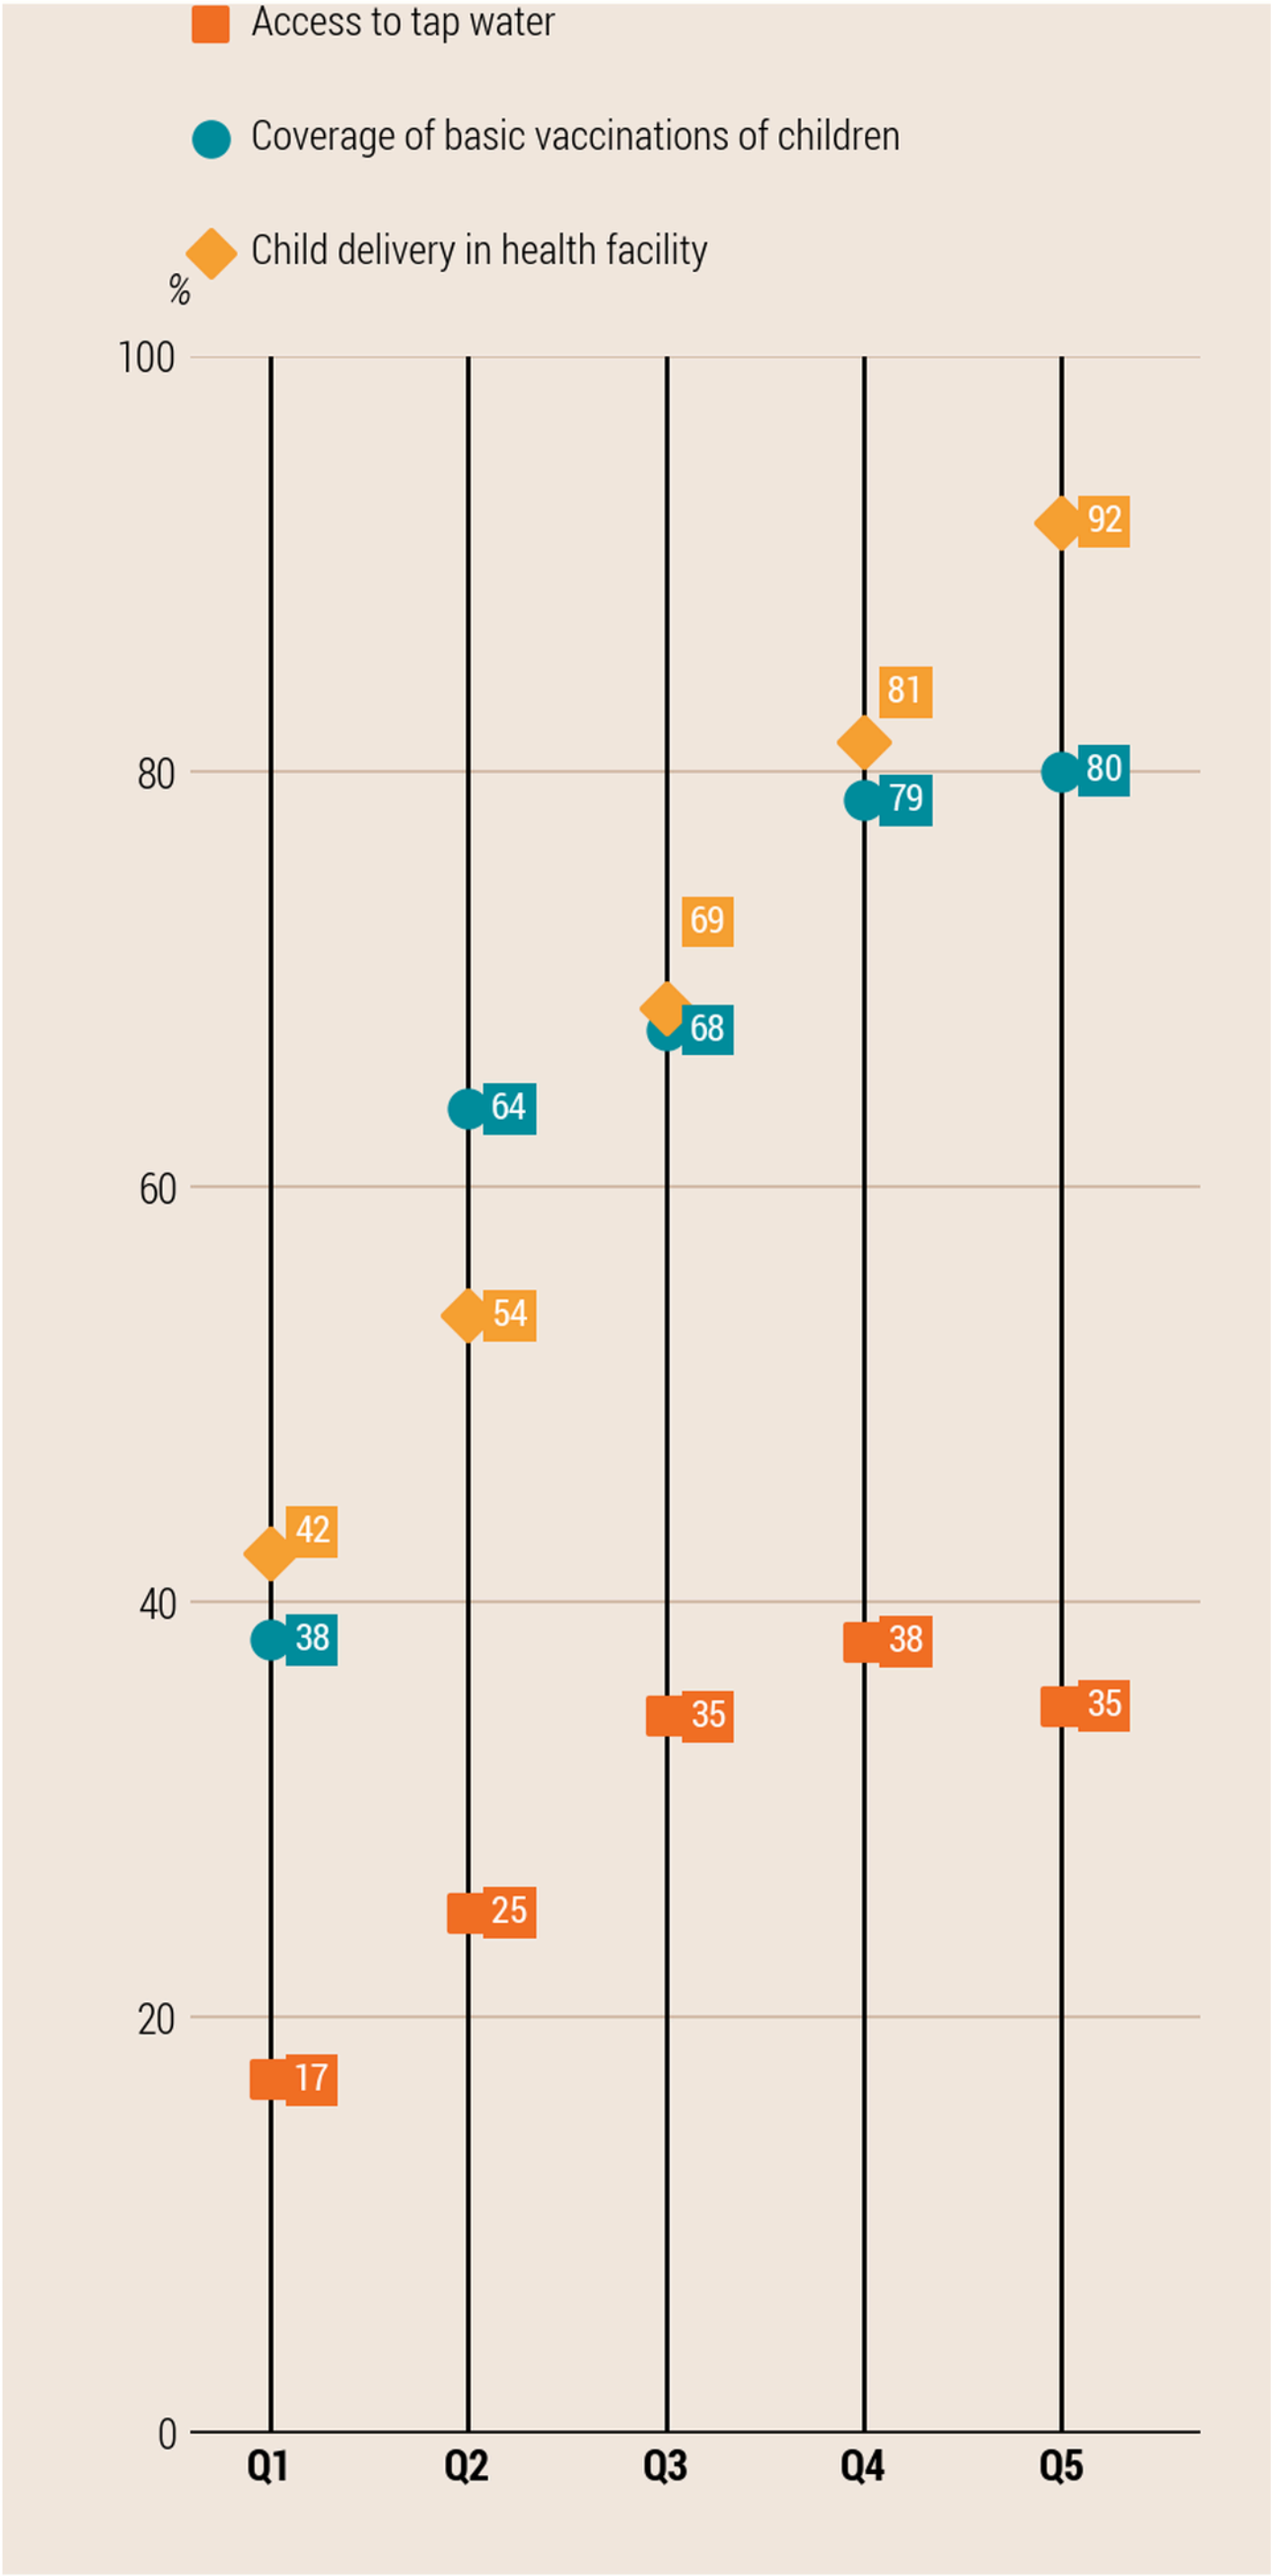

Source: Government of Pakistan 2019g.

Reproduced from microdata

FIGURE 5.19

Access to health services by wealth quintile (%), (2017-2018)

Source: Reproduced from PDHS 2017-18 microdata.